SAVE MONEY WITH COMMON BRICK

FORGET if you like, that brick makes beautiful exteriors and comfortable interiors, that it is fireproof and lasts forever...and you still have left the one point in its favor that makes common brick the outstanding building material for the man who must build economically.

It is n't often true in building that one of the best materials is also one of the cheapest...but it is true in the case of common brick. The brick for the average home costs only slightly more than 6% of the total cost of the building. And brick never needs painting or repair...it never cracks or decays...it brings lower fire insurance rates and higher rental and resale values. And when the common brick building is finally torn down, the brick is just as valuable for reuse as the day it was first made.

The coupon below will bring you some extremely interesting cost figures on common brick for your particular purpose.
