Mrs. Wilma Hein of Torrance left by plane Monday for Hawaii where she will teach for four years at the Church College of Hawaii on the island of Oahu.

The pursuit of materials stimulating to intellectual processes, inspiring creative instincts to reach for the highest educational development, is the true criteria of a people proud of their birthright, no matter where they were born. They deserve by color, birth and creed to raise to the highest power the singing voice of the life that is in them. Great power of color, birth and creed can only be inspired by desire drawing strength from materials latent in our fellow men. And the only source for enlightenment and understanding is in the exchange of communicative media in the form of great works our fellow men develop for the benefit of one another. It is the Father's opinions upon these matters of essential benefit which idolize him in the quiet attitudes of family and friends, which create of him a Standard of Morality and Conduct, a God-Image the country of his origin is ever seeking to establish foundations upon.
