

ANN LANDERS

There Are Rules

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a few words to the wife who decides to keep quiet and suffer in silence rather than break up her marriage with a nice but immature husband who indulges in an occasional affair.

A woman need not go completely to pieces merely because her husband behaves like a jackass from time to time. Many a good man has become victimized by a predatory female and doesn't know how to escape from her clutches. Here are a few rules for a wife who suspects her husband is having an affair:

- (1) Don't beg him to be faithful and don't cry or threaten him. This sort of noise goes in one ear and out the other.
- (2) Be mature, calm and steady. Let him know you have no intention of breaking up your marriage merely because he insists on acting like a fool.
- (3) Invite couples in, accept invitations. Stay in the social swim with family and friends.
- (4) Never utter one word against your husband to the children, to his mother, to your mother, or to anyone, for that matter. When he regains his sanity he'll appreciate your loyalty.
- (5) Make love, not war. Remember, a man has only so much energy. What he expends at home cannot be expended elsewhere.—EXPERIENCED

Dear Experienced: Your counsel is sane, sensible and practical. It takes a strong woman to carry it off, however. Not all wives are equal to it.

Dear Ann Landers: For years I have been reading in etiquette books and most recently in your column, that a widow should be called Mrs. Joe Blow, not Mrs. Mary Blow. I protest in the name of common sense.

I live in a city where no one knew my husband. They knew me as the owner of a thriving beauty salon. If someone wanted to cancel or make an appointment after hours, they looked in the phone book for Mary Blow, not my husband Joe.

A socially prominent divorcee or widow has the privilege of being known as Mrs. Charlotte Ford Niarchos or Mrs. Lasker. But heaven help a woman if she is a nobody.

I remember so well what Alice Roosevelt Longworth said years ago, "I'm me, not my dead husband's shadow. Please call me Alice Roosevelt Longworth." And they did.—ANONYMOUS MRS.

Dear Mrs.: I am not a slave to any one etiquette book. I've said repeatedly that good manners are based on good sense. If a widow or divorcee would prefer to be called Mrs. Mary Blow, that should settle it.

Confidential to Why Do They Do It?: Drug users do it for a variety of reasons—disappointment, insecurity, to get out of the dumps, to combat fatigue, to escape boredom, to remove inhibitions, to induce sleep, to feel peppier, and alas, to experiment with something they've been hearing about so they can say that they, too, have had the experience.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism—Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Press-Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (c) 1969, Publishers-Hall Syndicate

'Undergrounding' Is Riviera Topic

The March general meeting of the Riviera Homeowners Association will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the Parkway School Cafeteria, 220 Via Riviera. The highlight of the program will be a joint presentation by members of the City of Torrance Undergrounding Utilities Committee and a member of the Torrance City Council.

Charles Shurtle, head of the Torrance Planning Department, and Leroy Jackson, senior administrative assistant to the city manager (both of whom are members of the underground utilities committee), will discuss the wheres, hows, whens and cost of such utilities in the City of Torrance.

They will also discuss the possibilities of utility undergrounding in the Riviera. Torrance Councilman Kenneth Miller will present his views on undergrounding.

Orchestra to Present 'Faust' at Mira Costa

The South Bay-Torrance Symphony, under the direction of founder-conductor Elyse Aehele, will present Gounod's opera "Faust" next Friday evening at the Mira Costa High School auditorium. The presentation, to begin at 8 p.m., marks the 12th annual production of an opera by members of the symphony orchestra. Evelyn Wald will be featured as Marguerite and Raphael Enriquez will take the role of Faust. Others featured in the case include Enrico Porta as Valentin, and Charles David as Mephistopheles.

Construction Set At Victoria Park

Final plans for the Victoria County Regional Park gymnasium and community center building have been approved by the Board of Supervisors, announced Supervisor Kenneth Hahn. Victoria Park is at 19101 S. Towne Ave., Carson. Bids for the projected $451,532 recreation center will be opened April 9 by County Engineer John A. Lambie. An award of contract is expected before the end of April.

Class in Yoga Set At Center

Renee Taylor, author of "Hunza Health Secrets," will be instructing classes in yoga for adults sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Department. Classes will be held Thursdays, beginning April 10, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Joslyn Center, 3335 Torrance Blvd., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Recreation Center Tuesdays, beginning April 8.

The class fee is $6 and may be paid at the Joslyn Center when class registration begins Wednesday, March 12. Renee Taylor and her staff are known in the United States and abroad for teaching yoga the way it is taught in India. The yoga training will emphasize learning exercises, meditation, correct rhythmic breathing, physical and mental relaxation, concentration, and nutrition. She and her staff teach Hatha-Yoga, which aims at perfect control of the body and mind.

