A Penny for your Thoughts

Feminine beauty is a relative thing. To a young girl beauty is looking older, to an older woman beauty is looking younger, and to a lady at what she considers the right stage, beauty is staying that way. "Beauty is what beauty does," so the saying goes. To find out what beauty does, I asked some of the contestants for Queen of the WALTERIA Round-Up Days:

"What beauty tips can you pass on to other girls to help them improve their appearances?"

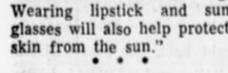

Christy Waldeck, Hollywood Riviera:

"To keep legs attractive use an electric razor rather than a safety razor. The electric razor does a better job and you don't have to worry about scars and rash. After shaving apply lotion to the legs."

Dona Burk, Seaside Heights:

"Applying hand lotion to the skin before sun bathing will combat the drying effects of the sun. Apply the lotion again after showering. Wearing lipstick and sun glasses will also help protect skin from the sun."

Becky Allen, Lomita:

"You can make your eyelashes longer and softer by applying olive oil to them each night just before going to bed. In just one month you'll notice a big difference."

Sue Scholle, Hollywood Riviera:

"Don't use plain soap on your face. I use a cream made in Japan that contains fruit juices and vegetable oils. Cream your face every morning and night. First, wet your face, then dab on cream, rinse off, and pat face dry. This method makes the skin softer and prevents blemishes."

Betty Campisi, Torrance Riviera:

"The best way to improve your appearance is to stay healthy by eating health foods. This method also helps keep your weight down, increase your energy, and help your skin. Include wheat germ, yogurt, and seaweed pills in your diet and stay away from greasy foods and pastries."

SUNDAY SERENADE . . . Billed as the second funniest quartet in the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, the Manhattans plan to live up to their reputation in a Sunday afternoon performance here. The quartet—(from left) Dick Ferrin of Torrance, Don Galvin of Manhattan Beach, Buddy Seeborg of Torrance, and Sheldon Nelson of Gardena—will appear in the last "Music for a Summer Sunday" program at the Torrance Park Bandshell Sunday at 2 p.m. The program is sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Department.

Barber Shop Singers Will Appear Sunday

Barbershop harmony will be the featured attraction this Sunday afternoon at the Torrance Park Bandshell. The show will be free and everyone is invited to attend.

Groups from the famed Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will perform at 2 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Department, the engagement will close this season's "Music for a Summer Sunday" programs at the bandshell.

Several groups from the South Bay Chapter of the SPEBSQSA will appear. The Manhattans, a quartet specializing in comedy, will be among those to perform along with the Sunsetters.

SPEBSQSA has performed for numerous civic organizations and fund raising activities. The South Bay Chapter is one of 650 throughout the United States. The society has grown to 30,000 members in the 26 years since its founding and provides a hobby for people who enjoy Barber Shop harmony.

Ann Landers Says

Don't Tell Me of Hocus Pocus Cures

Dear Ann Landers: You seem to believe in psychiatry, which is nothing more than talking people out of mental illness. If this can be done successfully, why can't people be talked out of cancer?

Before you say it's impossible, may I tell you I've known for a long time that all illness begins in the mind. If the mind is healthy, the body is healthy. Even psychiatrists say a sick mind can make a well person sick. So why can't a well mind make a sick person well?

There seems to be a lot of foundation money around for research. Can you help me obtain a grant for this project? I could save millions of lives. Thank you. — TRUE BELIEVER

Dear Believer: Sorry, I have no influence over foundation money. You are correct when you say a sick mind can make a well person sick. A prominent Minnesota physician estimates that over 60 per cent of the patients in hospital beds today are there because of illnesses which began with an emotional problem.

Cancer, however, is defined as the uncontrolled multiplication of cells. Many cancers, when discovered early, have been destroyed or removed and the patients' lives were saved. Psychiatry, which has to do with the exploration and ventilation of emotional problems, cannot stop cancerous cells from multiplying.

Some cancers have been known to "disappear."

Such cancers were "self-limiting" which means the body had set up its own immune reactions. (The quacks have a ball with these cases.) Such phenomena have been explained by medical science and are not "out of the blue miracles," so please don't write and tell me about Aunt Matilda who was cured of cancer by hocus pocus.

Dear Ann Landers: Several days ago my husband and I had dinner in the home of a friend.

