Park South Home Meets Needs of Adult Family

A two-story home at Park South's private walled community has been described by Reed Clark, sales director, as "the answer for adult families with older children."

The home, called "The Monterey," features a downstairs master bedroom, an upstairs bedroom, a "Jack and Jill" room, and baths upstairs and down.

As with all Park South homes, The Monterey is offered in a variety of distinctive exteriors, accented by quality-crafted wooden shutters and long shake roof overhangs. Living rooms have fireplaces. All-electric kitchens provide complete built-in appliances.

Other features of this $24,500 home include ample closet space and a large laundry and utility room between the garage and family room. The garage entrance to this home is into a hallway, not into a room, a design feature favorably received by homemakers, Clark said. In addition, beaches, parks, and water recreation centers of the Long Beach and South-west areas are short drives from the home sites. Park South may be reached by taking the Harbor Freeway to Artesia Boulevard, driving east on Artesia to the Long Beach and South-west areas are short drives south on Main to Victoria Street.

Bisignano Gets Post

Flavio F. Bisignano, owner of the Flavio Beauty Colleges, has been elected southern director of the California Association of Schools of Cosmetology. Bisignano will assume his new duties Dec. 28 when officers are installed in Los Angeles.

He succeeds William G. Sinn of Los Angeles in the voluntary association of privately owned, registered schools of cosmetology in the state.

Al Lotenero of Buena Park was elected president of the group. Other officers are William McCordick of Walnut Creek, northern vice president; Mildred McKinney of Los Angeles, southern vice president; Maurice Parry of Inglewood, secretary-treasurer; Lule Upton of Sacramento, northern directors, and Robert Prather of Bellflower, the second southern director.

Bisignano is founder and president of the six Flavio Beauty Colleges in the Los Angeles area. He is a former member of the Torrance Beautiful Commission and for six years has chaired the "Miss Torrance" contest for the Chamber of Commerce.
