

BIG GAME: Fermin Lasuen!

Beyond the burning horizon, Smokey the Bear is already on the alert for a possible grass fire at Bishop Montgomery High School's football field this weekend.

The Camino Real League pennant race gets under way Friday night on campus and for opensers Montgomery High is host to Fermin Lasuen.

Both teams will be fired up for this one. During the first years of this series the Padres from Fermin believed they owned Montgomery. But in 1965 the Knights beat Lasuen for the first time, 21-13, and last year it was a slaughter, 59-somethin'.

The coaches in the Camino Real League have picked Fermin Lasuen to win the championship. The reasoning is the Padres have 18 and by far the most returning lettermen.

After missing a couple of games, Quarterback Joe Lovitto has the Padres primed for the league opener. He is a good passer and the team likes to run the ball a lot. For speed three oldtimers—Chuck Hendersen, Jeff Pedersen, and Dennis Flips—line up behind Lovitto.

Subbing for Lovitto is Bob Grasic, a sophomore beauty.

The only juniors in the Lasuen lineup are Greg Butcher and Joe Wietzer. Butcher goes both ways at left end. Wietzer is the defensive right end and his offensive counterpart is Curt Wells. Each is about 6-2 and 190 pounds.

The interior line averages 195 pounds and includes Jon Mavar and Ray Madrid at tackle, Jess Ibarra and Pete Martinez at guard, and Mike Nunes at center. All are lettermen.

Coach Bob Biaz will platoon most of them on defense with other lettermen.

With Lovitto out of action the Padres lost to Hueneme, 14-12; Damien (formerly Pomona Catholic), 14-6; and Cabrillo, 14-7; but last week the 6-1 quarterback directed his team to a 7-0 win over La Canada.

Montgomery lost to Lawndale, 13-7, but holds victories over Mira Costa, 27-12; South, 20-7; and Nordoff, 34-0.

Pat Kealey, the all-league center and linebacker, missed most of the Nordoff game with a twisted ankle. However, Coach George Swade has Pat listed in the starting lineup.

Doubtful starters among the regulars for Montgomery are tackle Dan Miller, and backs Dan Hogan and Ed Hansen.

Filling in the backfield is Jim Agnew, a sophomore. Other running backs are Craig Smith and Mike Ramirez. Quarterback for the Knights is Greg Collins, a junior, who backed Dan Graham last year.

Collins likes to throw the ball to his ends Steve Patterson and Mike Constantino. Playing the tackle positions are Mike Bruccoleri and Joe Burian and the guards are Ray Koke and Phil Damburg.

Asked what his team's chances are for winning the game, Swade answered, "There's always a chance if we play football!"

Swade warned, "This is going to be a typical Fermin Lasuen-Montgomery football game."

KAMMER RAMIREZ... The leading running back for Bishop Montgomery's football team is Mike Ramirez, a letterman from last year's Camino Real League championship team. Ramirez will be in the Knights' lineup in their league opener against Fermin Lasuen Friday night. The game will be at Montgomery. (Press-Herald Photo)

Youth Soccer Still Booming

The American Youth Soccer Organization is becoming one of the largest soccer organizations of its kind in the United States as player registration continues at a record pace.

Founded in Los Angeles in September, 1964, registration reached 240 last year. There were 16 teams competing in three regions — Torrance, Sierra Madre and San Fernando Valley.

Hans Stierle, president, of AYSO, says indications are that by the end of October about 1,050 youngsters will be registered on approximately 70 teams competing under AYSO's jurisdiction.

"The recently concluded Youth Soccer Cup Tournament sponsored by the Los Angeles Toros plus the extensive television coverage of professional soccer have been a key factor in creating the booming interest on the youth level," Stierle said. "And last but not least, our executive board and coaching staffs have done a fantastic job promoting the sport in Southern California," he concluded.

Prominent new member of AYSO's executive board is Mario Machado, vice president. Machado is remembered for his excellent color commentary on TV Channel 9 in covering the Toros home games during the initial NPSL season.

Currently abroad, Machado is contacting European youth soccer leagues in order to arrange for possible international games involving AYSO all-star teams.

Bill Hughes is executive secretary of AYSO. Howard Krollfeifer is treasurer and Irene Krollfeifer, recording secretary.

Regional commissioners are Bill Wolstencroft (Torrance), Jan Van Mierlo (San Fernando Valley), Al Renner (Sierra Madre), Al Joordens (Pico Rivera), Robert Barker (Hollywood/Griffith Park), John Stranford (Claremont/Glendora) and Nuri Erturk (West Los Angeles).

Each of the seven regional leagues will produce champions in three age divisions — 7 to 10, 10 to 13 and 13 to 16. Following regular league play, the season concludes with the play-off championships in April.

North Clashes With Spartans

By HENRY BURKE
Press-Herald Sports Editor

A peace treaty is rumored between the North and South this year.

When the North High Saxons and South High Spartans get together for their annual Bay League football game Friday night, don't be surprised if the cheer leaders carry signs around, saying, "Keep It in Torrance!"

This is the first time both North and South have been in contention for the Bay League pennant and it may become a family affair. Considering they have met in a control scrimmage in September, it doesn't appear either coach is worried about trade secrets.

Maybe they just didn't expect to have so much at stake at this stage of the game.

HERETOFORE North has prevailed against South winning each year since 1961.

The Spartans made a contest of it last year, 28-20, and are playing with "confidence" this fall.

The Saxons have the bulk of experience in the Bay League and are capable of sweeping to an unbeaten season.

