

Camp Fire Notes 58th Anniversary

Wo-He-Lo--Work, Health, Love

Camp Fire Law Carried Out In Month of Varied Activity

March is Birthday Month for the Camp Fire Girls and local groups have planned many events in celebration of the founding of Camp Fire Girls 58 years ago, by Dr. and Mrs. Luther Halsey Gulick.

During this month of activities, the Camp Fire Girls of Torrance will be carrying out their Camp Fire Law, — Worship God; Seek Beauty; Give Service; Pursue Knowledge; Be Trustworthy; Hold on to Health; Glorify Work; and Be Happy. The Camp Fire watchword is We-he-lo, derived by Mrs. Gulick from three important words, work, health and love.

With their love for the outdoors, several groups of girls planted trees during Arbor Week. For their service to others, many Camp Fire Girls have been busy making tray favors for patients in hospitals and convalescent homes.

The first point of the Camp Fire law, Worship God, has been emphasized as the girls in uniform have attended churches of the area.

This morning the Wakata Girls, in two groups, will attend services at the St. Lawrence Catholic Church and at the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. St. Andrew's has sponsored the Wakata Group for three years and this morning the girls will be at the door to greet worshippers and will serve cookies and coffee to the congregation in the patio following services.

On March 27, this group of girls from Arnold School, Mrs. William C. Fisher, guardian and Mrs. Joe Crabtree assistant guardian, will stage a mammoth Birthday Party to which they have invited two Blue Bird groups and four Camp Fire Groups. There will be a program concerning Camp Fire and the girls will play symbol games and enjoy refreshments.

Invited groups include the Little White Feather Blue Birds of Arnold School; Sunshine Blue Birds of Hickory School; Gemini-Ta Camp Fire Group, Calle Mayor School; A O Wa Ki Ya Camp Fire Group, Seaside; Ta Wa Ten Ya Camp Fire, Seaside and Arnold Schools; and Shu Wa Ta Yu Ko of Victor.

All of the girls attending will donate one cent for each year of her age to be sent to the Edith Kempthorne Fund. The girls will also bring old dolls, with new dresses which they have made, to be sent to the Toberman Settlement House, stressing their service to others.

A highlight of the program will be the showing of slides made by the Wakata Group. The slides tell the story "You Can't Win 'Em All" an original fairy tale written by Debbie Crabtree filmed by Lewis Fleet of Redondo and narrated by William Fisher.

ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES

This morning, Wakata Camp Fire Girls are attending church in two groups, one at St. Lawrence Catholic Church and the other group at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Arriving for services are from left, Kathie Fisher, Kathy Conway, Kristi Fisher, Valerie Riggiano and Terri Conway. At St. Andrew's the girls will greet the people attending church and will hold a coffee hour in the church patio following services. (Press-Herald Photo)

PRESENT TREE TO CITY

Aowakiya Camp Fire Girls, Mrs. Robert Jacobs guardian, planted a Canary Island Pine Tree in Torrance Park as a "thank you" to Torrance for the many fine parks which the Camp Fire Girls use throughout the year. At the planting are Marie Hodgson, Kathy Beresford, with shovel, Diane Hawley, Lori Startup, Debbie Nicolle also with a shovel, Pauline Jacobs, Susan Grant, and Mary Ann Carpenter. Alums Note Founders Day

Chi Omega alumnae in Southern California will gather on Saturday, March 30, in the Beverly Hills Room of the Century Plaza Hotel to celebrate the 73rd anniversary of the founding of the sorority at Fayetteville, Arkansas in 1895. Today, Chi Omega has 150 college chapters and more than 100,000 alumnae throughout the United States.

Mrs. Richmond L. McCarty of El Paso, Texas, National Secretary for Chi Omega, will be guest speaker. Mrs. McCarty, a graduate of the University of Texas with a degree in journalism, has been active in Chi Omega efforts for many years having served as president of the El Paso Alumnae; advisor to the chapter at University of Texas at El Paso; and as a national chapter visitor prior to being elected National Secretary in 1966.

She also holds membership in Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), El Paso Panhellenic Association, is a director in the YWCA and an elder in the Presbyterian Church.

In addition to the guest speaker one of the highlights of the day will be presentation of the Ada Tallman Award, given annually to a southland Chi Omega for outstanding community service.

Mrs. James S. McGhee, Manhattan Beach, president of the Coordinating Council, will preside at the event, assisted by chairman, Mrs. Howard J. Severson, Jr., Redondo.

Honored At Baby Shower

Mrs. James Looch was honored guest at a surprise Stork Shower held recently at the home of Mrs. Louis Brownlee, 21217 Water St., Torrance and given by her sorority sisters of Alpha Alpha Omega Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi.

Games furnished the entertainment for the evening with prizes going to Mes. Pete Sund, Louis Brownlee and Fred Lentz. Mrs. Maurice Talbot was awarded the door prize.

