XMAS TREE IN THEATER TOMORROW

Children of City and Vicinity To Be Made Happy at 2:30

When the hour of 2:30 strikes tomorrow, everything will be in readiness for the Municipal Christmas tree and program, which will be held in the Torrance theater, as scheduled. Full account of the program was published in last week's Herald, and as this is written no changes have been reported. An appropriate film will be shown preceding the arrival of Santa Claus, and a short program rendered. The exercises are under the direction of the Woman's Club of Torrance, which organization has made all necessary arrangements for seating and caring for the thousand or more children under twelve years from Keystone and the city limits of Torrance.

TROOP NO. 1

Scout Lex Briney is going on a one week snow hike, beginning night after Xmas.

Troop No. 1 made a very good showing at the recent Boy Scout rally.

Scout Briney was awarded a "Special Scout Service" stripe for raising and lowering the Community flag, each morning and night for one week.

Troop one is surely proud of its troop committee. They were at our rally 100 per cent strong.

Troop No. 1 wishes to take this opportunity to thank the business men of Torrance and our other friends for their liberal support, financially.

Remember, friends, when you need ushers, singers, entertainers, and helpers, call on us.

TROOP NO. 2
 Troop No. 2 will send two members on a snow hike to the mountains after Xmas for one week.

Troop No. 2's troop committee chests are out a foot in front. They are sure proud of their troop. Also its scoutmaster, Scott.

Troop No. 2 turned out with full membership present and all uniformed. Fine work, "Scotty."

Three special service stripes were awarded for raising and lowering of flag for one week.

When Troop No. 2's new stand of colors arrive, here's hoping Troop No. 2 puts on a special parade to celebrate the occasion.

That to do so is an act of pure Americanism and good citizenship?

That the Boy Scouts want you for their friend and welcome you to their meetings?

That the Boy Scouts meet in the American Legion Hall every Friday evening?

That our friends and fellow citizens, the American Legion boys, give us that hall free of charge?

That we are dog-gone proud of our ex-soldier friends?

That at our recent rally we had present 120 boys and 65 grown-ups?

That this rally was our first birthday in Torrance? We've been here a year.

That the boys who are desirous of joining Troop No. 1 should see Scoutmaster Nelson H. Reeve at once, before Troop No. 1 is full?

That Troop No. 1 is for the older boys?

That Troop No. 2 is for younger boys?

That boys who wish to become members of Troop No. 2 had better hurry? It's so nearly a full troop.

That we need another scoutmaster and another Troop in Torrance?

That some church, lodge, or citizens' committee should start another Troop of Scouts? Help train real Americans, folks.

That Troop committeemen, Post, Deinger and Frenger, and Scoutmasters Scott and Reeve, will assist you to the best of their ability? Ask them about Scouting, or come and see for yourself.

That I have gotta go to bed and get up early in the morning and go to work? Well, I have, so good night!

THE TROOP SCRIBE.

Huber Residence Thing of Beauty

Among the beautiful homes recently completed and occupied within the past week is the handsome residence of R. A. Huber, cashier of the State Exchange bank. The building, located on Guadalupe street, in the heart of the choice residential district, and surrounded by the most beautiful homes in Torrance, the Huber residence emphasizes the fact that this city is fast becoming a city of homes, as well as of industries.

Built along typical Spanish lines with griled upper casements and long French windows on the lower floor, the house reflects the desire of its owner—comfort, stability and beauty of architecture.

Opening on the front of the lower floor both on the street entrance and on the driveway at the side is the large living-room twenty-nine feet in length by fifteen in width, at one end of which is one of the chief attractions of the room—a huge fireplace, while the other end of the spacious apartment is the music room, with its grand piano and easy chairs.

Leading off this room is the dining-room and still farther in the rear the breakfast room that is convenient to a large, white kitchen, from which entrance can be had to the bathroom, the guest room, basement and screen porch.

On the upper floor are three large bedrooms and a sun parlor, while in the rear is a large and splendidly appointed garage that, in addition to room for two cars, contains a children's playroom, storeroom, and shower bath and toilet, in keeping with the interior, Mr. Huber has installed an underground sprinkling system that covers the entire lot. On one side of the house will be the flower garden, while the front and sides will be devoted to lawn.

LEGEND OF THE MISTLETOE

Yuletide Bough Was Responsible for Death of Balder, Son of Odin, an Old Story.

THE mistletoe bough, according to an old Scandinavian legend, was responsible for the death of Balder, the son of Odin, and the God of Eloquence and Poetry.

Having informed his mother, Friga, that a dream had warned him of his imminent death she invoked all the powers of earth—fire, air, earth and water (including all animals and plants)—to come to his rescue. In the combats of the gods, therefore, he found himself unharmed.

But Loake, his deadly enemy, was determined to discover the secret of his invulnerability, and by judiciously flattering Friga, and praising the progress of her son, obtained from her the reason. But, she foolishly told him, there was one feeble little shoot she had not thought it necessary to invoke—the mistletoe.

The treacherous Loake immediately procured a branch of the mistletoe, and entering the assembly of gods presented an arrow made from it to blind Heda, with the words—"Balder is before thee. Shoot!" He shot and Balder fell, pierced and slain.

And countless thousands have since been "slain" and will be slain for ages to come with "darts" from the "mistletoe bough."

MYTHS OF CHRISTMAS SEASON

Among Some of Peasantry of France is Belief That Bread Remains Fresh Ten Years.

LEGENDS and myths without number have become associated with the celebration of Christmas. Among some of the peasantry of France is a strong belief that loaves of bread baked at Christmas will remain fresh for ten years. It is also believed by some of the simple folk that during the whole of the Christmas holidays a portion of bread should be left on the table day and night because the Holy Mother may come to share it. For some reason not to be explained, there is a superstition among some French peasant wives that no bread must be baked between Christmas day and the Feast of the Circumcision, because an infraction of this rule will bring disaster on the household.

There is a peasant belief or age-long standing that if the cattle on the farm be given drink immediately after the midnight mass of Christmas their health will continue good throughout the year. Another belief is that if seed of wheat be wrapped in a tablecloth which has been used for Christmas dinner, a profitable harvest will be insured. Another strange belief is that a cold bath taken on Christmas day will protect the bather against fevers and toothache throughout the year.

CHRISTMAS RIBBONS

IF CHRISTMAS ribbons could express themselves they would say that people were thrifty, for some ribbons claim to have been doing business every Christmas for many, many years. They are often pressed and made to look their best, but they're the same ones used again and again. However, if they could philosophize they would rejoice that they were the means of adding gaiety, color and cheer to Christmas packages year after year!
