

South Bay Hospital Auxiliary Installs

To Direct Auxiliary Activities

South Bay Hospital Auxiliary's activities during the year 1969-70 will be directed by this panel of new officers installed at a luncheon last Thursday. They are, from left, standing, Mmes. Ed Armend, director of volunteers; William Houze fourth vice president; Herbert Wintroub, secretary; Ellie Hayes, director of gift shop; Francis MacKenzie, parliamentarian; Harry Snider, financial secretary; and John Adams, treasurer. Seated, front row, from left, Mmes. Kerme Anderson, third vice president; H. W. Donovan, second vice president; Thomas Whitlow, president; and V. G. Cordoza, vice-president.

(Press-Herald Photos)

For Service Rendered

Auxiliary presented an Honorary Life Membership to one of its members, who is leaving the area, for her many hours of service. Here, Mrs. Joseph Fischer, retiring president, presents the membership to Mrs. Jack Chelius.

Check for Hospital

Closing out a successful year of fund raising events, the South Bay Hospital Auxiliary presented a check for $12,000. Arthur Miller, left, administrator accepts the check from Mrs. Joseph Fischer, outgoing president.

Serves 6,000 Hours

Chalking up 6,000 hours, the highest number of hours volunteered by any auxiliary member at the South Bay Hospital, is Mrs. Lyman Gibbs, who was honored at the installation luncheon. Mrs. Joseph Fischer, left, retiring president, congratulates Mrs. Gibbs.

Press-Herald

Social World

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1969 PRESS-HERALD B-1

Playwright E. Lavery Lawyers' Wives Guest

January meeting of the South Bay Lawyers' Wives will be held tomorrow at the Lobster House in Redondo Beach. South Bay Bar Association members and their guests will make this a combined dinner-meeting, gathering at 6:30 p.m. for cocktails. Dinner will be served promptly at 7:30 p.m.

Emmett Lavery will be the speaker of the evening, according to Mrs. Edward Sokilski, program chairman.

Lavery, a distinguished playwright and member of the Bar, has been named to be writer-producer of a series of national network television programs in which "the great in the theater will recreate the impact of the great in law." These programs will dramatize memorable American events in a framework of great legal principles and lawyers and will be presented in sequence until 1968.

Lavery, a graduate of Fordham Law School in 1924, is a member of the New York Bar and has been a writer for stage and screen since 1934. One of his works, The Magnificent Yankee (Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes) was produced on Hallmark of Fame, starring Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine.

The topic of his speech will be "Memories of Justice Holmes By One Who Didn't Know Him." The speaker will be introduced by one who knows him well, Judge William B. Keene.

Members and guests will be received by Judge and Mrs. Raymond Choate and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hillinger.

For reservations Mmes. Carl Becker, Robert I. Cooper, Daniel B. Diederich may be called.

Sail Aboard Statendam For Caribbean Cruise

Mrs. John Melville, 3220 Merrill Dr. and Mrs. Tholen Jeffries of Palm Springs will sail Feb. 8 on the Statendam from Matson Terminal in Long Beach Harbor for a month cruise in the Caribbean.

Their itinerary includes Mazatlan, Mexico, Balboa, Curacao, Guarico, Venezuela; St. George, Grenada, Barbados, Port of Spain, Trinidad, and Fort de France, Martinique.

Next stop will be St. Thomas in the Virgin Island, Aruba and Cartagena, Colombia when the return trip begins through the canal and to Acapulco.

The travelers will entertain their families at a party aboard ship prior to sailing.

Montgomery Mothers' Club

Presents Fashion "Mobness"

"Mediterranean Modness," the ramp presenting the new mod fashions. Bishop Montgomery High School Mothers Club's annual fling into the world of "mod" fashions will take place March 6 in the Iberia room at Lococo's restaurant. Arrangements for this show of spring's new fashions are being handled by Mrs. Hub Davis and Mrs. Robert Schloeder.

Mrs. John Porizek, president, will greet guests for the cocktail hour at 6 p.m. A stroganoff dinner will be served from 7 to 8 p.m.

Door prize chairmen, Mrs. Joe Altobelli and Mrs. Don Banker will begin the parade of prizes just before the club members and Bishop Montgomery students start down major prize will be a "surprise."

Fashion coordinator, Mrs. James R. Weber and her assistant, Mrs. Donald Moreau, will introduce Rosemary DeCamp, motion picture and television star, who will be the commentator.

Climax of the evening will be the presentation of a 10-day trip to Mexico, announces Mmes. Richard Foxx, Oral Dryden and Richard Burian. Five days will be spent at the Guadalajara Hilton and five days at the Posada Vallarta in Puerta Vallarta. Other prizes include a portable color television, one weekend for two in San Francisco; and the third Committee chairmen working on the event are Mmes. Louis P. Corso, Theodore Kerwin, Thomas Clinkenbeard, advertising; Donald Driscoll and Richard Martin, decorations; Louis Fucci, hostesses.

Also, Mmes. Carl Metzler and Carl Lascheck, publicity; Robert Eskridge and Robert Lewellen, program; John J. Howard and John Lawson, table favors; and James Van Voorhis, patrons.

Tickets and reservation information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Donald Croxon or Mrs. Joseph Pudewa.

Woman's Club Art Happening

Members of the Torrance Woman's Club entered their own art work in competition to be judged by their guest speaker for the day, Mrs. Violet Parkhurst, internationally acclaimed artist, who also displayed some of her work and gave a demonstration in painting. The winners pictured with the artist are from left, Mmes. Lee Stamps, who won third place; H. F. Heinlein, fourth and special award; F. M. Shaw, third place; Mrs. Parkhurst, holding a painting done by Mrs. A. F. Barker, who captured first, second and honorable mention. Junior club winners, who also entered the show last Wednesday, were Mmes. Albert Bartz, first, second, and fourth place; and Mrs. Robert Jones, honorable mention. (Press-Herald Photo).

Planning Fashion Show Decor

The Mediterranean will furnish the elegant theme for the "Mediterranean Modness" Fashion Show to be sponsored by the Bishop Montgomery High School Mothers Club on March 6 at Lococo's. Wearing the newest in fashion, the Pantdress, these members are in a decorations planning session. They are left, Mrs. Robert Schloeder, general chairman, and right, Mrs. Joseph Altobelli, door prizes, holding up resin grapes while Mrs. Ted Kerwin, publicity chairman, center, looks on.

(Press-Herald Photo)