EXPERTS PREDICT 75,000-BBL. OIL FLOW HERE IN DECEMBER

Production in the Torrance-Lomita field will reach 75,000 barrels a day by Christmas, according to estimates made by oil men who have studied the drilling and development closely.

The industry is looking to the field here to maintain the supremacy of California in the oil industry, for the fields at Santa Fe Springs and Huntington Beach are declining rapidly.

Production here is not leaping forward rapidly now, but with close to 100 drilling wells rapidly approaching the oil structure, the daily flow will take a sudden jump within the next month and continue to increase every week thereafter.

Forty-six producing wells in the field are now sending close to 14,999 barrels a day to the tanks. Production during the past week increased 1625 barrels, when the Midway Northern No. 2, on the old Redondo road, came in at 1590 barrels and Shell's Redondo No. 1 was put on production, flowing 125 barrels.

BRING IN SECOND

Midway Northern's new producer was brought in from 2780 feet. This well was completed in 45 actual drilling days—a new record for the field, beating the previous record of the Fortuna's Phenix No. 1 by three days.

Shell's new producer was brought in from 2650 feet. Fourteen wells are close to the production stage this week. It is safe to predict that at least eight of them will be on production within two weeks.

MANY NEAR SANDS

A score of other wells are within a few hundred feet of the sand, and a veritable burst of production is scheduled soon for the old Redondo road district, where now only three producers are sending oil to the tanks.

In Lomita the Federal Drilling Company has cemented Garner No. 1, at Elgin and Narbonne, at 3632 feet. The well was drilled to 3729 and brought back to be cemented. The drill penetrated 50 feet of oil sand. The following wells in the old Redondo road district are standing cemented between 3500 and 3529 feet: Petroleum Securities No. 1 (Doherty), Superior's Steinhaber No. 1, Petroleum Midway's well offsetting Midway Northern No. 1, Chanslor-Canfield's Torrance No. 14. Offsetting Petroleum Midway's cemented well, Seiby & Root are drilling through cement.

IN TRACT 4070

In tract 4070, along 216th street in Torrance, Chanslor-Canfield this week cemented Torrance No. 12 at 3250 feet. Standard has drilled through cement on Kirk No. 1 and expects to put the well on production before the end of the week. The C. C. M. O. has cemented Del Amo No. 3, on the Del Amo lease, at 3150 feet.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil company and Superior Oil company are still puzzled over the salt water problems encountered in Torrance No. 19, Shedd No. 1 at Carson and Cedar streets. Tests have failed to establish whether the water is edge water. Several tests made by the C. C. M. O. indicate that such is the case, although other tests do not bear out the theory. Both companies are still making tests in hopes of locating the source of the salt water flow.

If the water proves to be edge water it will be a severe blow to drilling in the district and discourage the entrance of derricks into the Torrance restricted district from the west at least.

LIFT UP YOUR THOUGHT

Are you sad, my friend and brother? Has some sorrow come your way? Do you fear the night and darkness? Do you seek the light of day? Come, the sun shines all about you; There is naught for you to fear. Learn to know the God who loves you, Watch your clouds then disappear.

Does some thought of sin within you Burn your soul with searing flame? Do you walk about in sorrow, With your head hung deep in shame? Come, my brother, God still loves you, Cast away the thought of sin; Open wide your soul to God and life, So love may enter in.

Are you sick, tied fast in bondage? Do you live in doubt and fear? Do you say 'tis God who chasteneth To draw His children near? Come, lift aside the blinding veil That shuts out God and life; Lift up your thought and know 'tis love That casts out fear and strife.

Come, lift your thought above the clouds To where God's sun shines bright; 'Tis thought alone can bring you cheer And change all wrong to right. God's work of love is finished, 'Tis we alone who sin; Our thoughts of doubt and fear and strife Keep love from coming in. —HARRY GAMBICHLER.

FAST WORLD SERIES SERVICE TO TORRANCE APPRECIATED BY LOCAL BASEBALL FANS

Torrance fans didn't have to go to Los Angeles or Long Beach this year to get the world's series returns play by play.

