

Smith Opens Another Meat Market Friday

Special Bargains Mark Opening of New Meat Shop in Continental Market

Red-hot meat specials will mark the opening of Smith's Food Market No. 2, Friday and Saturday, in the Continental Store building at 1639 Cabrillo avenue, according to A. C. Smith, owner of the popular independent food market on Sartori avenue, opposite the Woolworth's store and the store.

Torrance Men Seek Missing Plane

Four Torrance men left last night for the vicinity of Frazier mountain to undertake an independent search for the missing Century airplane, lost with its pilot and eight passengers since last Friday. They were Stephen P. Grace, Ed McClumphy, W. M. Edmonds and Kenneth E. Padock.

Marine League Will Discuss Major Sport

Proposal to Reduce Baseball Schedule to Be Aired

Baseball will be discussed pro and con at the next meeting of the Marine League officials held Monday, February 8. Although a number of schools in the Los Angeles system are abandoning baseball as a major sport, due in some part to the lack of interest and consequent drop in the turn-out for practice, and partly to the lack at certain schools of adequate playing fields, it is not probable that this phase of the situation will be given serious consideration by Marine League participants.

According to Herbert S. Wood, Torrance high school principal, the main element in the baseball situation is the excessive cost to the individual schools. The board of education provides a certain amount of equipment, but the greater part of the cost for uniforms, bats and balls of a type suitable for league games, and the umpires' fees are borne by the individual schools, and to the smaller schools of the league this expense is burdensome. Practically no revenue from gate receipts is available to help make the sport self-supporting.

In order to cut down on some of the outlay, it is proposed that the Marine League reduce its baseball schedule to six league games, the remainder of the season being devoted to practice games. Since football and basketball league games are limited to this number there seems to be no valid reason why baseball should not be placed on the same schedule.

Sam Rappaport Retires From Retail Trade

Merchant in Torrance Since 1913 Sells Stock and Fixtures

Sam Rappaport, pioneer department store merchant in Torrance, announced his retirement from retail trade this week and the sale of the Rappaport stock and fixtures to J. J. Sugarman & Company, Los Angeles liquidators. No decision has been made by Sugarman officials for disposing of the stock or fixtures, but an inventory is being taken this week and it is understood the deal is now in escrow.

The closing of Rappaport's oldest retail store in Torrance, The first Rappaport store was opened in 1913 on Cabrillo avenue, in a building south of the present Rappaport building, which was erected in 1923.

Mr. Rappaport states that he will devote his time in the future to his other interests. He still retains his ownership of the Rappaport building on Cabrillo avenue, and will continue to reside in his home on Gramercy avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Rappaport have done much toward the development of Torrance from the early days of 1913 to the present time. Only last year, Mr. Rappaport served as president of the Torrance Kiwanis club, and his host of friends in this community join in wishing him success in his new work.

to more than 200 of the guests, while the Methodist and Central churches served luncheon to their allotted groups. The tables were beautiful with low baskets of anemones and narcissus and sprays of acacia completed the decorations.

Mrs. W. J. Neelands, luncheon chairman, was highly complimented for the success of the luncheon and Mrs. J. W. Post and Mrs. J. W. McMillan, chairmen of the dining room and decorations, deserve much credit for their work. Mrs. G. L. Mowry, luncheon chairman at the M. E. church, and Mrs. J. E. Spelger at the Central church, assisted greatly in preparing and serving luncheon to their number.

At the afternoon session, Raymond Hoyt, superintendent of the playground commission, spoke on adult recreation. He also spoke of the First International Recreational Congress to be held in Los Angeles in July. At this conference will be present representatives of 36 different nations who have accepted the invitation to be present for the seven days of the conference.

A group of songs was presented by Eleanor G. Knapp. Mrs. Sherman Hoyt read a letter from Miss Yak, a landscaper of note, who gave many interesting facts on the beautifying of California for the Olympic games. She spoke of having massed colors in the yards and green lawns, and recommended that growers avoid the rare and expensive things but use the simple flowers which will make a bright spot. Flowers which have been adopted by the different cities on which they will compete are: South Pasadena, mesembryanthum; Sierra Madre, verbena; Monrovia, petunia; Long Beach, zinnia.

The club extends appreciation to the many organizations who assisted in making this occasion a noteworthy success. Each member was presented with a copy of the Torrance Herald containing Presidents' Council program and many interesting facts concerning the club. The Chamber of Commerce presented each guest with an abalone shell belt buckle from Salm Manufacturing Company as a souvenir. The First National Bank provided scratch pads for taking notes. National Business and Professional Women, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs sent beautiful floral gifts, and the business men who graciously provided their automobiles and assisted Mrs. F. L. Parks, the transportation chairman, at luncheon time.

Navy Men Seek Residence Here

Attracted by the low rents, the convenience of location and the congenial surroundings of Torrance, a number of navy men and their families have moved into the city during the past few months. Chamber of Commerce directors, to whose notice this fact was brought on Monday afternoon, instructed Secretary Carl Hyde to try to make further contacts among the men of the fleet with a view to bringing more of these desirable residents to the city.

at Narbonne High School

Miss Clementine DeForest Griffin, Narbonne high school principal, who is a member of the curriculum committee of the six-year high schools, has been in attendance at various meetings of this organization this week. On Tuesday morning she attended a meeting of the curriculum committee, and on Wednesday afternoon she took part in discussions relating to the reduction of expenses in connection with the schools.

Dr. Marion F. Harriet, assistant director of psychology and educational research, visited Narbonne on Tuesday morning. On February 9th the Southern California Telephone Company will put on a demonstration, bringing to Narbonne a number of devices and equipment showing the scientific progress made in recent years by this organization.

Mrs. Claude P. Roberts of Wilmington attended the Presidents' Council held here Tuesday. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Lingenfelter last week-end were Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Farnen of March Field. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Sandenhoff entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Scott at dinner Sunday.
