PATTERSON AND JESSUP RESIGN

CALDER NEW CHIEF; FRANK LEONARD IS NAMED ENGINEER

Dark Horse Appointed Marshal as Phillips Petition Is Placed on File
END PERCENT SYSTEM
City Engineer Will Live in Torrance and Be Paid $300 Month

Accepting the resignations of Chief of Police Louie F. Patterson and City Engineer J. J. Jessup, the Board of Trustees Wednesday night appointed G. M. Calder chief and named Frank R. Leonard city engineer.

Patterson's resignation, acted upon Monday night, became effective Wednesday, and Calder was sworn in to act as temporary city marshal with an ordinance passed making him permanent chief. In naming a new chief the board cut the pay of the executive from $300 to $225 a month. Mr. Calder for some time has been assistant manager of the Day and Night Garage. He lives in Torrance and has been here for about two and a half years.

Ends Percentage
Mr. Jessup's resignation, which was accepted Wednesday night at an adjourned meeting of the board, will take effect on June 1, when Mr. Leonard will take office. The Jessup resignation ends the percentage basis on which the engineering department has been operated. The new engineer will receive a salary of $300 a month and will take office on June 1, in appointing the new engineer the board also named Mr. Leonard building inspector.

Mr. Leonard for seven years has been engineer of the Dominguez Land Corporation and as such has become well acquainted with Torrance engineering matters.

Mr. Calder made the following statement to The Herald this morning: "As city marshal of Torrance I will do my utmost to see that the law is impartially and fairly enforced and the citizens of Torrance are protected in their constitutional rights. I have no promises to make, but will endeavor to maintain an orderly, courteous and well disciplined force of officers. I invite the co-operation of the public in making Torrance an orderly and pleasant place in which to live."

On Monday night a petition asking for the appointment of William Phillips as chief was presented and was referred to the police committee for report and recommendation Wednesday night. The petition was signed by about 40. Wednesday night Trustee Charles M. Inman moved that the petition be placed on file. Trustee Brady Wolfe then said: "For the position of chief of police of Torrance we want a man who has"

Torrance C. of C. Letter to Washington Reaches Destination in Short Order

The speed of the new air mail service from Los Angeles to the east is demonstrated by a letter received from the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D. C., by Carl L. Hyde, secretary of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce.

On the day the new air service started Mr. Hyde mailed a letter to the United States Chamber at Washington. A letter from that organization signed by the secretary of the Chamber at Washington, D. C., was received at Torrance at 5 p. m. April 16; that it left Los Angeles at 7:35 a. m. April 17, and was delivered at Washington at 3 p. m. April 19.

Letters mailed in Torrance before 5 p. m. any day catch the morning plane out of Los Angeles the next day.

BABCOCK CASE NEARS CLIMAX; ARRESTS LOOM

Officials in Last Try for Refund Today; Outsider Involved

The case of L. V. Babcock, cashier, whose accounts at the First National Bank were discovered to be short to the extent of about $10,000, was reaching a climax today as officials of bonding houses and federal bank examiners, in co-operation with Babcock, were attempting to secure a refund of the money from individuals other than Babcock said to be involved.

It was freely reported that in case the money was not forthcoming one or more arrests would be made.

The matter was turned over to the National Surety Company and the Aetna Bonding and Surety Company by the First National Bank Monday. Babcock was under $25,000 bond with these institutions.

Seek Outsider
Acting upon Babcock's statements that the shortage originated when he cashed a check for a Long Beach man and that when the check was returned as bad he failed to notify officers of the bank, officials of the bonding companies sought the Long Beach man whom Babcock's statement seemed to involve.

On Wednesday the bonding houses called federal examiners on the case. A conference among them today was said to constitute a final effort to secure a refund from the parties outside the bank, and that if the money was not forthcoming at least one and probably two arrests would be ordered.

Babcock's Version
Babcock has consistently asserted that none of the money represented by the shortage stayed in his possession but that it all went to the Long Beach man through the payment of bad checks. That statement sent bonding houses off on a quest to secure a refund from the Long Beach man, whose name necessarily must be withheld by a newspaper for purposes of newspaper safety against libel suits until official action is taken against him.

