

Coffee Break

By Adeline Daley

Of all the jobs I perform in this household, that of "supply sergeant" for the troops seems to be getting more demanding each year. It seems that I spend a goodly portion of my time searching both house and department stores for an unbelievable variety of objects needed by my children for school and extracurricular activities. All at the last minute to be sure.

Yesterday Diane needed an empty spool to take to school. Normally I trip over them by the dozen, but at 8:15 a.m. we couldn't find a one. Which necessitated my unwinding 1000 feet of thread.

It was the same with finding an aluminum pie tin. The foot-high stack of empty pie tins miraculously was missing, so I was forced to bake a frozen pie before breakfast and dump it onto another dish to come up with an empty pie tin. (Later, of course, the pie tins showed up.)

The other part of my time is spent in stores—asking for empty cigar boxes (to make sewing kits, in case you wondered) or buying odd lengths of oil cloth, leather or plastics. Perhaps, you will be able to sympathize with my plight earlier this week in buying black friction tape for Elaine.

"How large a roll do you need?" the clerk at the electrical supply store asked.

"I really don't know," I replied "You see my daughter needs it for the costume party at school.

"In case you're wondering," I explained, "she is going to apply the tape to one of her father's white shirts to make it look like a prisoner's outfit. That's why I don't know how many yards it will take."

It was decided that two rolls would do it. But then the matter of width was brought up and neither the clerk nor I could decide whether the prisoner's stripes should be wide or narrow. (Enter another clerk from back of the store.)

"Say, George, what width would you say prisoner's stripes are usually?"

"Why?" George wanted to know. Naturally.

"Well, you see this lady's kid is going to a costume dance, dressed up as a prisoner, and she needs black friction tape for the stripes, like prisoners wear."

"They don't anymore," replied George, a realist to be sure. It was explained to George that the effect would be lost if Elaine were to wear blue denim, San Quentin-style, to the dance.

And, oh, the conclusion? Enter husband, searching for his shirt. "What in blazes is my white shirt doing with all of these black strips of tape?"

South Bay Hadassah Chanukah Fete

The home of Mrs. William Anton, 310 Merrill Dr., will be the setting of the annual Chanukah party of the South Bay Chapter of Hadassah on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 12:30.

Miss Jennie Tufeld will read the invocation, and Mrs. Ben Ruby will present a Chanukah story for the entertainment of the members. A gift exchange will follow.

The Festival of Chanukah commemorates the successful struggle for freedom of the Jews under the leadership of Judah Maccabeus from the Syrians in the year 165 BCE. Candles are lighted for eight nights to recall the miracle of the Eternal Light, when during the restoration of the Temple, pure oil sufficient only for one day burned for eight. Because the sanctuary was wrested from the heathen, cleansed, and dedicated anew to the glory of God, Chanukah has become known as the Festival of Rededication.

At the business meeting, which will precede the party, plans will be made for the Jan. 17 meeting which will feature Mrs. Jessie Berson of Hadassah, who has just returned from a trip to the U.S.S.R. Mrs. Berson will speak on Youth Aliyah. Mmes. Ben Ruby and William Anton are hostesses for the Chanukah meeting.

Foreign Wines, Foods

AFS Chapter Benefit Scheduled on Dec. 3

Care to travel around the world to Europe's most colorful ports o' calls, enjoying the finest in wine, food and song?

If so, you're in step with 400 members of the Palos Verdes Chapter of the American Field Service whose wanderlust will materialize on December 3 with their sixth annual wine taste around the World of Wines, 1966.

The wine taste will be held from 5:30 to 9 p.m. at the California Federal Savings Building in the Peninsula Center as a climax to the year's social events, according to Mrs. John B. Wier, chapter vice president.

Chief wine steward, Bill Gard, has chosen representative red and white wines from France, Spain, Switzerland, Germany, Italy and California. And hearty vagabonds will be interested in the taste treats on schedule—national dishes from Japan, Malaysia, Peru, India, Sweden, and England, the home countries of the six foreign students attending Peninsula high schools. On hand to greet the guests will be the students, Eduardo Bedoya from Peru, Pauline Fitzpatrick from England, Henry Kvist from Sweden, Naa Abu Bakar Samad from Malaysia, Yoshio Taniguchi from Japan, and Urvasi Vasudena from India, along with their host parents.

As Mrs. Wier observed, "This year's wine taste will present the opportunity to travel and sample the food, drink, and customs of other countries without ever leaving home."

As she put it, "we're going to transform the California Federal building into a colorful, romantic world of its own."

If their world sounds enticing, further information may be obtained from Mmes. William Hebenstreit, Donald Ridley, Arnold Niemeyer, or Robert Earl.

Westchester Chorus Set At Marymount

The famed Westchester Concert Chorus will perform at Marymount College Auditorium Tuesday evening, Dec. 6, at 8:15.

The 60-member chorus is under the direction of George E. Pilon, Jr., a charter member of the Roger Wagner Chorale and a former soloist for Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians. Mr. Pilon also is choirmaster at St. Monica's Church in Santa Monica.

Westchester Chorus, after appearances in the Music Center, Coliseum and Los Angeles Sports Arena, drew editorial comment including, "... a superior group of singers..." and evening that could rank with the best in choral presentations."

Bridge Party

Mrs. Delbert Thomsen entertained at a bridge luncheon at her home, 1447 El Prado last Thursday afternoon.

Enjoying the luncheon, followed by an afternoon of bridge were Mmes. Wayne Norman, W. R. Reid, B. Taylor Whitney, R. M. Ritchie, W. C. Crooker, of Miraleste; Gerald Dix and John A. Hansen, Rolling Hills.

High score winners were Mmes. Dix, Whitney and Thomsen.

Junior Hospital Auxiliary

Staff Mrs. Santa's Pantry

The Junior Auxiliary of the Little Company of Mary Hospital will work with the senior Auxiliary at the second annual Christmas bazaar to be held on Friday and Saturday, November 25 and 26 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Torrance YMCA at 2960 Sepulveda Blvd. Two more days of bazaar will be held on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 1 and 2 at the same hours in the doctors' dining room of the hospital. The public is cordially invited.

Junior Auxiliary members will staff "Mrs. Santa's Pantry," a booth featuring candy, preserves, fruit cake, plum pudding and other holiday treats which have been made at home by the senior auxiliary. With Carol Newton as president, the Juniors are a group of girls between the ages of 15½ and 18 who serve in the hospital, working directly with patients. For the first time they are assisting the senior auxiliary on a fund raising project. Juniors will serve refreshments during the bazaar under the direction of Mrs. T. H. Roevens, second vice president of the senior Auxiliary.

Christmas gifts and holiday decorations of all sorts will be on sale. The women have worked all summer making one-of-a-kind items such as centerpieces, wall and door decorations, figurines, afghans, aprons, toys, paper flowers, stitchery and waste baskets. Craft workshops have been under the direction of Mrs. Karl K. Ransom, president; Mrs. Arthur Grayson, first vice president; Mmes. Stanley R. Caughlan and Theodore McNeer. Mmes. Coughlan and Grayson are co-chairmen of the bazaar.

Take some of the things that use electricity out of an average home.

Stack them up outside.

The typical Southern California family uses many appliances that didn't even exist in 1939.

You use a lot of electricity. So we try to keep the price down. Right now the price of electricity is one third less than in 1939.*

*The average cost of a kilowatt-hour of electricity to Edison residential customers is 34.4% lower than in 1939.