For dessert this woman served a delicious banana pie. When I asked her for the recipe she replied, "I'm sorry but it took me a lifetime to collect my recipes and I don't give them out."

I felt as if I had been slapped across the face. I have not spoken to this woman since and I'm not inviting her to a party we are giving next month. My husband says I'm behaving like a child. We want your opinion.—N.J.

Dear N.J. The woman is not depriving you of something to which you are entitled. The recipe is hers and she told you she didn't wish to share it.

She is a better friend than the babes who don't want to share their recipes but don't have the nerve to admit it and then double an ingredient here and there or leave something out.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a prominent business man and I work as his secretary. His son by a former marriage comes to the office at least twice a week and walks by me without even speaking. It is apparent that his mother has done a thorough job of poisoning his mind against me.

The boy's father has taken care of all his college expenses, bought him clothes and a car. I feel that I have contributed, too, since I work in my husband's business.

Conferences on Chamber Drive Slated to Begin

Twenty-four Torrance area business and civic leaders have been named to head the business groups division of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce's "Keep Pace With Opportunity" program.

Announcement of the group chairmen was made by Chamber President Bruce Jones and program co-chairman Arthur L. Reeves and George W. Post.

Martin M. Denn and Leonard A. Ensminger were named co-chairmen of the business division, while co-chairmen were named for each of seven groups in the division.

William Moss, Scott Robinson and Frederick G. "Ted" Green will head up the automotive and transportation group, while R. E. German, Vern L. Hughes, John K. Eardley Jr., and Charles T. Cederlof were named to direct the manufacturers, finance, utilities, and construction group.

Directing the professional group are Dr. Herschel S. Kopp, Dr. Robert E. Fleming, Gordon C. Phillips, and Dr.

TOM TAYLOR
In Viet Nam

Tom Taylor Serves in Viet Nam

Lance Cpl. Tom Taylor presently is serving with the Third Marine Amphibious Force in Viet Nam, according to word received here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Taylor of 18151 Gramercy Place.

Cpl. Taylor enlisted in the Marine Corps in June, 1963, and underwent infantry training at Camp Pendleton. He was transferred to Hawaii and the 1st Marine Brigade in December, 1963, and reassigned with his unit to Okinawa in March of this year.

Cpl. Taylor was transferred to the Viet Nam based Marine Amphibious Force in April.

A fire team leader in a rifle squad, Cpl. Taylor is with the 4th Marines, a regiment which achieved fame in the pre-World War II fighting in China.

Taylor, who attended North High before his enlistment, is typical of the new breed of Marines who proudly carry on the traditions of the 190-year-old service.

Local Beauty Seeks State 'Maid' Title

Statuesque, honey blonde Beth Lorine Adams of Torrance will be the representative of Los Angeles County in the 1965 Maid of California Pageant on opening day of the California State Fall Fair scheduled to run Sept. 1-12.

Versatile and talented Beth, who aspires to be a concert organist or go into musical comedy, has won numerous music scholarships and beauty contests. She was Miss Marine Corps of 1963, Miss Hawthorne of 1963 and Miss Redondo Beach of 1964.

Beth, a blue-eyed 22-year-old, attended Leuzinger High School in Los Angeles and El Camino Junior College. She has been attending University of Southern California.

Scholarships in vocal music and piano were won by Beth in high school and in college she has received the Martha Farr Scholarship, CBP scholarship and is the winner of American Guild of Organist competition.

The daughter of A. D. Adams Jr., Beth is 5'8" tall and weighs 121 pounds.

Planners Approve Cemetery

A conditional use permit to develop a 55-acre cemetery in the area between Lomita Boulevard and 235th Street has received the approval of the city's Planning Commission.

The application, submitted by Dan E. Butcher, will go to the City Council for action in about three weeks, according to Charles M. Shartle, city planning director.

The 55-acre parcel, now zoned for manufacturing uses, is located between a right-of-way and 235th Street in the Marble Tract. The land extends east of the railroad about half the distance to Crenshaw Boulevard.

Shartle said a cemetery is considered a "good use" of the land, which is located directly beneath the flight pattern of Torrance Municipal Airport. The Planning Department would, however, like to see an adjoining parcel, owned by Don Wilson, included in the development, he added.

Such an addition to the cemetery would permit entrance roads to open directly onto Crenshaw Boulevard, thereby avoiding a residential area.

