

Fete Father On Birthday With Party

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Taylor entertained at a party at their home, 1212 Kornblum, honoring Mr. Taylor's father, Mr. Ernest Taylor of Pender, Neb., who with his wife, is spending the winter in Torrance.

The occasion was the senior Mr. Taylor's birthday. Guests enjoyed an evening of games followed by a late buffet supper. The birthday cake cutting followed the supper.

Attending the party were Messrs. and Mmes. Kenwood Christensen, V. M. Krondak, Lee Davis, Lowell Taylor, Orin McGhan, and Earl Hendricksen.

Dianas Help With Projects In Education

Education chairman Mrs. Paul Mitchell announced that the Dianas will send patterns and material to the Vista Volunteers in Arizona.

The members of the Redondo Beach Dianas were introduced to Vista through a speaker, Miss Susan Kunz, who was a Vista Volunteer in Vermont. She spoke of her experiences with living in a small town, helping the residents with remedial reading, teenage projects, teaching, etc.

Forty books were also donated to the Torrance Library for their book drive.

The first hearing aids worked fine as long as you stayed put.
Alexander Graham Bell invented the electric hearing aid in 1902, but you couldn't carry it around. In fact, if you were a businessman, you had it built into your desk and plugged yourself in every morning. Union Carbide made the batteries for it. They weighed six pounds and took up as much space as a shoebox. We've been making our batteries smaller and better ever since. And the people who make hearing aids have produced their own miniature miracles. So today you can put a hearing aid and its battery right inside your ear. Or have it built into the frame of your glasses. The battery is smaller than a shirt button. And someday we'll make one that's smaller still. We're also working on making it last longer. Union Carbide makes 800 different kinds of Eveready batteries, to power anything from iron lungs to electric toothbrushes. So hearing aid batteries are not the biggest part of our battery business. We hope they never will be.
