Displays Line of Candied Fruits

One of the most attractive displays to be seen in Torrance since the holiday goods have been pushed to the front, is that of g'ace fruits and candied fruits shown by Paige's grocery.

Instead of being "good enough to eat" they are actually too good to eat, for it seems almost a crime to disturb the artistic way in which they are packed.

Put up by the well-known firm of Wilcox & Gibbs of Fresno in boxes that would do credit to the most expensive candies, they make a charming Christmas present, especially to eastern friends, who can thus judge both the delicious flavor and handsome appearance of California fruits.

TURKEY GOBBLER REIGNS
For a day the turkey gobbler sends forth his mighty "gobble" and commands all humanity to cease its labors for a day, give thanks, and feast. All stores here will be closed during the day of November 30. For one day the force of the Torrance Herald will lay off. No machinery will be turned, motors will be silent, and the telephone muffled.

Colden, Berry, Beaton

present was not only willing but anxious to take some active part in the future success of the organization.

Following the reading of the minutes of the past three directors' meetings by President Gourcier, the latter, in a short but comprehensive speech explained the object of the meeting, and feeling that light might be shed on the varied problems of the local organization, the president called on Mr. C. E. Berry, organizer of the Torrance Mutual Building and Loan association, C. J. Colden, president of the San Pedro chamber of commerce, and Roy H. Beaton, secretary of the latter organization.

"While my experience with chamber of commerce work," said Mr. Berry, "is from the standpoint of the outsider looking in, the organization of mutual building and loan societies, as in the case of Torrance, has thrown me in close touch with various chambers of commerce, and in my opinion the trouble in Torrance, as in many other small communities is due to the impression that has gained general circulation that the lay member's idea is to 'let George do it'—in other words, expect the secretary to accomplish miracles without outside assistance."

"This is a mistaken notion. Cooperation between members and directors and secretary is the only method whereby a chamber can attain healthy growth and attain any of its ambitions.

"Another mistake is the idea of selling the thought that the chamber needs the money and influence of the prospective member. Stress rather should be laid on the fact that the prospective member needs the chamber—that without its great influence for good no community can prosper."

Mr. Berry dwelt for some time on the far-reaching influence of the building and loan as a community builder, a thought that was later emphasized by other speakers.

"I think it may be safely said that the troubles of most chambers of commerce lies with the professional organizers. These men, actuated solely by a desire to make money for themselves, carry on an emotional campaign in a community much like a revival meeting, get people to sign on the dotted line, and beat it," said C. J. Colden, president of the San Pedro chamber of commerce.

"The reaction sets in and a slump in activity begins. Add to this the unbusiness-like methods adopted by most professional secretaries and a financial situation soon exists that would bankrupt a business institution in twelve months."

Explaining that this is exactly what took place in San Pedro, and that when he took charge the harbor organization was $3,000 in debt, he said he was proud to say that all "deadwood" had been wedded out and that now with about 500 active, energetic members the San Pedro chamber had approximately $1500 in the treasury and was a healthy, going, constructive organization.

Mr. Beaton followed his chief and said that in his opinion the so-called "professional secretary," that as a rule came into a community with Quixotic ideas and usually lasted from three to six months, was not good for a small town.

The speaker complimented Torrance on the turnout at the Forum saying that it far exceeded that of San Pedro and paid a glowing tribute to the new secretary, Mr. Gadeky, who he said he had known as an energetic, forceful man of affairs, for several years.

Following a rather lengthy, but good natured discussion of the matter of admitting women to membership in the chamber a vote was taken and it was moved and carried that when admitted to full membership the payment of a yearly fee of three dollars.

It was also decided that the board of directors appoint a committee of five to investigate the children's playground matter and report at the next Forum meeting.

At the suggestion of a member the board was requested to appoint a committee to take up the question of a bond issue on the sewage farm matter.

Deciding that for the convenience of lay members who might wish to attend the board of directors' meeting, the latter will be held hereafter in the evening rather than in the afternoon as heretofore.

During the course of the evening a buffet luncheon of coffee and wafers was served, the out-of-town visitors being the guests of honor.

Jury In Liquor Trial Disagrees 7-5

In the trial of H. L. Wilson of the Lomita Drug Store, held Tuesday in Judge Hunter's court, twelve men and women, good and true, disagreed. Seven held out for acquittal with five for conviction, after debating the evidence for an hour and a half. The druggist was charged with selling intoxicating liquor, with the District Attorney's office prosecuting the case. Attorney Wallace of Long Beach represented the defendant. The case will be tried again at some future date.