A cemetery would provide a large green area between homes on the north and future industrial and manufacturing areas on the south, according to Shartle, and would be compatible with the area. Location of the land near the airport has created problems

Rollin R. Smith, Gerald L. Alter, Harold Lippard, and Robert Vroman were named to head the real estate and insurance group.

The retail and wholesale group will be led by Ernest Ellis, Thomas McGuire, and Joe Doss, Wayne Davis, Salvatore Filippone, and Bob Barish will be responsible for the hotels, motels, restaurants, and amusements group.

JOHN FLANAGAN and Roger E. Wright are to lead the diversified group.

Co-chairmen met Monday afternoon with the chamber's board of directors and discussed plans for a series of educational business group conferences. The conferences will be held during the next two weeks to survey ideas and suggestions of citizens regarding the needs and opportunities now confronting Torrance business, industrial, and civic leaders.

The group will meet again Monday to continue planning for the business conferences.

Membership Drive Under Way at Post

A membership drive has been initiated by VFW Lomita Post 1622, according to Commander Harley K. Gray of Torrance.

To join the VFW a veteran must have served in a foreign country in a branch of the United States Armed Forces; Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, or Coast Guard. The service rendered during his overseas duty must entitle him to a campaign badge issued by the government or as specified by the laws governing eligibility in the VFW.

A paid-up dues card for this year and next will be presented to veterans joining now. VFW members are also entitled to free life insurance. The VFW was founded in Columbus, Ohio in 1899 to assist comrades in such matters as securing jobs and hospital care.

One of the recent issues in the organization has been a drive to preserve Veterans Administration Facilities. So far the VFW has salvaged 15 of 32 such facilities originally suggested for shut-down by the federal government.

Persons interested in more information may contact Thomas Zahnle at the post, 24425 Alliene St., Lomita, or send a card to VFW Post, P.O. Box 577, Lomita.

Goodwill Store Employs Plan Annual Picnic

The Goodwill Store at 22725 S. Western Ave., will close at 3 p.m. next Tuesday to enable sales personnel to join fellow Goodwill employees at the annual picnic.

The picnic, to be held at Long Beach's Recreation Park, is sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary which will provide the food.

Clinic Set Tonight at Local Park

An immunization clinic, sponsored by the Los Angeles County Health Department, will be held at Carson Park tonight from 6 to 8 p.m., according to Dorothy Kobayashi, M.D., acting district health officer of the Torrance area.

"The danger of epidemics in unimmunized populations is of much concern to the health department, as well as to the general public," said Dr. Kobayashi. "Polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus are all dangerous diseases but immunizations, which may begin as early as two months of age, can prevent them."

Further information is available at the Torrance District Health Center, FA 3-3310. Carson Park is located at 21411 Orrick St.

COUNT MARCO SAYS

Give the Poor Sucker a Break

A man approached me recently and complained about how American women try to take a man for every nickel he has even before marriage.

"How do you mean?" I asked. He said that in this country a woman when dating tries to impress a beau with non-realistic, overly-expensive tastes.

Walk, she never does; taxis she insists upon. A hamburger is rarely acceptable, and before dinner she insists on going from one bar to another, drinking as though liquor were going out of style.

He contends that you can never find even a nickel in a woman's purse when she is out with a man. He must pay, pay, pay.

I am not what you call a "Dutch treat" man and I dislike the idea entirely, but I do agree that when you date you should use a bit of discretion, or you'll frighten off the prospect before he even gets to breathing down your neck.

As to how much money you carry in your purse, I couldn't care less, because if you misbehave when with me you either walk home or dig down into your treasure chest for that reserve.

But I have had other men complain to me that certainly they enjoy taking you out on the town to impress you on the first date, but because a complete evening out takes quite a bit of a man's weekly paycheck he can't do it every time.

The way you carry on, though, unless you get the royal treatment every night, you'll have none of him.

You try to make him believe you never sit down to a dinner table unless it's in the most fashionable restaurants. Yet he and I know that on your own nights out you squat on the stools in lunch counters nibbling cheap salads or sipping canned soups.

Have a heart for his wallet, too. Enjoy a piece of pie and coffee with him. Pizza and love go well together.

And let's face it, honey, any man over a hamburger making eyes at you is worth two girl friends over crepes suzette complaining about the men who get away. Right?
