By Mike Connolly

Today's is an all-star mail-bag. I thought it might interest you to read some of the telegrams received by Bob Hope and myself at St. Mary's College in Moraga, Calif., when Bob won the 1965 St. Genesius Award.

cafe, former Lord Mayor of Dublin, for Israeli bonds. Know tonight means more to both of you than an Oscar or a Pulitzer and rightly so all the best in the world."—Frank Sinatra.

"Never mind, I'll light my own."—Liberace.

"Per your kind suggestion, I said 2500 Hail Mary's. Now can I come home?"—Richard "John Goldfarb" Crenna.

Anyway, good luck."—Harry Karl.

"Wish I could be with you on your night of nights but Molly Brown and I are taking a rest. Love always."—Debbie Reynolds.

"If the program runs short tonight, maybe you'll try to sell a few bonds for Israel? Shalom."—George Jessel.

"I have no idea where Moraga is but I'm doing my nightclub act in Juarez and it can't be any hotter than this. I only hope the shindig at St. Mary's isn't a publicity stunt to help promote 'Sound of Music.' Seriously, congratulations on such fine awards."—Roger Smith.

"Congratulations, Mike. As your first official act, please remind Bob to cut his act short. Understand he's booked later tonight for benefits at Beth Olam Synagogue, a Mohammedan temple and a Four Square tent revival. Love."—Dinah Shore.

"Hearty congratulations on your election, both of you, but what are you doing about Viet Nam?"—L.B.J. (also known as George Peppard).

"Until I met Mike Connolly, I thought an Irish stew was something you never served on Fridays. Oh well, I couldn't be happier for both of you."—Lucille Ball.

"If my voice could carry over the Sierra Nevadas, all you would be able to hear tonight would be my happiness for you. Love and kisses."—Anna Maria Alberghetti.

"Wish I could be with you tonight, Bob. Careful driving back over the Golden Gate. My fondest love."—Shirley MacLaine.

"LET ME JOIN in wishing you the best on this most happy occasion. Hip me, men—how do I go about winning next year's St. Genesius Award?"—Jim Garner.

"Please, Mike, bring John Hope Goldfarb home safe."—Patti and Jerry Lewis.

Dear Frank, Lee, Sammy, Richard, Harry, Debbie and all the rest:

Bob joins me in saying "Thanks for the Memory." And thanks, too, to the good Christian Brothers at St. Mary's for a memorable evening.

P.S.: Now I know why actors like to receive good-luck telegrams on opening night—as I've said before, newspapermen are bigger hams than actors!

(Mike Connolly will try to answer your questions in his column. He gives no personal replies by mail).

Riviera Rotary Club to Meet

Guy Brundage will preside over a meeting of the Hollywood Riviera Rotary Club tomorrow at the Plush Horse Restaurant. The meeting will begin at noon.

Emory W. Thurston, a distinguished educator and lecturer, will present the program. Founder of Thurston Laboratories, which manufactures supplemental foods and vitamins, he has done research for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission and the Office of Naval Research.
