

Professor Publishes New Book

Cambridge University Press in England has published a book by Dr. Eldon J. Epp of Torrance, associate professor of classics at the University of Southern California.

The volume, written for scholars, is a highly technical study of a Fifth Century Greek and Latin manuscript of the New Testament. It is titled, "The Theological Tendency of Codex Bezae Cantabrigiensis in Acts."

The book is concerned with various complex questions about the transmission of the Greek text of the New Testament, especially the Book of Acts.

Dr. Epp, who lives at 307 Via San Sebastian, received his doctorate from Harvard University in 1961 and served for four years as a professor in the former Graduate School of Religion at USC until he was appointed to the classics department.
