Much valuable information was secured and many novel ideas suggested that will be put into effect here later.

Mandy's Judgment.

The day before Mandy was to be married she took the few dollars she had saved to her boss, and asked him to keep them.

"Mandy," he asked, "why don't you keep your money? You're going to be married tomorrow." Mandy replied: "Lord bless yo', boss! I ain't gwine tuh trust dat money in de house wid no strange nigger!"

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE IT'S TOASTED It's toasted. This one extra process gives a delightful quality that can not be duplicated. The best luck some fellows even had in their lives was when the bootleggers didn't show up.

WARNING TO DEAD-HEADS! The editor of a Kansas newspaper says: "Ten cents per line straight will be charged for all obituary notices of business men who did not advertise while living, and delinquent subscribers will be charged 15 cents a line for obituary notices. Advertisers and cash subscribers will receive the best in the shop free when they shuffle off. Better send in your advertisement and pay up your subscription now, as the hog cholera is abroad in the land." This is good advice.
