Elvis
A-7)

... Hollywood
Presley changed his religion lately? While in Memphis he used to attend the First Church of God, or this was my understanding.—Memphis Girl, U. S. Army Air Force.
Dear Girl: Elvis is still a regular churchgoer. He usually attends the First Baptist Church here in Hollywood.
Dear Sir: I just heard that

Richard Burton plans to retire, I would like to write to him so could you please print his address?—Anne L., Lafayette, Calif.
Dear Anne: Richard's publicity was slipping just before he made that announcement but it has picked up since. Does that help? He's shooting "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" at the Warner lot in Burbank, so write to him there. I don't give out home addresses.

Dear Mike: I saw Ricardo Montalban in "The King and I" at the Music Center here and thought he was magnificent. Why doesn't Hollywood recognize this fabulous talent and give him more assignments?—Maida Pierce, Los Angeles.
Dear Maida: The boys at Fox-TV went ape over him too. They are putting him in the same role in the pilot for a projected series, "Anna and the King of Siam," with Glynis Johns.

That's the show, of course, from which "The King and I" stemmed, and it originally starred Irene Dunne and Rex Harrison.
(Mike Connolly will try to answer your questions in his column. He gives no personal replies by mail.)
