

DECKING THE HALL WITH HOLLY

Traditional Scandinavian Christmas Smorgasbord, officially opening the holiday season for the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection, will be served on Dec. 14 at 7 p.m. in the parish hall made festive with holly. A punch bowl in the conference room will be enjoyed prior to the 7 p.m. dinner. Observing the Advent season, women of the church are following an age-old custom of lighting a candle each Sunday at the Advent wreath. Lighting the first candle is Mrs. Arthur D. Pedersen as Mes. Bryce McCormick, Olav Ween and Melville Millar look on. A sextet composed of Messrs. and Mes. C. R. Leef, James Woodbury and John Lundgreen, all of Rolling Hills Estates, will sing the Christmas carols and Mrs. Melville Millar will give a reading appropriate to the Christmas season. WHAT'S IN THE PACKAGE?

Children of members of the South Bay Mothers of Twins Club are eagerly awaiting next Saturday morning when the club stages its annual Christmas party for them. The Pixies Puppet Show has been lined up to bring entertainment and Mrs. Thomas Webb will lead the children in carols. Santa will make his appearance right after the program, bringing treats for all. Telling the children of the party to be held in the social hall at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church is Mrs. Victor Feld, holding Cindy Yeley, who has a Christmas package, and surrounded by, from left, Christy Yeley, Jimmy and Jeannie Fields, 4-year-old twins. YULETIDE TOAST

Mrs. Donald Sturt, seated, and Mrs. Boyd Howell, new members of the Welcome Wagon Club, toast the good cheer of the holidays in preparation for the club's annual Christmas Dance as Mrs. Donald Patton, board member, displays a colorfully wrapped door prize. The gala social event will be held Saturday, Dec. 11, at Lococo's restaurant. Cocktails at 7:30 will be followed by dinner at 8:30. Dancing will climax activities. For reservations or further information, Mrs. John Lake, 4808 Carson St. may be called. (Press-Herald Photo)

Pulliams Home From Tour of The Orient

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Pulliam, 1734 Elm Ave. returned last Sunday from a 28-day tour of the Orient. The Pulliams were on the chartered tour for the Los Angeles Harbor Dept. employees.

A highlight of their trip was the ten-days spent in Japan when they were joined in Tokyo by their son, Bob, who is serving with the United States Air Force stationed at Fukuoka. After touring Japan, the travelers went on to Taiwan, Bangkok, Hongkong, stopping in Hawaii en route home.

The Pulliams, who made it a point to visit with the people on the streets in the various countries, said that all with whom they talked were grateful for the United States assistance in the Viet Nam war. They also believe that the Peace Corps is America's greatest ambassador and that the program should be expanded.

SILHOUETTE FASCINATION

Among the many booths at the Chanukah Carnival, to be presented by Temple Menorah's Sisterhood on Dec. 19, at the Temple, will be a silhouette booth where young artists will be at work. Here, Mrs. Lee Solomon, left, and Mrs. Philip Weinstein are shown a silhouette by Mrs. Nat Millman, whose daughter, Charlye, will be on hand to make silhouettes for carnival guests. The carnival will also feature all kinds of foods and entertainment. (Press-Herald Photo)

Sisterhood Presents

Chanukah Fete

All organizations of the Temple Menorah will participate in the gala Chanukah Carnival, sponsored by the Sisterhood, at the Temple, 1101 Camino Real, Redondo, on Sunday, Dec. 19, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Game booths, offering entertainment for all ages, will be set up by the junior and senior youth groups.

Mrs. Alan Steen, talented ventriloquist, will put on a show for the younger set.

A room for teenage dancing has been designated and there will be a room for games. Mrs. Albert Stock has been named the "pocket lady." She will wear a large apron with many pockets filled with prizes. Mrs. Lee Solomon is serving as chairman of prizes.

A special attraction in the art den will be the silhouette booth where young artists Jerry Glassman, Charlye Millman and Nancy Goldenberg will be on hand to make silhouettes for carnival-goers.

Mrs. Jackson Belford is in charge of the food concession. She will be assisted by Mrs. Mark Bennett in serving many varieties of food and soft drinks, along with the traditional lotkes, a special food for Chanukah.

A Country Store filled with all kinds of handmade items will be available and guests will have the opportunity to attend a white elephant and cake sale.

Mrs. David Turner, coordinator of the Chanukah Festival, has announced that tickets may be purchased at the Temple on Saturday morning before the event.