FOREST RANGER SEES "WOLVES" PURSUE MAN

Marlin Hussy, forest ranger, of the Truckee division, from his lofty perch atop the Sierra Nevada mountains aimed his powerful binoculars at a tiny, rapidly moving speck on the snow plains below and was horrified to see a lone man in a dog-sled being pursued by a pack of wolves. He immediately buckled on his automatic and hastened to render assistance.

Half way down the mountain side he came upon an associate ranger who explained away his anxiety regarding the safety of the man and dogs by telling him it was David M. Hartford—a motion picture director who was putting a pack of malemute dogs through their paces in a rehearsal for an important scene in his forthcoming picture, "The Golden Snare."

Mr. Hussy promptly returned to his perch on the mountain top, lit his pipe, crossed his legs, trained his glasses on the stirring scene being enacted below and settled himself down for a good eye-full.

The screen version of "The Golden Snare," which is adapted from James Oliver Curwood's story of the same name, will be the attraction at the Torrance Theatre next week, on December 6.

'Days of '49' Show to Be Held at Compton

The days of '49 are coming back. At least for three days residents and visitors alike will be given an opportunity to see what the old-timers experienced some years ago.

The Compton, Calif., volunteer fire department needs funds. On November 30, December 1 and 2 they will attempt to replenish the empty coffers of the department with a "Days of '49" camp and all the fixings.

Entertainment will be furnished every evening with old-time Virginia reels and square dances.

TOM MIX STRAPS ON HIS SHOOTING IRONS

Six bullets were fired in rapid succession, and all of them bored holes in a sombrero, tossed in the air, before the hat reached the ground. Tom Mix, the Fox star, did this on a bet while waiting to make some scenes for his latest picture, "For Big Stakes." The felt head-gear showed six separate holes—and Tom collected. He then did some shooting from the hip with similar success; this time the targets were tea-cups. The last one of the six just had the handle nipped off. A member of the cast kept it as a souvenir.

Mix finally had to stop his exhibition to continue making the film story, "For Big Stakes," which will open at the Torrance Theatre Sunday and Monday, December 3 and 4. Patsy Ruth Miller is the leading woman.

BAZAAR A SUCCESS

The Central Church Guild Bazaar held at Legion Hall last Friday, November 24, was a decided success. The hall was filled with a crowd of ready purchasers, and the entire stock was so nearly exhausted Friday evening that the sale was not continued through Saturday, as planned. The chicken dinner in the evening was also well patronized, each and every booth did well. Over $300 was realized.

WILSHIRE OIL BEATS LOCALS

The Wilshire Oil club of Los Angeles beat the locals Sunday by a score of 6 to 2. Red Atkins hurt his arm Friday cranking his car, and was very wild, allowing five runs in four innings. Carl McLain went to the mound in the fifth and allowed only four hits and one run. Charley Scharf started at the bat for Wilshire Oil, while Hatzen got two for the locals. Swampy Thompson fielded like a million dollars at short, handling eleven chances and not a boot.

U. S. Postoffice at Shanghai To Be Closed

The way was opened last Saturday for the withdrawal on January 1 of the United States Postal Agency in Shanghai, China, through the acceptance by China of the terms of a special money order convention with this country, according to advices received from Washington, D. C. The withdrawal of the only American postoffice in China was agreed upon at the Washington Arms Conference last year.

County Will Bank Five Million More

Between now and December 4 the county of Los Angeles will deposit $5,000,000 in banks which apply for it, it was stated by County Treasurer J. N. Hunt. The county now has $11,000,000 on deposit in banks throughout the state, on which 3 per cent interest is paid. The county takes government, municipal and school bonds as security.

'Tin Can' Tourists Are Heading for Florida

The "tin can" horde is going through to Florida from the North and Middle West at a lively rate, and is making its way to the southern part of that state. The cars are all well fitted up for camping, and some are miniature houses on wheels, with beds, cooking apparatus and every other convenience for camping, both on the way and during the entire winter.

LOMITA P. O. BUILDING

Altkenhead & Bischke, building contractors, have the foundation in and the steel frames up for the new $15,000 postoffice building on the corner of Narbonne and Weston streets. Rapid progress will follow in the construction.

New Industry Every Day, Month's Record

One new industry for each day of the month was Los Angeles' record during October, according to announcement yesterday by the Industrial Department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Garment manufacturers are in the lead with four, but each of the remaining twenty-seven is without competition for the month. Several industries are distinct additions to Los Angeles' output, in that they are coming into a new field. In connection with this announcement, it was stated that negotiations are under way for several large establishments that within a short time are expected to locate in Los Angeles or vicinity.
