

100-Man Committee Sets First Meeting Tomorrow

An emergency committee which plans to take action to hold its organizational meeting tomorrow, 7:30 p.m. session will take place in the Torrance High School music building 2200 W. Carson St.

More than 100 community leaders and interested citizens from all areas of the city will form the Citizens School Emergency Action Committee, according to William Hanson, president of the Board of Education. The committee's sole purpose, Hanson said, will be to secure passage of the $9 million school bond issue at the Nov. 8 election.

Highlighting the meeting will be the election of officers and committees to work toward this goal. A discussion of the classroom shortage and need for construction funds will be featured.

"An aroused citizenry is the only hope Torrance youngsters have if they wish to get off double sessions," Hanson said. "These 100 volunteers will spend the next five weeks telling the story of the enrollment explosion and school bonds to the public. If enough people listen to them, we'll be able to halt the classroom shortage without raising taxes. Otherwise the only resource left to the board is to hike taxes and use tax money for building classrooms."
