Former Torrance Health Officer Heads Project

A million dollar project in Los Angeles County to immunize young children against dangerous communicable diseases has moved another step towards full implementation with the appointment of Benjamin A. Kogan, M.D., as project director, according to an anouncement by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer.

The 48-year-old physician, who will be responsible for the activities of about 100 project staff persons, was formerly a district health officer in the department's West Health District (including West Los Angeles, Venice and Westchester) and in the Torrance Health District. He has also served the department in the capacity of director of acute communicable diseases.

"We feel especially fortunate to have so highly trained a person as Dr. Kogan available to head this project," Dr. Sutherland said. "It is an additional bonus that he knows the Los Angeles area well."

• • •

PRIOR TO coming to the department in 1953, Dr. Kogan had public health experience in both Oakland and Alameda County Health Departments. He had also served for two years as chief of public health and welfare, Office of the Land Commissioner of Bavaria when in the employ of the U.S. state department.

In adition to his medical degree, Dr. Kogan holds both a master's and a doctoral degree in public health. He has been a part time member of the teaching faculty of Valley State College, UCLA, Los Angeles State College, and Loma Linda University.

Budget for the new project is $1,078,499, allocated from funds made available under the federal Vaccination Assistance Act. It is the largest project budget of any health department in the nation.

• • •

AIM OF the project is to immunize all unimmunized children under the age of 5 against polyiomyelitis, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus, Dr. Sutherland said.

Empsasis of the project will be on low socio-economic populations as well as those whose cultural beliefs do not give importance to preventative health services. Additional objectives of the project include educational and motivational goals in order to bring a more lasting recognition of the value of these services among people who currently do not avail themselves of the opportunities to secure such protection for themselves or their children, the health officer stated.

Pvt. Robert T. Johnson, 18, son of McVoy Johnson, 18911 Cerise Ave., completed a seven-week armor track vehicle mechanic course at the Army Armor Center, Ft. Knox, Ky., Dec. 16.

During the course Johnson received instruction in the maintenance and repair of engines, chassis and power-trains.

Firm Hosts Seminar

Two Torrance High business teachers have returned to Torrance from a seminar on economics sponsored by the Southern California Edison Co.

The teachers, Mrs. Catherine Cason and Mrs. Maureen Tandy, were guests of the Edison Co. at the University of Southern California Bowman Arts Center at Idylwild. Dr. G. Rostvold of Pomona College led the seminar.

Teachers from Lawndale, Compton, Los Angeles, Whittier, El Monte, Arcadia, San Gabriel, Claremont, Culver City, La Jolla, La Mesa, Colton, and Palmdale also participated in the conference.

United Way Chairman Urges Care

How do you spend upwards of $19,400,000?

"With utmost care and a great deal of study," says Robert S. Fuller, chairman of the United Way General Allocations and Budget Policies Committee.

The money was contributed to the recent United Crusade—first partnership of United Way and 13 chapters of the American Red Cross.

Fuller and his volunteer aides will recommend allocations from the portion of the Crusade fund directed to the 300 United Way services.

He is president of the Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association in Van Nuys. He also holds many other business and civic offices.

• • •

FOR MORE than a decade Fuller has been a volunteer leader in the Community Chest and United Way. For this and other services to his community the San Fernando Valley Chambers of Commerce last year gave him their "Fernando Award."

In the United Way, Fuller leads some 400 volunteers who study the needs of all agencies before recommending allocations for this work.

Conferences with agency people are now underway on county-wide, area, and community levels, Fuller said. Every one of the 300 services will be studied before allocations are made—probably in March, 1965.

"This process requires literally thousands of volunteer man hours," Fuller said.

"To assume maximum recommendation, we have volunteers nominated by virtually every participating community as well as representatives of labor, business, the professions, and other defined groups."
