

Scout Jamboree Opens July 12

Some 350 Boy Scouts and Explorers will be attending the Seventh National Jamboree from the Los Angeles Area Council. The nine Jamboree troops will leave July 12 from Dodger Stadium for the Jamboree to be held at Farragut State Park, Ida.

"It's like a dream come true to bring so many fine young men and leaders together to form a jamboree troop," Thomas L. McCarthy, Jamboree chairman for the Los Angeles area council, Boy Scouts of America, said.

"The boys are more mature and with greater experience than would be found in the average troop and the adult leaders are particularly qualified for their positions through years of experience in Scouting," McCarthy said.

HE POINTED out that the patrol is the fundamental unit of the national jamboree. All food is issued for patrol preparation, all equipment is designed for patrol use, and programming for each troop is accomplished through a patrol leaders' council that features boy representation by their patrol leaders.

"Over the years, we have learned that continual reliance on patrols is the best way to accomplish Scouting aims, the most effective way of running the troop, and that boys grow and develop fast through the patrol method," McCarthy said.

Adult leaders for the jamboree include: Richard C. Allbee of Torrance, technician with Airesearch; Robert L. Elliott of Torrance, longshoreman with Pacific Maritime Association; and Carl E. Gillings of Gardena, transportation dispatcher, Douglas Aircraft Co.

As a part of the trip to and from the Jamboree, the Scouts will visit the Mission Trail, Asilomar in Monterey, the State Capitol, Shasta Dam, Crater Lake, Eastern Oregon, Columbia River, Yellowstone, the Teton country through Salt Lake, Southern Utah, Bryce Canyon and Zion National Park, returning to Los Angeles July 27.

LIFE SAVER . . . Supervisor Kenneth Hahn (left) and Dr. Walter Graf, president of the County Heart Association, inspect the interior of a pilot heart ambulance to be tested in the Centinela Valley area. The ambulance, which may be the prototype of intensive care heart ambulances to be employed county-wide, will be used at Daniel Freeman and Centinela Valley Community Hospitals. It is designed to give immediate intensive care to heart victims. "Such care might save many of the 30 people who die in Los Angeles County each day from heart attacks," Hahn said.

Retarded Children Graduated

A week of special activities concluded the high school career of the class of 69 at Columbia School.

Seventeen capped and gowned senior students received their diplomas from Lester Foster, principal, during recent graduation ceremonies. Columbia School is located in and administered by the Torrance Unified School District.

Raymond Jansen, a teacher, gave the invocation, followed by brief greetings to the graduates from Dr. Louis Kaplan, assistant superintendent special services and research, and Dr. Keith Hunsaker, director of cooperative special education program.

Special guests included Torrance School Board members Mrs. Kenneth (Polly) Watts, Bert Lynn, Stanley Dunn, and Burton Belzer and parents and friends of graduates.

The reception immediately following the ceremony was sponsored by the Columbia PTA.

A special graduation dance held at the school, with all junior and senior members invited to attend was sponsored by the Southwest Association for Retarded Children.

Mrs. Hugh Whitman, association activities chairman, said that in addition to dancing and refreshments, each graduate received an engraved trophy from the Torrance Jr. Women's Club.

Mexican-American Study To Be Offered in Fall

A course in Mexican-American studies leading to an associate in arts degree will be offered at Los Angeles Harbor College in the fall semester according to Dr. Wendell C. Black, college president.

The program, which combines five new courses over a two-year period with already existing classes, was developed in cooperation with interested students at the college and with the advice of instructors and administrators in the Los Angeles community colleges. It can lead either to an AA degree or to transfer to a four-year college or university.

Purpose of the program is to provide the student an opportunity to gain a knowledge of the Mexican-American, his contribution to the development of the nation, and the problems he confronts in modern urban society.

"THIS IS a great achievement for the college and the Harbor area," said Dave Dominguez, president of the United Mexican-American Students. "With our large Mexican-American population in the Harbor area it is of the greatest importance that the young people become involved in higher education and become aware of our special language and historical heritage as well as their special problems."

Courses in this program to be taught for the first time in the fall are History 19, The History of Mexico, scheduled for Thursday evenings, and History 43, The Mexican-American in the Political and Social History of the United States on Tuesday evenings.

THESE courses will be taught by Patrick D. Carey, Spanish teacher from Washington High School.

Other new courses to be offered later are Social Science 14, Mexican American in Contemporary Society; History 19, History of Mexico; Spanish 16, Mexican Civilization and Culture; and History 43, a continuation of History 42.

Already in the curriculum are History 5 and 6, History of the Americas, and History 20, History of California, and the large block of Spanish courses necessary for the major.

Safe Boating Week Begins Next Week

County Supervisors, on the motion of Burton W. Chace, have declared June 29-July 5 as Safe Boating Week in Los Angeles County.

The proclamation coincides with National Safe Boating Week as set aside by President Richard Nixon.

"It is only fitting that this, the nation's largest county with the most modern marinas and a high registration of boats, observe Safe Boating Week," Chace said.

Manager Appointed

Victor N. Hochee, 39, has been appointed general manager of the 32,000-member Los Angeles County Employees Association, a post he has held on an acting basis since February.

Three Area Lovelies Vie For County Title

There are 74 hopefuls seeking to be crowned "Miss Los Angeles County" in Hollywood Bowl, Supervisor Burton W. Chace has announced.

Contestants from this area include Evelyn Brandt, 17, Gardena; Debby Richardson, 21, Long Beach; and Dori Winkler, 17, Palos Verdes Peninsula.

The aspirants, representing communities throughout the county, recently registered in the 1969 Miss Los Angeles County Beauty Pageant for a chance to reign as the county's official representative for a year.

Contestants, ages 17 through 22, will vie for semi-final honors during preliminary judging on July 13 at West Hollywood County Park, 647 N. San Vicente Blvd., the supervisor said.

Winners of the preliminary will compete in Hollywood Bowl on August 3 during the final judging event of the pageant sponsored by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors and conducted by the Los Angeles County Department of Parks and Recreation. After coronation, the official 1969 "Miss Los Angeles County" will compete in the Maid of California Pageant in Sacramento during the California Exposition and Fair.

She will also ride the county's float in the 1970 Tournament of Roses Parade on New Year's Day in Pasadena.