Attending were Mes. Chuck Iverson James Weatherman, George Halas, Edward Anderson, Guillermo Aguayo, Maurice Talbot, Pete Sund, Fred Lentz, Paul Jordal and Edward P. Santella.

Trim Figure Topic for Lady Elks

Torrance Ladies of the Elks will learn the techniques for a "slim and trim" figure in preparation for the spring and summer fashions at their meeting Tuesday evening, March 26.

Guest speaker, Irwin Paris, has chosen the topic "Better Health and Daily Exercise."

After the 8 p.m. program, refreshments will be served at the Elks Club, 1320 Abalone Ave.

Coffee Break

By Adeline Daley

Although you can spot countless husbands shopping for their wives at the supermarket, you will seldom see mine there. The reason being that it takes me longer to write a list than it would to compile a directive for the Department of Agriculture.

That's because if I don't want to wind up with 38 pounds of squash, I'd best be specific. For once he purchased the "eight or nine pieces" I had written down, but of the type of squash, one of which weighs enough to last a family as large as ours through a couple of winters.

Moreover, I have to practically provide him with a map of the store, although I can't always remember myself where everything is. Thus, I can always expect him to return with several items missing, with the announcement, "They were out of butter."

His main complaint, however, is that I expect him to have the fruit and vegetables he selects "go through a physical." Only because I want him to break a green bean in two and listen for the snap.

He's afraid that once the stores begin to recognize him, they'll fence off the produce department from him with a velvet rope, not unlike the kind used in movie houses. Either that, or they'll think he works as an inspector for the state.

Actually, the stores ought to love him, because he's the type customer who buys fruit so ripe that it often becomes over-ripe so if he has to stand in the check-stand line too long. And as much as I love "Chiquita Banana" I prefer her when she's not eligible for Social Security.

But the main reason my lists become so involved is that he fails to understand the simple directive, a nice head of lettuce" or "good-looking corn."

"Do you honestly expect me to pick ones with brown spots? What, pray tell, is a nice head of lettuce?" he will ask. Thus I am forced to reply:

"Lettuce, nice head—Fairly large, about the size of Elmer Fudd's head, but not as cabbagy-looking or as solid. Leafy."

"Corn-on-cob, Kirk Douglas—Even-looking rows of kernels, like Kirk Douglas' smile. Definitely NOT Walter Brennan toothless grin, with a few of the kernels missing."

"Potatoes—10 pounds, caution: I don't mind eyes on potatoes, but the last ones you brought home had antennas the size Ray Walston had in the TV show, 'My Favorite Martian.'"

"Chicken—Look for a couple of young, plump, broad-breasted types. I don't think you'll have any trouble."

Bradshaw-Anderson Nuptials

Miss Jan Marie Bradshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bradshaw, 2517 W. 232nd St., Torrance, walked down the aisle of the Covenant Presbyterian Church in Long Beach recently, on the arm of her father, to exchange marriage vows with Karl Gunnar Anderson. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar C. Anderson, Long Beach.

Her floor length wedding gown of whip cream fabric was fashioned with an A line skirt with a midriff of Alencon lace sprinkled with pearls. The skirt fell into a chapel train. A floral headpiece of the Alencon lace and pearls held her full elbow length veil and she carried a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

Bridal attendants, in white crepe gowns and carrying red roses, were Mrs. Jerald Holman, matron of honor; Misses Sandy Jack, Charlotte Graichen and Gloria De Marco, bridesmaids. Donna Lindenman, in white organza, was flower girl.

Daniel Johnson performed the duties of best man and ushers were Don Behrens, Edward Shumaker, and Konrad Anderson. Candles were lighted by Jerald Holman and Daniel Lindenman was ring bearer.

Dr. H. Burcham officiated at the marriage. The nuptial music was played by Elaine Edborg, who accompanied Dennis Mangers, soloist.

A champagne reception for the 600 guests was held at the Alamitos Bay Yacht Club and the Tiny Fortman Orchestra played for dancing.

The honeymoon was spent in Jamaica and Florida and the newlyweds are at home in Belmont Shores.

Both the bride and her husband were graduated from Morningside High School in Inglewood and El Camino College. Mr. Anderson is attending Long Beach City College.

The bride, who has held the titles of Miss Torrance and Miss Inglewood, is a TWA stewardess. Mr. Anderson is employed by a Sail Boat firm.

MRS. KARL ANDERSON

FLOWER SHOW WINNERS

Mrs. Leo Smith of North Torrance, left, won a trophy for the best horticulture plant entered in the Marina District CFWC Flower Show, March 7, at the Inglewood Women's Club. She also won six ribbons, four firsts and two seconds. With her is Mrs. Earl Sanders, past president of the Cornelia Club, who won two firsts and two second places in the Cornelia Club competition.
