Easy Lessons in - AUCTION BRIDGE
New Series by WYNNE FERGUSON
Author of 'Ferguson on Auction Bridge'

ARTICLE No. 33
In a recent article an analysis was made of the take-out of partner's no-trump when second hand had passed.

The correct bid is undoubtedly one no-trump. Why? Because experience has shown that when your partner bids a suit and you have less than three cards of that suit, you will have a better chance for game at some other suit or no-trump.

Second hand passes, your partner bids two spades, and fourth hand passes. Don't you think you ought to bid two no-trump for exactly the same reason that you would bid one no-trump with that hand over a one spade bid by partner?

In the following hands there is no score, you are the dealer and have bid one no-trump. Second hand has passed, your partner has bid two spades, and fourth hand has passed. What would you now bid?

Hand No. 1
Hearts-Q, 7, 2
Clubs-A, K, 7, 3
Diamonds-K, 6
Spades-10, 9, 4, 2
Hand No. 2
Hearts-Q, 10, 6, 3
Clubs-A, J, 5, 2
Diamonds-K, Q, 7
Spades-Q, 4
Hand No. 3
Hearts-J, 10, 4, 2
Clubs-K, J, 7
Diamonds-A, K, Q, 6
Spades-7, 6

The following hand is an excellent example of good play, so study it carefully. Note how the declarer figured out the only possible chance for game.

Hearts-10, 4
Clubs-K, Q, 10, 9, 7, 5
Diamonds-Q, 6, 4
Spades-7, 3
Hearts-Q, 9, 8, 6, 3
Clubs-6, 2
Diamonds-K, 8, 7
Spades-A, K, 10

No score, first game. Z dealt, bid one no-trump, and all passed.
A opened the four of spades. Y played a low spade, B the jack, and Z won the trick with the ace. How should he plan the play of the combined hand? Z must lead the deuce of clubs from his hand and play the queen from dummy. If this card forces the ace he can finesse against the jack on the next round. A good player, however, would not play his ace on the first round, so, in that case, Z is up against a difficult problem. He must set his club suit at once before the queen of diamonds, his only possible re-entry card, is taken out of dummy. For that reason Z must make one of two plays: (a) he can lead a low club, hoping that the ace is now single, or (b) he can lead the king of clubs, hoping that the jack is single.
Either play is a guess, but one or the other must be made, for the only hope for game is to set up the clubs. As a matter of fact, the king of clubs would have been the correct play at trick three,
for B originally held the jack and four of clubs.

The following hand was played recently in Detroit and forwarded to the writer as an excellent example of the "squeeze"; that is, the forcing of one hand to discard winning cards:

Problem No. 17
Hearts-K, 7
Clubs-6, 5, 4
Diamonds-9, 8, 6, 2
Spades-A, K, Q, 4
Hearts-10, 6, 5
Clubs-9, 2
Diamonds-Q, 10, 7
Spades-10, 9, 8, 5, 2
Hearts-J, 8, 3
Clubs-A, K, Q, 10, 8, 3
Diamonds-5, 3
Spades-J, 6
Hearts-A, Q, 9, 4, 2
Clubs-J, 7
Diamonds-A, K, J, 4
Spades-7, 3

There is no score; rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart, A and Y passed, and B bid two clubs. Z bid two hearts, and all passed.
A opened the nine of clubs and B won the first two tricks with the king and queen. He then led the ace of clubs, which Z trumped with the nine of hearts and A over-trumped with the ten. A now led the six of hearts. How can Z so play the hand that he will make the balance of the tricks against any defense? Watch out for the solution in the next article.

We said to the man
'Why wait for something better? What you wanted is right here. It's the Atwater Radio with the One Dial Control. See, it brings in station after station—by simply turning this single dial.'
Then the man said
'I know, but how will it sound in my home?'
Then we said to the man
'Better. We'll put it in your home and let you see.'