World War I Veterans Will Meet

The Auxiliary and Veterans of World War I Barracks 2615 will hold their regular meeting Thursday, March 6 at 7:30 p.m., at the Hawthorne Memorial Center. The Barracks will be host to the Fifth District meeting March 9 from 9 a.m., at the Hawthorne Memorial Center. A breakfast will be served for a donation of $1, followed by a business meeting at 12:30 p.m. March 12, the sewing group will meet at the home of Lola Deal, Hawthorne, from 10 until 2 p.m. A pot-luck dinner will be held on March 20 at 6:30 at the Memorial Center.

THE TORRANCE High School Chorus under the direction of David Norman will appear. Also featured as the members of the South Coast Ballet Company, Jan Darien, artistic director, and Anthony Lanyon as choreographer and guest artist.

Maestro Aehele formed the orchestra 25 years ago and has conducted the group throughout that time. Since its inception, the orchestra has doubled and redoubled its size and is now considered one of the finest civic symphonies in the Los Angeles Area.

An internationally known musician, Miss Aehele has traveled and conducted in Europe and the United States. She holds a citation from the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors for her contributions to music in the Los Angeles area.

MISS AEHELE also received her native state of Missouri's award as its most outstanding woman musician and she holds a citation from the U.S. Government for his representation of American music in Europe. Reserved seats for "Faust" may be obtained from any member of the orchestra or cast. Admission is free.

Drama Set at North

North High School's Drama Club will present "Dino," by Kristin Sergel on Thursday, Feb. 27 Saturday, March 1. It will be presented in North High's Saxon Hall at 7:30 p.m. The play is being directed by the Drama Club's sponsor, Mr. Gerald Pendrick. The assistant director is senior Roger Girdner.

Dino, a 16-year-old boy on parole from a state reformatory, is played by senior Doug Widmark. The female lead, Shirley, is played by senior Wanda Toomey. "Dino" is a moving story of a young hoodlum, brought up in the New York slums, and his problems adjusting to life after four years in a reform school.

SALUTE CHAMBER . . . Members of the Torrance Kiwanis Club presented J. Walker Owens, executive vice president of the Torrance Area Chamber of Commerce, with a certificate of appreciation during a program honoring the Chamber. Shown here are James Giacalone, president of the Kiwanis Club; Owens, and Neil Campbell, past president of the Kiwanis Club and program chairman for the week. Owens discussed the role of the Chamber in the community during the program.

Inter-American Program Explained by Volunteers

Area businessmen and educators got an inside view of "the Peace Corps in reverse" when two participants in the Volunteers to America program addressed the February meeting of the South Bay-Harbor Industry-Education Council. Luncheon speakers were Miss Margarita Lange of Buenos Aires, Argentina, who is currently teaching in the Redondo Union High School District, and Felix Boateng of Ghana, who is temporarily on the faculty of Centinela Valley Union High School District.

Regun by former President Johnson, Volunteers to America is currently in its second year, the speakers said. Currently 60 from Latin America, Africa, and Asia are teaching in this country under the program's auspices. THE CURRENT crop of teachers and social workers arrived in the United States last August where they immediately underwent a six-week training program at Brattleboro, Vt. During the orientation period, which was financed by the State Department, students were taught about family life and social customs in this country. Those who needed it were offered brush-up instruction in the English language.

While they are teaching here, the volunteers are paid a $200 to $300 per month subsistence allowance from the school district for which they teach. Passage to and from the United States was financed by their home countries. Purpose of the program, according to Boateng, is to broaden the outlook of American students towards other countries. "The volunteers hope to promote additional understanding among the countries of the world, and hopefully, peace as well," he stated. "Through this program American students learn the 'why' of other nationalities as well as the 'what.'"

TO ACCOMPLISH these goals, Volunteers to America are working with Vista volunteers in this country's urban slums, Indian reservations, and rural depressed areas as well as teaching local youngsters, Boateng said.

"By visiting social studies classes and spending a week or two discussing my country with each group of students, I hope to break down stereotype thinking," Miss Lange stated.

Will the process end when the volunteers return to their native lands? — Not according to Boateng and Miss Lange. "When we return home," they concluded, "we will carry back what we've learned about North Americans to the students we will be teaching in our schools."

But that might not be until the '70s. The program, the speakers were quick to point out, can be renewed for one year.

Warrior Trails

The teacher personalities have been unveiled at West High.

To begin, the most "likeable" teachers are Robert Pickard and Mrs. Virginia Linford. "Humor" is Robert Schultz and Miss Ardella Tibby's best traits and "friendliest" went to Mrs. Lynn La Fleur and Albert O'Dell.

The two most "scholarly" teachers are Mrs. Marilyn Hutchison and William Bawden. Donnelly Fenn and Mrs. Judy Byrd have the "talent" awards, while Mrs. Carol Morris and James Hiss had the "looks" to cinch that category.

