

ON WITH THE JOB . . . Under watchful eyes of a young sidewalk superintendent, construction workers pour part of the foundation of El Camino College's new 2,000-seat auditorium. Slated for completion by September, 1967, the three-level building also will house a projection room, sound room, and sub-level dressing rooms. In addition to college sponsored productions, the facility will be available for programs put on by community organizations.

Manuscripters Told To Learn the Rules

Learning the basic rules of your subject from a different angle, write about the bones beneath the skin. Describe them with clarity, simplicity. Think of yourself as a "photographer in words." A novelist has a wide-angle lens, the short-story writer a regular lens, but the poet is working under a microscope, engraving on the head of a pin," Mrs. Jeans said.

WHILE CONCEDED that the market for poetry is extremely narrow, she said, "Aim where you want to hit. Pick the magazine you want to sell to, study it thoroughly, write for it, and you will sell it. The magazine editors are very happy to buy from a new writer."

A member of the group, Ted Warren, told of his narrow sea-plane crashed in South Dakota, and then displayed the cover of his book "How to Make the Stock Market Make Money for You" to be published in October.

Southwest Manuscripters is a non-profit writer's club which meets on the third Friday of each month. Meetings are open to the public.

"Remember that it is very difficult to find a truly original idea. Therefore, approach
