TORRANCE WOMAN'S CLUB

a greater compliment than to be called Mrs. Urquhart's right hand. Humanity, like flowers, needs culture. Certain soils produce certain flowers. We must know what we are planting and what kind of a soil we are planting in. You as club women have a wonderful part in directing into paths that lead to the highest and best in life. There is nothing trivial. Everything in life has a place—has a part. The largest rivers when traced to their source have many tributaries. Some of these tributaries when traced to their source are so small that they can be stopped with a finger; yet many of these flowing together make the mighty river upon which the largest boats can float. There is nothing trivial. Club women are back of all work for the government and for the world. They may not work as woman's clubs, but they are club women. Woman clubs are non-sectarian, non-political, just woman to woman.

In her address Mrs. McKelvey, parliamentarian, said: "In the district board my department is called the department of law and order. Everything in nature bears out that order is heaven's first law. Parliamentary law is not a set of arbitrary laws we can use or not as we please. They are the tools of our guild and we are not going to make ourselves the very best club women possible; we are not going to be self-respecting, helpful club women unless we use the tools of our guild."

The chairman of international relations, Mrs. Peck, congratulated the Torrance Woman's Club on getting into the Federation. Mrs. Peck considers the international relations as the most important thing that is occupying our attention at the present time. This is the morning of a new day, and the woman's clubs should be ready to serve to take up the torch that was lifted at the Washington conference. Women all over the world are working for wars to cease. They are looking to American women to lead them out, as they think we can work out better than they. The next war, if there ever is a war, will be worse than the last. It will be a war of chemicals, and not only our boys, but our girls and our infants in arms, will be killed. Airships can be directed to discharge gas-laden bombs over our cities that will not only destroy them, but lay our fields waste and destroy the soil so that it will take seven years to restore it. What a boon to this war-weary world peace would be—international peace; but we can never have international peace until we can look at all nations in the light of brotherly love.

Mrs. Troy, chairman of emblems, explained the emblem of the Federation in her address. She said that nothing can succeed without publicity, and all club members should purchase the emblem and wear it at all public gatherings. It is the sign by which club women are known to each other. It is the duty of a club woman to greet all who wear the emblem, whether known to you or not.

Mrs. Taylor, extension secretary, then closed the program with a short address, in which she said: Women have a three-fold responsibility—first, to ourselves, the most neglected; second, to our families, the least neglected; and, third, to the community. The community in which we live, to our state, and to our government, and now a much greater responsibility to the whole world, and we must look to the Supreme Power above for strength and guidance in these responsibilities.

Mrs. Stock, in the name of the club, thanked the district officers for their talks and Mr. and Mrs. McVey for their kindness in letting the club use the theatre.

The club then adjourned. After the adjournment Mr. McVey showed the visitors over the theatre and explained the manner of projecting the pictures on the screen and many other features of the motion picture business.

FORD FREIGHT RATE SLASHED $20.00

Here's $20 worth of joy for prospective Ford car and truck purchasers. According to a telegram received by Schultz, Peckham & Schultz, local Ford dealers, the freight charge on all models of Ford cars and trucks has been reduced by the above amount, effective April 18.

This firm explains that this substantial reduction in Ford freight has been made possible solely by the fact that the operations of assembling, upholstering and finishing Ford cars have been developed at the Pacific coast branches to the point where the entire local demand can be supplied from these plants. This means that the raw material from which all Ford cars and trucks for this territory are manufactured is received in compact knocked-down form, taking the lowest freight rate. Heretofore many of the Ford cars sold in this vicinity were shipped in, partially assembled, from eastern points, which necessitated a high freight rate. The Los Angeles branch, which supplies cars to this district, is now practically a miniature Ford factory.

"Mr. Ford's policy of passing on to the customer the benefit of any possible saving is well illustrated in this latest decree," says Geo. Peckham. "It is estimated that the saving to residents of Southern California and Arizona alone during the balance of the year will amount to more than $400,000."

Reverend G. A. Riegler is attending the inaugural of President R. B. Von Klein Smid this week. Dr. Von Klein Smid was the recent guest and speaker at the First M. E. Church.