Officials of the bonding companies have been working on the theory that the Long Beach man and another outsider connived originally to secure money on a check from Babcock; that they so secured it; that the check was returned; that Babcock's failure to report it to bank officials laid him open to further obligation, and that while under this obligation he cashed still more checks, until the amount of the shortage in his accounts reached a sum in the neighborhood of $10,000.

This in effect is Babcock's own statement, except that he acknowledges no connivance and asserts merely that he was reluctant to report the cashing of the bad checks to James W. Post, president of the bank.

Monday bank directors issued a statement expressing regret that it had become necessary for them to report the shortage and turn the case over to the bonding houses.

Babcock Statement
L. V. Babcock made the following statement to The Torrance Herald today: "In justice to the persons who have had faith in me since this unfortunate affair at the First National Bank of Torrance has been published, I wish to make a statement."

Santa Fe Asks City Vacate Streets To Speed Big Plan

TO HURRY FACTORY AREA

Company Petitions Trustees to Avoid R. R. Commission Red Tape
AGREE TO REDEDICATE
Board's Attitude Is One of Co-operation to Full Extent

Anxious to proceed as soon as possible with the work of developing the big industrial area in West Torrance so that the "best industrial subdivision on the coast" may be realized shortly, the Santa Fe Railroad Company through its subsidiary, the Chanslor-Cantfield Midway Oil Company, has officially petitioned the Board of Trustees of Torrance to vacate all streets now located in the district owned by the company.

The request is made in order to enable the company to proceed with its plans for spur tracks without being forced to apply to the Railroad Commission for the right to cross each street at grade.

The company will agree in writing to rededicate the streets to the city and to maintain crossings over the streets after tracks are installed.

All But Two Unused
The only thoroughfares bounded by Santa Fe property which are in public use are portions of Cedar and Maple avenues, which the company agrees to allow to remain open to public use and to rededicate as soon as the city desires. All of the other streets are not in use but have been dedicated as public thoroughfares.

The Planning Commission has agreed to recommend the requested vacation of the streets, and the Board of Trustees Monday night indicated an intention to adopt the recommendation. The board this week will inspect the property and have instructed City Attorney Perry G. Briney to prepare resolutions of intention to make the vacations. These resolutions will be presented at the next meeting of the board. They will be advertised and posted on the property and a date set, in accordance with law, for protests.

Will Co-operate
The request from the company was in two petitions—one dealing with streets south of Carson street and one dealing with those north of that highway.

The trustees expressed willingness to co-operate to the fullest reasonable extent with the Santa Fe to hurry the development of the vast industrial district which the entire city seems to agree means so much to the future of the entire Torrance district.

Reeve Hardware Store, Pioneer in Torrance Retail Business, Purchased by Wilmington Man

The second oldest merchandising house in Torrance changed hands today in one of the most important transactions in local business annals when the Torrance Hardware Company was sold by Harry Reeve to Leon Larson of Wilmington.

Mr. Larson, for years engaged exclusively in the hardware business in South Dakota, has been affiliated with the Wilmington Hardware Company for two years. While the consideration was not made public, it is said to establish a record for the transfer of a retail business in Torrance.

Small Stock to Start
Mr. Reeve started business in Torrance as a pioneer retailer in 1912. When he opened his doors with a $500 stock on Craven avenue, the only store in operation was that of Jack Isenstein. Harry Dolley opened a drug store the same day that Mr. Reeve started business. So the Torrance Hardware and the Dolley Drug stores are the oldest now in existence in Torrance. Mr. Reeve has always been intelligently active in all affairs having to do with the welfare and progress of Torrance.

Mr. Larson will take charge of the Torrance store Friday. He will be sole owner of the institution, but will retain his affiliation with the Wilmington company in order to place at the disposal of Torrance patrons the large stock on hand at that institution.