And judging from the cheers that shook the rafters in the Torrance theatre during the games, the folks here certainly appreciated the up-to-date service which was made possible through the co-operation of the Torrance Theatre, the Torrance Herald; Gilbert, Hansen & Page; Dolley's Drug Store, Sam Rappaport; Schultz, Peckham & Schultz; Ben Rappaport, Murray's Barber Shop, and the Ferncroft Cafe.

The theatre doors were thrown open with no admission charge.

The Herald arranged for leased wire service, getting the returns in Long Beach, play by play, at the office of the Long Beach Telegram. A telephone line, under supervision at Long Beach, Los Angeles and Torrance, was held open from 11 o'clock until the close of each game. The plays were phoned to a special receiver on the stage at the theatre and announced to the fans. The Herald wishes to commend the Pacific Telephone company for their splendid and uninterrupted service. Not a break occurred all through the series. The plays were announced in Torrance only a few seconds after they were made in New York.

The leased wire to Long Beach direct from the playing field was used exclusively by The Herald. Torrance merchants shared the expense of keeping the telephone line open.

In addition The Herald maintained a bulletin service by innings to the oil field. After the first game the men on the derricks were constantly on the lookout for the Herald messengers, who posted the score on boards centrally located.

TORRANCE REALTORS BEAT OUT WHOLE STATE IN ATTENDANCE AT SACRAMENTO CONVENTION

Torrance showed all other California cities the way at the state convention of realtors at Sacramento last week. In point of attendance—counting distance traveled to get there—Torrance beat all other cities in the state. Honolulu, with two members coming—2200 miles, won first prize, but the party of 14 from Torrance beat every city on the Pacific coast.

The following represented the Torrance district board and are glad of it: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Renn, M. L. May, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Treadwell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Austin, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Evans and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ney, R. J. Stanton Jr., and Harry L. Gadeky, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Torrance party joined the Southern California caravan at San Fernando. The caravan consisted of 190 automobiles. The realtors were royally welcomed all along the line. Dinner was served at the Bakersfield Country club. At Tulare girls passed out wafers and buttermilk. At Madeira every person was presented with a basket of grapes. The caravan reached Stockton at 1 p.m., and the realtors were treated to a banquet by the Stockton and Lodi boards. They reached Sacramento at 6:45 and attended the president's reception.

This year's annual banquet was the largest ever held at any realty meeting in the United States—the national convention banquet not excepted. Torrance realtors were delighted with the showing made by Southern California. Robert Sweeney of Pasadena won the five-minute town talk. Peter Hansen of Glendale took second prize, and Herbert Porter of Los Angeles third.

A miniature silver cup was presented to Leslie Tanner, 5-year-old lad, who spoke. He was the hit of the convention talkfest—this little fellow.

Pasadena won the fight for next year's convention—another victory for the Southland—and Long Beach carried home most of the officers. Henry T. Barbour was elected president, and Long Beach realtors were selected to serve as treasurer and secretary of the secretaries' organization.

San Francisco won the trophy awarded to the board completing the greatest achievement of the year. Honorable mention was given Glendale, Los Angeles, Oakland and Santa Ana boards.

The retiring president was presented with a handsome shotgun as a token of the state organization's esteem for his excellent work during the past year.

A report of the Southwest Realty board showed that 29 per cent of the multiple listings were sold during the past year.

The local contingent went through the long trip without accident, only one puncture marring the entire journey.

On the way back a grocery store burned in San Luis Obispo, but the local realtors are undecided whether it was touched off for their especial benefit.

The five-minute address made before the convention by M. L. May follows:

"I have the pleasure of speaking for the baby city represented in this contest—a city which 12 years ago was a sand lot, but today is a city that is causing the world to sit up and take notice.

