Supervisors Support Credit for ROTC Men

At the request of Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, county supervisors are urging support of Reserved Officers Training Corps programs.

"The ROTC, over a period of many years, has given the opportunity for young men to volunteer for training to prepare them to be officers for our Armed Forces," Hahn said.

Chadwick Names Athletes

Leigh Sartorius was awarded the Chadwick School award for most outstanding girl-athlete for the second consecutive year on Saturday night at the Chadwick Girls Athletic Association banquet.

In addition to the most outstanding athlete of the year award, Miss Sartorius also received trophies for her performance in swimming, and shared the basketball award with Janet Raycraft.

Students receiving other awards for their outstanding performance were: Tina Shidler,olleyball; and Leslie Anderson for softball and field hockey.

Miss Sartorius, president of the GAA for the past year, also presided over the candlelight ceremony for installation of new officers for the coming year. The newly installed officers are: Jamie Hatos, president; Hale Field, vice president, and Kris Lande, secretary.

Out-going officers Janet Raycraft and Wendy Morrell, vice president and secretary, also presided over the candlelight ceremony.

Jean Hancock, head of the girls' physical education department, directed the banquet meeting and presented the awards.

Hahn said universities and colleges traditionally have provided credits and facilities for this national defense program. "The trend to humiliate, to downgrade and to reject the ROTC program in some universities and colleges is very unfortunate," Hahn added.

The board of supervisors sent copies of its resolution supporting ROTC to President Richard Nixon, to the secretary of defense and to the president of the University of California.

Bank Tells Potential For Profit

Coin-operated drycleaning has opened up a new market for drycleaning services and has spurred total drycleaning volume, according to Bank of America.

In the latest edition of its periodical The Small Business Reporter, the bank notes that coin-operated drycleaning doesn't enjoy the public awareness that coin-op laundering does.

However, "Where the demand exists, the entrepreneur who moves in with the right combination of capital and talent can find a profitable niche for himself in an industry with growth potential."

Copies of the report may be obtained through any Bank of America branch.

Theft Can Be Avoided

Homeowner's protection against burglaries and the building of a new school where the topics under discussion at the recent Southeast Torrance Homeowners Association meeting.

Detective Lee Turner from the Torrance Police Department told the group of citizens and property owners that while "there is really no way to prevent burglaries in the home it is possible to make it much more difficult."

He urged homeowners to make their homes look "lived in at all times, by leaving a light and a radio on when absent, and having a neighbor pick up throw away papers that might accumulate."

He stressed the fact that ordinary locks that can be jimmyed are no real deterrent, instead he recommended the "dead lock" that can only be opened with a key. Detective Turner encouraged the recording of serial numbers from all equipment such as radios, typewriters, and television sets. This, he pointed out, makes for much easier identification of stolen property when it is recovered.

Dr. Walter Buettgenbach, director of educational facilities for the Torrance School District, showed the group a map of the proposed new school site at 231st Street and Arlington Avenue. He also displayed a rendering of the Madison school which is being phased out.

Southeast Torrance Homeowners Association meets the fourth Monday of each month in the cafeteria at Adams Elementary School in Torrance.

Chamber Selects Directors

Ten area businessmen have been elected directors of the Torrance Area Chamber of Commerce, according to President George M. Ebert.

Elected to terms of three years were: Paul E. Anderson, director of research and development, Harvey Aluminum; Robert L. Boynton, district manager, Southern California Edison Co.; Dan E. Butcher, contractor; Charles L. Butler Sr., president, Butler Buick Co.; Neil E. Campbell, president, Credit Bureau of Torrance; James C. Conn, commercial manager, Pacific Telephone Co.; Hubert L. Kaltenbach, assistant publisher, South Bay Daily Breeze; William F. Parsons, general manager, AMPCO Metals, Inc.; Robert L. Reis, general manager, Plush Horse Inn; and John A. Teske, assistant division manager, AirResearch Manufacturing Co.

Butcher, Campbell, Kaltenbach and Reis were re-elected to the board of directors.

The new directors will be installed at the Chamber's annual meeting and banquet to be held June 27.

Heading the nominating committee is Larry Bowman. Serving with him are Lucius D. Babcock III, James C. Conn, Harry B. Gorman, Don H. Hyde, and President Ebert, member ex officio.

Obituaries

Stanley Hanes

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Halverson-Leavell mortuary chapel for Gilbert Stanley Hanes, 40, who died Sunday.

Formerly of Downey, he is survived by his widow, Della, of Downey; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hanes; a son, Gilbert S. of the U.S. Air Force; three brothers, Curtis, Jerry and Merlin; and three sisters, Mrs. Ben Van Laar, Mrs. Billie Dennis, and Mrs. James Ebersole.

Interment will be in Roosevelt Memorial Park Cemetery.

Road Race Added at Riverside

A major new road race was added to the racing fare of Western America with the signing of a new 10-year contract by Riverside International Raceway and the National Assn. for Stock Car Automobile Racing.

The contract provides for a 400-mile Grand National late model stock car road race annually beginning June 14, 1970. It also affirms the long-standing date in January for the Motor Trend/Riverside 500, one of the nation's $100 stock car events.

The social science class climaxed an 11-week study of the Civil War by writing and taping a narrated film strip. Principal Hugh Dooley doubled as cameraman for the educational experiment.

School Unrest Rages

Unrest is running rampant in a Sepulveda Elementary School eighth-grade classroom.

Violence has broken out, and cannons are being manned.

And the principal is relishing the action!

Drug Charge Jails Barmaid

An unemployed barmaid has been arrested by Torrance police on charges of felonious furnishing of drugs.

Patricia (Foxie) Bernald, 32, of 1410 W. 218th St., was picked up Tuesday at 1327 Cabrillo Ave. Undercover agents allegedly purchased benzedrine from the suspect on two occasions.

—Surprising? Not at all. Principal Hugh Dooley has become cameraman for a narrated student filmstrip being photographed and taped as a climax to an 11-week study of the Civil War.

Script for "A Country Divided" was written by eighth-grade social science students of teacher Stephen W. Hubbard.

Student committees planned scenes, constructed backdrops, taped dialogue, and rounded up costumes for the historic production.

In addition to several scenes which were photographed against backdrops in the classroom, the cast went "on location" to El Nido park to shoot field scenes involving battles, the underground railroad, and the Ku Klux Klan.

How did students react to learning history by reliving it? "You learn a lot more when you do the research to write your own script," stated one student. "It's much more interesting than just reading about it."
