

...Let's Go

By LARRY MACARAY

Last year I wrote an article about the old master painting that I own—a portrait of Pope Gregory XIII by the Carracci. The Carracci were two brothers and a cousin who were the leading painters of the Italian Baroque period. At least the "papers" on the painting authenticated by a Swiss expert, Dr. Muller, claimed that the painting is by the Carracci.

Dr. Kenneth Donahue of the Los Angeles County Art Museum is an acknowledged authority on that period of art—even having testified in court cases as to the authenticity and value of paintings. As I loudly wrote in this column, I have written two letters to him concerning the painting—but have received no answer—not even a cold form letter.

Another authority on this period, Mr. Denis Mahon of London, was also a target of one of my inquiring letters—but he too has refused to answer. He has several paintings by the Carracci and collects only this period of art. Sotheby's the London auction house, now has a Los Angeles office somewhere on Wilshire Boulevard and supposedly makes contacts there for possible auction of art objects in London. I called them—an answering service answered—and they never returned my call.

ALL OF THIS failure to make contact with the right people has led me to the only solution—I will have to do my own research. My beginning ironically enough led me to the Los Angeles County Art Museum and their well-stocked research library. After all these years, I finally found out about their library. Of course it is by appointment only and you have to knock to be let in—but the staff is very helpful and the material is there.

The library is in the basement of the Bing Building where the cafeteria and the theater are. To my surprise, I also found the rental gallery in the basement. It is only available to members of the museum—however it would be worth the price of the membership just to be able to rent some of the fine contemporary art available.

The only other rental gallery in Southern California, to my knowledge, is the Long Beach Museum of Art. Their rental plan is similar to the Los Angeles County Art Museum's—but fortunately is open and available to the general public. Paintings can be rented Friday from noon to 3 p.m., Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. and Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. They are located at 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. in Long Beach.

HOW WOULD YOU like to go around the world for $750, completely escorted? Yes, I have left something out—the airfare. Totally it comes to about $2,000 for everything. It is the same tour I conducted a year ago and I have just decided to conduct it again next summer.

It is called the Hilton Holidays Tour Around the World—32 days of sheer excitement. When you stay in a Hilton Hotel, it kind of spoils you for any other kind of accommodation. Naturally this tour stops at the Hiltons wherever there is one available. During the travel season of 1967 there will be 11 departures of this tour beginning with a tour on March 13 and ending with a tour that leaves on Oct. 16. The one that I will be conducting will leave just after school is out on June 26. If you are interested to know of anyone who might drop me a letter and I will mail you a brochure.

New Project Aids Emphysema Victims

Good news can crop up in the most unlikely places. There is good news these days; for example, about the normally grim subject of emphysema—the "Sneaky Pet" of major lung diseases. An important step has been taken toward counterattacking this insidious ailment; if successful, the measure may help turn the tide of its disturbing increase shown during recent years.

The counterattack takes the form of a new program mounted by the Queens (New York) Tuberculosis and Health Association in cooperation with the Queens Hospital Center. The former organization, which has conducted an emphysema clinic for several years, is now undertaking to screen 5,000 working men between the ages of 40 and 64 who show no outward symptom of disease. Emphysema attacks principally men, and this is the most vulnerable age group. The significance of this move becomes evident when we realize one of emphysema's outstanding characteristics. It usually creeps up on its victim without warning, damages the lungs without betraying any visible symptoms for a considerable time, and in advanced cases makes the act of breathing a desperate struggle. So stealthy is the disease that a relatively small proportion of its victims realize that they are ill until it has become well entrenched.

The Queens project, supported by the federal health service's Chronic Respiratory Disease Branch, will include chest X-rays, tests of lung functions and the taking of medical histories. Those in whom disease symptoms are discovered will be cared for as outpatients at the emphysema clinic. Long-range treatment programs will be planned, with monthly clinic visits.

By detecting and treating emphysema in its early stage, it is hoped that results can be achieved in arresting the disease. For more information on emphysema, ask your

Christmas Seal Association for the free booklet, "Your Breathing Troubles."
