Doug Fairbanks in 'Don Q' Will Be Seen at Torrance Theatre 4 Days Next Week

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in "DON Q, SON OF ZORRO"

With the news that Douglas Fairbanks in his latest screen success, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," will be the feature attraction next Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Torrance Theatre, comes the added announcement that this famous star has, for the time being, stepped out of his role of the historic character, such as "Robin Hood," or the fantastic "The Thief of Bagdad," and will be seen in his new photoplay as the romantic adventurer, winning hearts and plaudits with his inimitable athletic prowess.

This new film, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," is by no means a screen version of the Cervantes classic, "Don Quixote," as some have thought, but has been adapted by Jack Cunningham from the novel, "Don Q's Love Story," by K. and Hesketh Prichard.

Goes to Spain Don Q, the son of Zorro, is sent from California to Spain to complete his education. There he wins high favor at the Spanish court, only to be accused of murder. To escape disgrace he pretends suicide and becomes an outlaw. Of course there is a most romantic love story, and Don Q's quest for the heart and hand of a beautiful senorita eventually meets with success though beset by many tribulations.

Never in all Fairbanks' career, it is said by critics everywhere, did he have a photoplay vehicle that gave him such splendid opportunities for athletic stunts—the type of film portrayal which brought him his earlier success—and in "Don Q, Son of Zorro," there are feats of nimbleness and daring that are said to be far in excess of anything the redoubtable "Don Q" has ever presented.

One of the unusual things in this new Fairbanks United Artists Corporation release is the exceptional skill shown by the star in manipulating the menacing and snake-like bull-whip. This weapon—for such it really is in the hands of a skilled person—is a long, very slender and very sinuous lash, fastened to a short butt-like handle and tapering from an inch or so in thickness to little more than a small cord in its fifty or sixty feet of length. It was used by cattlemen in the early ranch days of Southern California.

Stunts With Whip With this whip Fairbanks performs feats that surprise and startle. With it he first wins his way into the hearts of the Spanish persons—and the life of an enemy—when a maddened bull escapes from the ring and invades the streets; and with it, also, he frustrates plot after plot against his lady-love as well as against himself. In short, say those who have viewed "Don Q, Son of Zorro," the whip becomes in the hands of Fairbanks all that the duelling sword was in his previous productions.

"Don Q, Son of Zorro," is said to have everything in it for audience entertainment: high adventure, most appealing romance, startling melodrama, and mystifying intrigue. In its production Mr. Fairbanks gathered around him players of exceptional merit and popularity. Mary Astor, young, beautiful and highly capable, is his leading lady, with Jack McDonald and Donald Crisp, who also directs the picture, in the chief supporting male roles. Others in the cast are the Countess De Lanti, Warner Oland, Jean Hersholt, Lottie Pickford, Forrest, and Albert MacQuarrie.

Tom Mix in "The Yankee Senor" will be the attraction at the Torrance Theatre Saturday of this week.

"This is the screen version of "Conquistador," the famous novel by Katherine Fullerton Gerould, and many of the scenes are in technicolor.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Carstensen of Cypress street visited San Pedro friends Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hanline of Beacon street are driving a new Buick.

Mrs. Emma O'Quinn of San Diego is visiting former neighbors here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Willacy and George Wilkinson spent Saturday with friends in San Pedro.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Meers of Walnut street attended the firemen's benefit show at Compton Monday evening. Mrs. Meers' brother, D. H. Burden, is fire chief of Compton.

Long Beach Harbor Exposition Is Set for Week of April 21

Long Beach will hold her sixth annual Harbor Industrial Exposition between the dates of April 21 and April 28, except Sunday.

This year the show will be considerably bigger than any of the shows put on in former years, according to the executive committee of the exposition. Both the ground and main floors of the Long Beach Municipal Auditorium will be utilized, and many new attractions are being added.

In addition to 150 exhibits of industrial products, the exposition will include an elaborate fashion show, a radio show, and an automobile show.

