El Camino Programs Jazz Concert Friday

Three attractions all in one show, "The Stars of Tomorrow" will appear at a jazz concert Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Women's Gymnasium at El Camino College.

Sponsored by the Associated Student Body of El Camino College, this two hour presentation will feature Stan Wilson and Lenin Castro, "The Wayfarers," and "Richard and Jim."

Stan Wilson and Lenin Castro are not unfamiliar names. This outstanding folk and flamenco, Capital Records group has had engagements at the "hungry i" in San Francisco, The Playboy Club in Miami and Chicago and the Sahara-Thunderbird in Las Vegas.

Wilson and Castro have given college concerts at the University of Stanford, the University of Washington and San Jose State College.

Stan Wilson not only sings songs, he writes them. He is responsible for composing "Rolling Stone" which made the Kingston Trio popular.

EQUALLY KNOWN are Tom Adams, Dick Bailey, Ray Blouin and Stan Bonniwell who comprise "The Wayfarers." These RCA Victor, pop and comedy artists have been seen at the "hungry i" and the New York World's Fair. They are the first group to make a live recording at any World's Fair.

"Richard and Jim," funny blue grass comedy stars of Capital Records, specialize in "controlled comedy." Both have performed as serious musicians as well as a comedy team.

Admission will be $1 for the two-hour concert. Tickets may be purchased at the El Camino College Student Store.
