FOR PAM

Local residents and businessmen are coming to the aid of 18-year old Pam Fischer, of Torrance, who has been hospitalized since she was critically injured in a traffic accident November 4. They are in hopes of raising $5,000 to defray Pam's staggering hospital bills.

A brand new color television set will be given away free in a drawing on March 18. The Press-Herald urges all groups and individuals in the community to purchase tickets for the drawing for just $1.00 each. Tickets may be bought from any Torrance merchant displaying the above picture of Pam on a poster, or at the Torrance Area Chamber of Commerce, 1510 Cravens Avenue.

Pam's expenses at the hospital are running well over $100 per day and she is expected to be hospitalized for weeks and months to come. . . . Will you help?

Warrior Trails

By Cathy Focarazzo

West High will have its first taste of show biz Saturday afternoon.

Every Saturday at noon, there is a show dedicated to high school basketball. Each week they select a different school and televise their game. This week, West High was selected as the Warriors meet North High at the West High gym. The program airs live on Channel 4, bringing you the game as it happens directly from the Warriors gym. Hopefully, with all this big and all the excitement, West will win, as we did last Friday night against Inglewood High.

The Warriorette Drill Team will perform during halftime along with the Band as a special half-time program.

ACTUALLY this is probably the most exciting thing that has ever happened to West High and I know that everyone is very excited. I mean, really, how many times does your school get to be on TV for two solid hours? Not very often.

One thing is for sure. West is very honored and very proud to have chosen for the "Game of the Week," especially being that we're new in the Bay League and not yet established. We know, too, that Coach Tom Sutherland and the Varsity basketball team are working hard for their match with the tough North High opposition. Good Luck to them.

ELECTION results have also been announced. Freshmen president, Debbie Caine; sophomore president, Lisa Hase; junior president, Terry Ferguson; and senior president, Craig Wardrop. The junior class president now has the important job of putting into motion all the plans for the junior-senior prom and the senior president will be busy preparing for the graduation activities of the class of '69.

ASB results were also announced naming Susie Griffiths, former senior class president, as the new ASB president. Rick D'Amico, our Mafia leader, was victorious as ASB vice president.