The entire building is to be decorated in a theme of "blossom time." The ground floor of the building in addition to the blossom time decoration will be landscaped as a California garden with trees, shrubs and arbors.

Elaborate plans for entertainment are in progress. In addition

Ted Lewis in Third Week at Orpheum

Ted Lewis, with his musical clowns and his two steppers, Bobbe Arnst and Helen Charleston, is not going into stock at the Orpheum, but he might well be, for he is now in his third week, and in no way has his popularity at the big theatre seemed to diminish.

On the contrary, what with the new material he is constantly interjecting into his act, he is so nearly giving a complete new show at every interval that one never sees quite the same program from him.

And now that Bobbe has a companion dancer in Helen, who is a charming individual of great talent, the act is bigger and better than before. Ted and his high hat are extremely clever, too, and the boys sure mark high in the music they render.

In newcomers, top honor goes to Harry J. Conley in a Willard Mack skit, "Slick as Ever." Also featured in the new bill is Bobby Folsom, a smart singer, who brings a budget of new material written by Blanche Merrill, now living here, known as one of the best song writers of the day.

This gives three stellar acts in the new bill—and the supporting turns are not below them in value. Billy Hallen, a talker of real merit, will be a favorite from the start in his skit, "It's All Apple-auce." Alexander and Santos and their company will be seen in a variety diversissement of quality and worth; Lew Reed and Paul LaVere will portray "two gentlemen from nowhere"; the three Lordons will give an exhibition that will thrill, and Malinda and Dale are "royal entertainers," they proclaim. A week later the Orpheum will offer its greatest sensation in many moons, the famed San Antonio "Siamese Twins," Violet and Daisy Hilton, born joined together, but versatile, clever and unusual in their entertainment value.

Woman's Symphony Orchestra Concert

Wednesday, April 21

For the second and last concert of the Woman's Symphony Orchestra of Los Angeles on Wednesday evening, April 21, at the Philharmonic Auditorium, Henry Schoenfeld, the indefatigable director and conductor of this well known organization, has again selected an excellent program which will be a treat to all lovers of ensemble music.

An additional feature of the program will be the appearance of Sylvain Noack, concertmaster and first violinist of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, as soloist. He will play Beethoven's Concerto for violin.

The Woman's Symphony Orchestra is one of the oldest and most representative organizations of the country. With their earnest work and endeavors they have accomplished the solution of a great problem and created an avenue for our women instrumentalists that is nowhere equaled in the world.

The orchestra is now composed of 30 artists. It has progressed continuously and done wonderful work in fostering musical culture.

Mrs. Harold Coackley of Vine street is the guest this week of her sister, Mrs. Gordon Elvey, of Placentia.

Mrs. Leslie Bilbro of Narbonne avenue is reported on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Trunnell of Oak street were entertained Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of Long Beach.

Recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Pollock of Narbonne avenue were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Farfar of Santa Monica. Mr. and Mrs. Pollock and their guests were formerly neighbors in Colorado.

Dinner guests Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Francis of Flower street were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gill of Hermosa Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hartley and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Green, of Los Angeles.

What could be simpler?

—just pull the switch and turn

WHETHER you're a novice or a veteran in Radio, you'll like this Atwater Kent ONE Dial receiving set.

If a novice, you will be won by its simplicity. It has only one dial. Just turn the dial and hear what's on the air—as you would scan the headlines in your newspaper—then select the station you want to listen to.

If a veteran, your enjoyment in Radio will start all over again. Think of it—no tuning. Never before have you had such command of the air—never before did you realize there were so many good stations on the air—so many that can be brought in with absolute clearness and volume.

And both of you—novice and expert—will be charmed with the quality of performance. The Atwater Kent Model 30 is just as fine in reception as simple in operation.

And although this is a full-powered, six-tube set, the mahogany cabinet is no higher than your fountain pen, no longer than a row of a dozen books.

Simple, efficient, beautiful, compact—ask any Atwater Kent dealer to let you try the Single Control Model 30, today.