North got off to 21-6 win over Hawthorne last Friday.

but even in this game the Saxons did not come up to their potential.

In almost every game the team has put together good drives and long runs only to be stymied by penalties and mistakes.

up front where Coach Ed Levy can platoon two units. The offensive backfield gets thin beyond the all-letterman first team.

The biggest asset to the squad is left half Rick Creighton. Coach Levy said Rick has really done a job this year.

Quarterback Dan Hansen took control of the team last year when Jerry Ball was moved to a halfback position.

Handling the slotback is Tim Dillard, a spread end last year. Gary McKeon runs at fullback.

Guy Sutryk is the tight end and Bob Frasquillo is the spread end this year. Two-year tackle Rick Francis, sidekick Bruce Fahrnl, guards Dave Miklush and Charles Rothstein, and Center Ed Maldonado round out the line.

Guard Randy Richards has been out since the first game and is not expected back Friday. Tackle Larry Cholley is doubtful. Defensive backs Dan Dohner and Chick Daniel, linebacker Don Blatt and end Greg Taylor, have been playing real fine football, according to Levy.

The North coach says, "The South game is always the big one for us. We won't need anything special to get the kids ready. We all know they (Spartans) are good."

COACH HERB RICHEY of South remarked, "I'm scared!"

Said Richey, "North is big, strong and well coached. The Saxons are the toughest team we have faced this year."

Concerning his own team, Richey said many of the boys have improved since he first greeted them. "One thing I can say about the Spartans is they are doing things better all the time," commented the coach.

Richey is particularly pleased with the quarterbacking of Walter Scott.

Jeff Wang is capable of going through the small openings and shares the rushing with Mike Farber and Mike Hernandez. Dan Pace is the wingback.

Steve Trudell and Dick DeLong are the ends; Mike Ragland and Craig Tranbarger are the tackles; Glen Winter and Roger Stefan are the

PIONEER OPENER

West, Aviation Will Run Plenty

Speed is the story of Aviation High School's football team again this year. Coach Ed Hyduke of the Falcons has three speed merchants and an all-around quarterback on hand for the start of the Pioneer League campaign. On opening night Aviation is host to West High.

The Falcons rely on QB Bob Drorbaugh for the team's offensive punch. He scored three touchdowns last week for a 20-12 non-league win over Torrance. He scored twice on a rollout and skipped over with a fumble recovery.

Aviation ran, ran, ran, against the Tartars. Larry Jones, Gy Piffer and Charley Soules shared the ball.

Aviation will run into a rushing attack of another kind when the powerladden West Warriors provide the opposition this weekend.

Dave Boyd and Dan Whelan give Coach Fed Peterson an effective avalanche. Coy Hall, who may be the best quarterback in the league, is the master-mind behind the Warriors' attack. Dean Owens is the fourth back.

West has never won a league game on opening night, which is a way of saying the school has never won a championship.

The three contenders this year are Aviation, West and Lawndale.

Aviation lost to Morningside and tied twice before beating the Tartars Friday.

West has beaten four non-league opponents.

The offensive line for the Warriors has Rich Schwanbeck and Gary Kendrick at end, Tom Hunley and Terry Coope at tackle, John Palinchek and Jim Stroffe at guard and Skip Hogue at center. Tom Miles could replace Palinchek who has been bothered by injuries.

Shorty Seabourne of Lawndale and Jim Nicholson of Torrance are the young men who appear capable of going all the way to the top of the cycle racing heap.

Seabourne who stands only 5 ft., 3/4 in., won two main events in a row recently at Ascot.

Nicholson came within a few feet of winning the feature. He rides the high side, a la Sammy Tanner, and the fans love it.

Meanwhile, the 1967 Pacific Coast expert battle now is between Dan Haaby of Lawndale and Mel Lacher of San Diego, with Chuck Jones of Arcadia having an outside shot. Haaby is the man to beat.

The novice wars have produced a young man who could be one of the brightest cycle prospects in years. He's Rick Durkee of Bellflower, who's been rewriting the speed records in the novice division in recent weeks.

Leuzinger To Invade Tartarville

The Sky League football season gets under way Friday with Leuzinger playing at Torrance. The Tartars are winless in three games.

Leuzinger has won three games since losing its opener to Inglewood.

The Sky League figures to be cinch championship for Morningside. The Monarchs have maulled four non-league opponents. The Monarchs' league opener is at Culver City.

Beverly Hills and Rolling Hills, the two most logical second place contenders, clash at Rolling Hills in a day game Friday.

In the Pioneer League Lawndale plays Lennox and El Segundo tackles Palos Verdes.

New Talent Beckons at Ascot Park

The 1967 Southern California motorcycle racing season, heading into the stretch at Ascot Park next Friday evening, has produced two stand-out threats for future championships.

Shorty Seabourne of Lawndale and Jim Nicholson of Torrance are the young men who appear capable of going all the way to the top of the cycle racing heap.

Seabourne who stands only 5 ft., 3/4 in., won two main events in a row recently at Ascot.

Nicholson came within a few feet of winning the feature. He rides the high side, a la Sammy Tanner, and the fans love it.

BAY LEAGUE LEADERS... The only unbeaten Bay League football teams are North (1-0) and South (2-0) high schools of Torrance. The third week of the league campaign will bring them together Friday night at the South High stadium. Two popular members of the teams are Jack McTaggart (above), starting center for South High's Spartans, and Tim Dillard (right), slotback for North Saxons. North has beaten South each year since 1961. The series was started in 1960 with a 13-13 tie. (Press-Herald Photos)
