

We're here. And we've got big plans.

Bank of America's new Torrance Main Office is now open for business in Del Amo Financial Center.

And plans are already completed for the new Bank of America tower building that will be our permanent home. The tower will be completed next year.

But we couldn't wait. So we moved into our pavilion. And we chose January 2, 1968 as the opening day. We thought we'd start the New Year right.

To businesses of all types, Bank of America offers three basic assets: statewide and worldwide banking facilities...experience in every phase of commerce and industry...and, perhaps most important of all, banking's broadest line of services.

We look forward to seeing you.