"Starting as it did from nothing, we are today one of the leading industrial centers of the Pacific coast, with such industries as the Union Tool company, the largest oil tool manufacturing plant in the world; the Pacific Electric car shops, the shops for the largest interurban electric railway system in the world; the Columbia Steel Works; the American System of Reinforcing company; the Torrance Glass Works; the Hendrie Rubber Company, and others. While we have a population estimated at 5100, we have a payroll sufficient to support a city of 20,000 people without taking into consideration our latest and most wonderful industry, oil.

"Our oil fields have reached the point where there is no question of their wonderful and far-reaching results. With our combined activities, industries and oil, we are furnishing employment for approximately 3500 men from our suburbs, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Redondo, etc.

"We are located six miles from that most wonderful Los Angeles harbor, and fortunately have the main line of the Santa Fe building through our city. This gives us ample transportation facilities to connect us with the commerce of the world.

"I do not need to speak of our superb climate. Sufficient to say that we are a part of that section so wonderfully blessed by the Divine Maker, Southern California. Sitting on our front porches we inhale the ozone wafted in from that great mother of all waters, the mighty Pacific. Looking off to the east we can view that great rugged range of mountains with Old Baldy, with her snow-capped peak, stately and grand, smiling down on the beautiful valleys of fruit and flowers at her feet.

"Our streets are wide and well paved. Our business blocks are new and modern; our residence district is such that we may show it with pride, being as it is built up with so many beautiful homes and California bungalows. Building permits for the past six months have reached the enormous total of $1,050,225, without counting some 148 oil derricks, assuring us of the confidence of capital which is the foundation of prosperity, happiness and content.

"I have been proud to speak for Torrance. My little old home town, Hid in a nest of factories, With oil wells all around, We'll be mighty glad to welcome you If perchance you happen down, And we'll make you another Booster For our Little Old Home Town."

CASTLE APARTMENTS

Miss Gertrude Humphrey of Cleveland, O., has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Roy Stover, at the Castle for the past week. Miss Gertrude comes from the St. Joseph hospital of Cleveland, where she has been in training for the last two years. She has now entered the St. Vincent hospital of Los Angeles to finish her training. The transfer was made so as to be near her mother and brother Jerome, who entered the College of Osteopathy, Physicians and Surgeons of Los Angeles this fall.

Mrs. Smith, who has been visiting her old-time friends and relatives in the east, is now with her son, B. B. Smith, of the Castle-apartments.

We see Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Allen are driving a new special six Studebaker. Some car, E. H.

Mrs. Raynes and Mrs. Chambers motored to Long Beach to visit Mrs. Raynes' sister, Mrs. Allen.

Mrs. Wallace Kidder, who has been in the sanitarium at Santa Barbara, is reported improving.

English Class Is Formed For Adults

Through the instrumentality of the Woman's club of Torrance, Prof. Barnett, principal of the high school, has arranged to open a class in English for adults. Although the class was organized for the Woman's club, anyone in the city is entitled to attend. Any person desiring to attend the class should notify Mrs. J. A. Young, 1691 Susana avenue, phone 160-W.

MACCABEE NOTES

The members of Torrance review attended the class initiation in Los Angeles Tuesday evening. The ritualistic work was put on by the commanders of the different reviews, and the drill work by three Camp Girls. A class of 157 were initiated. This gain was made between September 1 and October 1.

Mrs. Minnie Aydelotte was present and gave a very interesting and inspiring talk. California holds the leadership at present in the drive for new members, and Mrs. Belle Bernard, our field work manager, is president of the $50,000 review.

Mrs. Aydelotte reported nearly $19,000,000 in our reserve fund. She was asked what men were connected with the order. She said "Not any; that is why we have so much money."

Mrs. Sallie Rottler, deputy supreme commander, complimented Southern California on their splendid work in gaining so many new members in such a short time, and she will remain in Los Angeles for the rest of October, assisting Mrs. Bernard and Mrs. Ginn.

The next regular meeting of Torrance review will be held in Legion hall Tuesday, Oct. 23. Our drive song will be ready by that time. Mrs. Steinhilber composed the song, which will be given next week. The $5 for payment of advance dues will be awarded at the next meeting.
