

Double Major Program Unique to New College

Recent years have witnessed the founding of numerous colleges and universities throughout the United States. All of these new institutions have rejected the curricular patterns of older colleges and universities.

Palos Verdes State College, beginning its first year of instruction next week, has shared in the development of new curricular patterns in a unique way, according to Dr. Harry A. Nethery, dean of facilities planning.

The college will require all candidates for bachelor's degrees to major in two fields of knowledge, a requirement not duplicated by any other major college or university, Dr. Nethery said.

ONE OF THE basic reasons for the new program, Dr. Nethery explained, is the growth of knowledge in numerous fields—a phenomenon which largely is the result of an interdisciplinary attack on current problems.

"There is no sound educational reason for denying undergraduates the benefit of this new knowledge," Dr. Nethery said.

Under the major plan devised by the college staff, students will be required to major in a scholarly discipline such as French, chemistry, or geography, as well as in an interdisciplinary field. The interdisciplinary studies will comprise the student's "interdepartmental major."

AMERICAN STUDIES will be the first interdepartmental major program offered by the new college, Dr. Nethery said. Within the next few years, the college will add Latin American Studies and Asian Studies to the interdepartmental major program.

Some of the programs will be organized around a time period (such as 20th Century Thought), while some will be organized around integrated subject matter (Behavioral Sciences, Earth and Space Sciences, or Theater Arts).

Dr. Nethery explained how the program will work by taking as an example a student who is interested in American jazz. Such a student would be advised to take a music major, thus satisfying the traditional requirements for a bachelor's degree in music.

THE STUDENT would take an additional nine courses in the American studies program, studying not only American jazz, but history, literature, politics, and geography of America.

Culmination of the program would include a seminar where the student would be required to submit a research paper—probably on some aspect of American Jazz.

A student similarly interested in Oriental music would follow the same pattern, majoring in music (the requirements would be the same as those for the American jazz major) and completing an interdepartmental major in Asian Studies.

Dr. Nethery said the double major program is designed to achieve depth without sacrificing breadth in the undergraduate program.

Chairmen Of Crusade Announced

Four Torrance housewives who will direct local volunteers in the door-to-door phase of this fall's United Crusade drive were appointed today.

Heading the door-to-door appeal this year will be Mrs. Kenneth Uyeda of 1823 W. 185th St., residential division chairman for Torrance. Working with Mrs. Uyeda will be Mrs. Stanley Remel-meyer of 3031 Torrance Bld., south Torrance division; Mrs. Eva Blou of 4914 Halison St., central Torrance division, and Mrs. Florence Ono of 2110 W. 176th St., north Torrance division.

The appointments were announced by Mrs. Gerald Fagan, residential chairman for the Harbor Area United Crusade, who explained that the four women will lead hundreds of volunteers from throughout the city in the United Crusade's fund-raising drive during September, October, and November.

THE UNITED CRUSADE, a partnership appeal of 244 health, welfare and service agencies of the United Way, and 11 chapters of the American Red Cross, is conducting its second appeal this year. Funds from the crusade finance 25 separate agencies in the Harbor area.

Torrance women participating in the appeal join more than 100,000 volunteers throughout Los Angeles County who are working for the United Crusade this year to raise the $20,500,000 goal set for 1965. Last year the crusade collected $19,422,966 in the county, with nearly $240,000 coming from the Harbor area.