Two teachers with the same first names took the category of "best dressed." Gary Holt and Miss Garrie Holcomb won the title. Last but not least, "best all-around," the category that combines a little of each, was awarded to popular football coach Fred Petersen and to wonderful Mrs. Norma Wilson.

LAST FRIDAY'S game finished basketball season with a bang for West, who defeated Redondo in a thrilling game by one point.

Thursday, the Seniors voted on "Graduation Announcements" out of three choices that were displayed this week in the showcase. Next Wednesday, the hilarious "Harlem Clowns" basketball team re-visits West and plays one of their comical basketball games.

LAST YEAR, the "Clowns" were very successful here and most are looking forward to their return. Tickets will be sold at the door of the game which will begin at 7:30.

Congratulations to the cheerleaders who won a fourth place trophy at Mt. San Antonio College in a cheerleading competition last Saturday. Linda Stonick, Teri Powers, Nina Patterson, Debi Eisman, and Alice Evans were selected out of 39 other schools. West is very proud of the fine job these girls did.

Student Unrest Is Topic

Black and brown student unrest on the nation's campuses will be debated in a panel discussion tonight at 8 in the American Savings and Loan Community Room, 1959 Kingsdale Ave., Redondo Beach.

Panelists will include Dr. Charles Soner, professor of political science at El Camino College and faculty adviser to "Human Education Power," a student group; Leonard Young, president of the El Camino Black Students Union; James Gaultieri, coordinator of student activities at El Camino; Jess Flores, student counselor at Harbor College; and David Dominguez, president of the United Mexican-American Students at Harbor College.

The public is invited, with no admission charged, by the sponsoring South Bay chapter of American Civil Liberties Union. Questions will be invited from the audience.

Tools Gone At Harvey Aluminum

Some $2,000 worth of power and hand tools were stolen from Harvey Aluminum, 23101 Arlington Ave., sometime between Jan. 23 and 29, company officials told police. The loss was reported Tuesday.

The burglar or burglars apparently broke open a large hasp on a sliding glass door to gain entry to the plant, police said.

Churches Expand Drug 'High' Line

The Torrance "High" Line, begun five months ago by members of local churches who were interested in combatting the growing narcotics problem in this area, is greatly expanding its program, thanks to the cooperation of many civic-minded citizens.

Among the cities served by "High" Line are Carson, Gardena, Harbor City, Lomita, Long Beach, Palos Verdes, Redondo Beach, Riviera Village, Rolling Hills, San Pedro, Torrance, and Wilmington. By calling the "High" Line number, 320-2020, anyone may receive information about narcotics and family counseling sessions or educational classes they could have attended.

ORIGINALLY a "clearing house" where callers could obtain information about drugs or find out what agencies and services were available, "High" Line now offers educational material and classes, individual psychiatric help, group sessions, and family counseling.

The telephone counseling service was begun by Mrs. Lynn Eden and other members of the Torrance Church of Christ. They were soon joined by members of Seaside Community Church, United Church of Christ, First Baptist Church, Church of God, Waleria Methodist Church, and Pacific View Baptist Church, all in Torrance.

FOUR TEAMS of seven or eight members each make up the "High" Line staff. Teams alternate in answering calls, pro-

Dancing Classes Offered

Youngsters in sixth, seventh, and eighth grade may learn all the latest dance steps in a new social dance class at the Torrance Recreation Department.

Margaret Michaels, internationally known for her dance instruction, will head the class. She is especially recognized in the area for her teaching efforts with teenagers and adults.

Registration will open Wednesday, March 12, at the Joslyn Center, 3335 Torrance Blvd., for the class beginning Tuesday, April 8.

The 10-week class will run each Tuesday evening from 4:30 to 6 p.m. through June 10 at a fee of $6.

Instruction will focus on dance etiquette, waltz, cha-cha and the latest of the popular teen dance steps.

Participants will have a graduation party on the final day consisting of a dance contest and other novelties. Refreshments will be served.

viding seven-day-a-week, 24-hour-a-day service.

Each team member attended a four-week training session which included speakers such as Lt. Lee Ashman of the Torrance Police Department, Dr. Roland Summit of the Psychiatric Community Consultation Service of Harbor General Hospital, and a representative of the Torrance School District.

Carson May Get Sheriff Sub-Station

Further support for a Carson Sheriff's Station site has been voiced paving the way for site surveys, Supervisor Burton W. Chace said today.

Chace, who spearheaded the move to locate a sheriff's facility in Carson, pointed out the County Chief Administrative Officer has supported the proposal.

In a report to the Board Tuesday CAO L. S. Hollinger concurred with Chace's plan to locate the much-needed Sheriff's Station in the vicinity of Avalon Boulevard and Carson Street.

The study pointed out that there will be a need for a juvenile hall facility in the South-west area after 1972, and the land could be better used for such a structure.

The Real Estate Management Department Tuesday started surveys of potential sites in the area, Chace said.
