Long Sickness Ends in Death of Woman Here

Mrs. Julia Mowry, 74, Succumbs to Heart Trouble Tuesday

Mrs. Julia Wallace Mowry, 74, died late Tuesday night, March 6, after an illness of four weeks. Death was caused by heart trouble. Born in Centerville, Michigan, Mrs. Mowry came to California nine years ago, and to Torrance from San Diego over four years ago. Her husband, Christopher Mowry, to whom she was married Oct. 4, 1874, died Nov. 27, 1923, shortly after they made their home in Torrance. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mowry were members of the Methodist church for more than 50 years. A celebration of their golden wedding anniversary was held in 1921. Mrs. Mowry was actively interested in Women's Club and P. T. A. work.

The last of a family of seven children, Mrs. Mowry is survived by two daughters, Miss Etta Mowry, Torrance, a member of the faculty of the Elementary School and Mrs. Floy M. Bogart, Wixon, Michigan; three sons, Guy L. Mowry, Torrance, a member of the high school faculty; John H. Mowry, Syracuse, N. Y.; Christopher N. Mowry, Plainville, Mich.; twenty-one grandchildren, and four great grandchildren. One son, Edwin A. Mowry is deceased. Funeral services were conducted today at Stone & Myers chapel by Rev. R. A. Young. Interment was made in Inglewood cemetery.

School Notes

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL. Miss Henderson, teacher of the A4 grade, has received a doll from Michiko Nishida who is in Japan for a visit with relatives.

Miss Grace Wade of the orchestra department spoke today at the noon faculty meeting.

On account of the steady growth of Torrance and the absence of any epidemic of sickness, the attendance has been much better this year than last. The average daily attendance in the kindergarten for the last month was 96.66, as compared with 68 for the same month last year. In the grades the attendance averaged 796.86 this year, as compared with 626 last year. That makes a grand total of 893.31 children in attendance daily this year as against 695 during the year 1926-27. This means a decided increase in our supply allowance from the state, and the faculty

How to Play BRIDGE Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson

It frequently happens that a player has both good help for his partner's bid and also a strong suit of his own. The question then confronts him: "Should I help my partner's bid or show my own suit?" The answer to that question is really very simple: If your partner bids a major suit and you have good help for the bid, you should show support for his suit first, before you bid your own, even if such suit is also a major suit.

To bid your own suit first and then support your partner, doesn't give him a correct picture of your hand. On the other hand, if you first support his hand and then bid your own suit, you have given him accurate information. He should know that your bid of your own suit is a means of informing him of the character of your hand, so that the best bid of 26 cards can be obtained, rather than of thirteen. The clever bidder always tries for that result; that is, the best bid of the combined hands of himself and his partner, and any method accurately obtaining that result should be encouraged.

Example Hand. Hearts—5. Clubs—A, 8, 4, 3. Diamonds—K, Q, J, 10, 9. Spades—Q, J, 7.

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one spade and A bid two hearts. Should Y bid two spades, thus showing support for his partner's spade suit or should he bid three diamonds. There is no question but that Y should first show support for his partner's spade bid. Y's bid of two spades is overbid by B with three hearts. Z and A pass and now Y should bid four diamonds. By this kind of bidding he has given his partner Z the choice of trying for game in either spades or diamonds, and thus has increased their chances of winning.

It happens that Z's spade bid was based on a four-card suit, so that when his partner shows a big diamond suit, Z should allow him to play the hand at diamonds. He has great help for that suit and a sure game should result. If Z, however, had no support for the diamond suit and a strong spade holding, he should have bid four spades over the four diamonds. In bidding of this kind you must use your common sense. Give only information that is accurate and can be of help to your partner. Try to remember that sound bidding should produce the best for the combined hands of the partnership; the best bid for 26 cards—not for thirteen.

Possibly you hear the expert speak of the "squeeze" or the "double squeeze" without understanding what is meant. Suppose, for example, in the play of a no-trump hand, you have a long line of high cards and play them out, forcing your opponents to discard. Very frequently these discards are very embarrassing and at times actually force one or both opponents to discard winning cards. To force one opponent to discard winning cards thus, is the so-called "squeeze." To force both opponents to do so, is the so-called "double-squeeze."

The following hand is an excellent example of the "double-squeeze" so try your luck with it: Problem No. 15. Hearts—J, 10. Clubs—A, 7, 6. Diamonds—8. Spades—10, 9, 7.

Hearts—K, Q, 5, 7. Clubs—Q, 10, 9, 4. Diamonds—5. Spades—none. Diamonds are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Z play the hand so that he can win all of the tricks against any defense? Solution in the next article.