James T. Wise Falls Into Vat Of Hot Acid at Glass Factory; Condition Reported Critical

Falling into a vat of hot acid solution at the Torrance Flat Glass plant Wednesday afternoon, James T. Wise was severely burned over the entire body. At the Jared Sidney Torrance Memorial Hospital this morning the condition of Mr. Wise was reported as critical, although he is said to have a chance for recovery.

The vat into which Mr. Wise fell was filled with a solution of muriatic acid which is kept at a temperature near the boiling point and in which glass is immersed for cleaning purposes.

Standing near the vat, Mr. Wise slipped and fell. He was immersed in the hot liquid almost up to his shoulders. He crawled out of the vat and screamed for help. Workmen near by ran to his assistance. They stripped the clothes from the suffering man and he was rushed to the hospital.

Observations
Civil War Rocks England—Despotism or Socialism?
The Individual vs. the State—Causes of Crisis Lie in Age-Old Struggle for Complete Democracy
By W. HAROLD KINGSLEY

AS this is written England rocks with a disension that shakes the "tight little island" to its very foundations. Five million workmen are on strike, tying up transportation, distribution of food, mines, newspapers, restaurants—paralyzing all the media of everyday service upon which modern human beings depend for the necessities and comforts of life.

The great strike has been brewing since the war. Economic conditions in England have been so disadvantageous to the great mass of the people who earn their livings by their toll that threats of a great human eruption have worried every cabinet since 1918.

To prevent just such a general strike as now prevails England instituted the system of doles for unemployed shortly after the war. Wise heads told the world then that such a measure would only postpone the crisis. That these men were right in the understanding of the underlying causes of English discontent is written large across the face of the English economic map today.

WHAT is the underlying cause? Is it the fact that miners were faced with a reduction in pay? It is not. Is the strike brought on by political parties seeking control of the country? It is not. The history of England, probably more than the history of any other nation on earth, has been one in which the steady trend of events since the Norman conquest has been toward the exaltation of the individual as against his servitude.

In this trend lies the underlying cause of the British crisis today.

ALL human activity is toward progress of one sort or another. For centuries it has been toward the increasing freedom of the

Trustees Award Fire Station Contract to Santa Ana Firm

LOCAL MEN GET WORK
Plumbing and Electrical Jobs Stay in Torrance; Inman Votes 'Present'

The Board of Trustees Monday night instructed Mayor Dennis to enter into a contract for the construction of the new fire station and office building on Craven avenue. The contract was awarded to Jules W. Markel and Son of Santa Ana, whose bid of $17,688 was low.

Before awarding the contract the board called on Mr. Markel to explain how much local labor and material he would use in erecting the building.

Work to Local Men
The contractor asserted that the plumbing contract would be given to the Torrance Plumbing Company; that all brick would be purchased from the Torrance Brick Company; that electrical work would be done by the Torrance Electric Company; and that local labor would be utilized in all possible cases.

See-See-Emmos Out For Scalps Of Pasadenans
Oilers in Revenge Tilt on Torrance Ball Lot Sunday

A hot time is anticipated at the C. C. M. O. baseball pasture next Sunday afternoon when the galloping oilers step out to obtain revenge from the Pasadena Merchants for the drubbing the lads from the millionaire city administered to the Torrance aggregation not long since.

After that Pasadena Waterloo the local collection of pastimers has been rounding rapidly into form, and with Speed Martin on the mound they expect to win back the laurels wrested from them by the Pasadenans.

The Pasadena team always has been a good drawing card in Torrance, and because they have so much blood in their eyes the See-See-Emmos are justified in expecting a record crowd. The fracas will open at 2:30.

Torrance Company Ships First Order of Bricks Ever to Leave Pedro For Trans-Pacific Port

The first shipment of brick ever to head west over the Pacific ocean from San Pedro was the product of the Torrance Brick Company.

The shipment was consigned to Honolulu on an order of 100,000 common brick recently received by the Torrance company.

There is no clay in the Hawaiian Islands suitable for the manufacture of brick, but until the Torrance company landed the order all brick shipped to the islands had gone forth from San Francisco and Oakland.

Now that the first shipment has been sent from San Pedro, the Pullman brothers believe that the future will bring them many substantial orders from Honolulu.
