

Here Are Official Names of Streets Set by Trustees

All streets in Torrance now have official names, many of which have been changed. The new names were adopted Tuesday night by the board of trustees, upon recommendation of the city engineer, who pointed out that legal names are necessary for all matters of legal record and for the convenience of the county assessor.

It was the aim of the board to retain as many of the old Spanish names as possible.

Tenth street was changed to Sierra street; Eighth to Maricopa; Eighth at the extreme northwest of the city to Santa Clara; Fourth to El Dorado; Sixteenth to Sonoma; Twentieth to Washington; Kalmia to Flower.

By the action of the trustees streets in Tract No. 1952, west of Cedar street, starting from the west to the east will be from now in the order named: Pepper, Juniper, Hickory, Fern, Date, Cedar, Plum and Vine. All are avenues. The other streets in the tract which are continuations of old streets will take the names of the streets of which they are continuations.

Cedar street to the extreme south in the district taken over from Lomita has been changed to Madera street.

Business Licenses Payable on July 1

Three ordinances or amendments to ordinances were passed by the board of trustees Tuesday night. One prohibits the keeping of bees in the city of Torrance. One provides for the payment of $6 quarterly for business licenses in the city. These licenses are due and payable July 1 and become delinquent July 10. They may be secured at the office of the city clerk. Under the terms of an amendment passed builders may obstruct sidewalks with building material, if they first secure a permit. Permits will be issued when applicants file with the city clerk $20 bonds, as a guarantee that they will clean away all debris when jobs are completed.

WOMAN'S CLUB OF TORRANCE

Monday, June 18, will be long held in fond memory by the members of the Woman's Club of Torrance, it being the occasion of the annual luncheon and the final meeting of the club year, when Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer of Santa Monica vice-president of the Los Angeles district, installed the officers for the coming club year.

About 100 members and guests of the club attended the luncheon at 1:00 o'clock. Two long tables accommodated the members of the club, while the officers and officers-elect, with Mrs. Lorbeer, district vice president, and Mrs. Charles Stock, past president of the club, were seated at a smaller table. The tables were prettily decorated with carnations, daisies, sweet peas and ferns, carrying out a color scheme of pink, white and green. The favors were candy baskets in the form of roses.

The luncheon of salad, wafers, coffee, ice cream and cake was greatly enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Augusta Somerhill, who prepared the salad, gave a short talk on corn products.

At the conclusion of the luncheon Mrs. Sammons, president, called the club to order. The members remained seated at the table. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read Mrs. Brooks, chairman of membership, stated that on Oct. 1 there were 81 names on the book but on checking these up it was found that 21 had moved away, leaving 60 members. During the year 55 new members were added, making a total of 115 which she hoped would be doubled next year.

Mrs. J. M. Fitzhugh, hospitality chairman, thanked the ladies who had so kindly acted as hostesses at the club meetings during the past year.

Mrs. J. H. Milburn, press representative, gave a report on the press Hi Jinks held on June 8 at the Ebell club house, Los Angeles, which Mrs. Sammons and she had attended. Mrs. Milburn also stated that she had attended all meetings of the club held during the year and all district press conferences held in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Mabel Garner, federation secretary, spoke of the enjoyment she had received from the district federation secretaries' conference and thanked the club for electing her to the office.

Mrs. George D. Watson, chairman of the committee for the dance held on June 1, reported it to have been a success both financially and socially.

Mrs. Halliwell, chairman of the luncheon committee, then sang "Love's Old Sweet Song," Mrs. Fitzhugh, accompanist.

Mrs. F. L. Parks being out of town, the treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Ila M. Gilbert, showing the club out of debt and a neat balance in the treasury, also a substantial amount in the building fund. Mrs. Nettie Steinhilber, auditor, gave her report.

Mrs. Sammons then took occasion to publicly express her thanks to Mrs. A. B. Denny for her help in taking charge of the making of the candy which was sold at the card party and the dance.

Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer of Santa Monica, vice president of the Los Angeles district federation, was introduced to the club and gave the address of the afternoon. Mrs. Lorbeer, at the commencement of her talk, expressed her pleasure at being present on this occasion as to her the last day of a club year was a very intimate club affair. It was like a school commencement, the end and the beginning. Each club year differs from the one before it. Different groups of people are brought out prominently in the club work. There is a different vision at the beginning of each club year and a different aim for which to work. Mrs. Lorbeer gave a brief account of the state convention held at Eureka this year, in the heart of the redwood country.

The convention began at the very first to conserve time by having tables placed on the train at two o'clock and the credential committee went to work registering the delegates, numbering 230. At four o'clock the committee from Eureka boarded the train and proceeded to place and tag each delegate, so that at nine o'clock when the train arrived at Eureka they had been placed and were immediately driven to their destination and by eleven o'clock were all asleep. This would have taken up a half a day of the convention if left till then.

A great many of the delegates were lodged at "Eureka Inn," a community hotel that came into being from the fact the town had no hotel creditable to the town. There are about 750 stockholders in the Inn organization.

Mrs. Fitzgerald presided at the convention and she controlled the meeting and saw that the rules laid down to govern the body were strictly enforced.

Mrs. Lorbeer spoke of the general federation and the good that could be derived from belonging to it. It is the source of a rich fund of information if you use it.

In speaking of the events of the convention she told of the presidents' procession where in a softly lighted hall the torch of the federation emblem was burning. Mrs. Fitzgerald, gowned in white and gold, with her beautiful white hair carrying an unlighted candle walked slowly down the room and lighted it at the burning torch. The district presidents came after and lighted their candles from Mrs. Fitzgerald's candle. After them came the presidents of the clubs of the various districts who in turn lighted their candles from the candle of the president of their district. Thus typifying how the clubs spread the light of knowledge into a world of darkness. All the presidents wore gowns of light colors. Mrs. Lorbeer spoke of the redwood groves where among the beautiful grand old trees grew the tiniest little ferns and flowers.

Mrs. J. A. Visel of New York sang a group of two songs, "The Morning Wind" and "Marvourneen."

Mrs. Sammons, the retiring president, thanked the committee for their work in preparing the luncheon. Also expressed her gratitude to the club members for their loyalty to her.

Mrs. J. M. Fitzhugh presented Mrs. Sammons with a beautiful vanity case as a token of gratitude and appreciation from the club members, telling her it was packed full of love and remembrance and no matter whatever else was placed in it hoped there might always be room for them.

Mrs. Sammons then called Mrs. J. A. Young, the president-elect, to the chair and wished her and her officers for the coming year all the success possible.

Mrs. Young answered: "It is with fear and trembling that I try to follow in the steps of the retiring president."

Mrs. Lorbeer, calling the other officers before her, made a short talk, telling them that a club was not an atom but a unit of a whole. Clubs are a big force both in the educational and spiritual world. She told them to think of the Torrance club as not only a force in Torrance but in the whole world joined to other clubs for each others' good.

Handing the gavel to Mrs. Young she instructed her to wield it only in love, remembering the Golden Rule. Mrs. Young thanked Mrs. Lorbeer for coming to us for this occasion.

The Woman's club of Torrance stands adjourned for the club year of 1922-23.

Beacon Drug Will Serve Drinks Free All Day on Friday

Free drinks at the soda fountain for adults and children accompanied by adults will celebrate the opening of the fine new store of the Beacon Drug company in the Rappaport building Friday.

This splendid new pharmacy general merchandise store and soda dispensing store is certainly one of the most attractive drug stores in any city of this size in California. Arthur E. Finster is manager and part owner. He is assisted by John Knode. Both are graduate pharmacists. The store is decorated in a soft, neutral gray, trimmed with rose and gold. High on the walls are electrically lighted glass display cases. The soda counter is of beautiful burnished mosaic.