LEGION NOTES

The special meeting of the Bert S. Crossland Post on Feb. 29 was a bang-up affair. Fourteen new members were initiated over the radio in the statewide ceremony. Gene DeBra supplied the local post with a Kolster radio receiving set and it sure worked fine. The post thanks Gene.

This post has sent word of its appreciation to the California Hut Post for the snappy work of its installation team. The members of this post are all disabled veterans.

A number of visitors attended the meeting, including Doc Fuller of San Pedro and Mr. Timms of the Union Tool Company. Mr. Timms fought with the Canadian forces. There was also Mr. Thompson of the American Can Company and so many others that the scribe didn't get their names.

Ellie Harder, who was in Bert Crossland's outfit gave a short talk on his former buddy's last day in France. Bert was last seen by his comrades on Nov. 1, 1918 in Belgium. The local post is named after him.

Bob Deininger, financial wizard of the post told the gang how the clubhouse is being financed. He urged every member to subscribe to a couple of shares on the building-stock on the installment plan. The post started a new stunt this week to raise a jack. A flock of the boys started collecting waste paper from hotels and business houses. Collections will be made every Tuesday night. Those who have paper to be collected are requested to phone Bob Deininger at 108.

Jim Jamieson made a report on the recent district meeting where 13 posts were represented by more than 500 Legionnaires. El Segundo was literally jammed with veterans. The bugle corps from Catalina did its stuff for the first time on the mainland. They didn't swim the channel.

A bunch of Torrance members are going to Lynwood Friday night to see the baby post there installed. The district meeting will be held there that night, too. The crowd will convene at the First National Bank at 7 p. m.

wishes to thank the parents and commend them for their attitude in the matter.

Mrs. Edward Lynch left Wednesday for an extended visit with relatives in Seattle, Tacoma, and Puyallup, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKinney of Lomita were entertained at dinner Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Weir Atwood of Border avenue.

Ramona Pageant Association to Perpetuate Early History

Hemet—The Ramona Pageant, outdoor spectacle sponsored by the Hemet San Jacinto Chamber of Commerce for the last five years as a community enterprise glorifying early Southern California history, has grown to such proportions as to necessitate a separate organization, the Ramona Pageant Association, according to announcements made today.

Formation of an independent association to produce the pageant is revealed with the launching of plans for the sixth annual presentation in the Ramona bowl near Hemet early this spring. Definite dates are not yet determined.

The Ramona Pageant Association which will continue the pageant as a community affair, will be headed by Edward Poorman, as president and general manager. Poorman, who managed last year's presentation, and who has been active in upbuilding the enterprise since its inception appearing in a principal role since the first performance, has been induced to return from Los Angeles to head the association.

Prominent citizens chosen as executives include H. H. Spaulding, of Hemet, vice president; Oliver P. Ensey, secretary; C. C. Abbey, treasurer; and Mrs. Emily Freeman, executive secretary of the 1928 pageant. Formation of the new association will relieve the combined Chambers of Commerce of the twin cities of the great mass of detail involved in staging the annual show.

The spectacular outdoor play was launched by an enterprising group of citizens who wished to preserve the history and romance of the Ramona country in 1923. The first performance, staged in a pocket of a canyon near the Hemet city limits, without seats or other conveniences, drew 3,000 persons. In 1924 the pageant attracted 4500, and since, the fame of the play has spread until last year, presentations were given on three successive week-ends with a total attendance of approximately 15,000 spectators.

Baker Smith Has Jewelry Removal Sale

Genuine diamond rings for five dollars, pearl beads for thirty-five cents, and from 25 to 50 percent discount on practically everything else in stock; this is the method used to effect a quick disposal of Baker Smith's jewelry stock before moving into his new store at 1313 Sartori avenue.

The decision to move was made suddenly, and accounts for this drastic means of reducing stocks to a minimum so that the new store can be opened with a complete new line of goods.

"We want to move without baggage," said Baker Smith, "and we are pricing our present stocks without regard to cost in order to do so. Everything in the store is included in this removal sale. All our fine watches, clocks, silverware, leather goods, as well as the small articles of jewelry as compacta, cigarette cases, and like gift articles, go into this eight day sale without reserve."

"I strongly advise my customers and others to anticipate their future gift requirements and take advantage of these extraordinary low prices, which will positively be in effect for eight days only," continued Mr. Smith. "Saturday, March 17, we move to our new store at 1313 Sartori avenue."
