people of Torrance for their co-operation in the past. We have undoubtedly made mistakes, but we did the best we could."

Turning to the new members, Dennis concluded his remarks with the statement, "I wish you boys all good luck."

R. R. Smith then addressed the audience, stating that he had offered his name to get an expression from the voters. "I want to publicly congratulate the new council and to thank the boys in the various departments of the city government for their co-operation during my term of office," said Smith.

The new council then convened with Councilman Steiner acting as chairman. The first official act of the new council was to request all city officials to remain at their posts of duty until further notice.

Speeches were made in order from the incoming councilmen, who addressed their remarks to the audience and thru the microphone. First to be called on was Earl Conner, who said:

"The tug of war is over, and I think the election was perhaps the best thing that ever happened. We are now ready to get down to carrying on the affairs of the city. I admit the spirit of the outgoing council and their splendid offer of co-operation. We should get inside petty things and get down to such important matters as relief, unemployment."

Scott Ludlow was next before the microphone. He expressed his appreciation for the splendid vote and pledged himself to live up to the hopes and desires of those who voted for him. "We must first balance the budget," said Ludlow. "My work with the National Supply deals with financial figures, and I am naturally interested in the financial affairs of the city. We must have funds for the unemployed by some means. Some employes now working full time may have to work part time, and we may have to make some cuts. I appreciate the fine crowd at this meeting and hope that you will continue to come. I promise you we will try and make it interesting for you."

J. M. Wright declined to speak and asked to be excused. Next came W. T. Klusman, who said: "Whatever our differences may be, whatever our troubles may be, we all believe in the Stars and Stripes. That shall reign forever. You have given myself and others a great responsibility and I thank you. We shall try to act fairly and justly without fear or favor. This is going to be a great city."

Councilman Steiner rose and said: "You have heard more from the incoming council than they told me during the entire campaign. I don't know their plans, but I will work with them as long as it is to the interest of the people of Torrance. If what they propose is not, I shall shout, 'No!' However, I see no reason for us not working together. Uncle Sam has helped Rockefeller, and maybe we can help the unemployed."

Klusman then said the council had permitted him to make one appointment Monday evening, but that they had agreed not to discuss further appointments.

"Before election Slip Kelley told me if I was elected, he wanted to be given a job, and that he would serve without pay. I now appoint him to the job of polishing up the handle of the big front door of the city hall, and if he doesn't do a good job, he will get fired," shouted Klusman, and the meeting adjourned until the following evening.

HARD TIMES DANCE

A hard times dance will be given by the Masonic Club at the Masonic Temple in Redondo Beach Saturday evening, April 23.

—at Narbonne High School

Friday, April 22, will be Honor Society Day at Narbonne. A special recognition assembly will be held at 2:30 p. m. at which Dr. Bruce Baxter from the University of Southern California will be the guest speaker.

A short program will also be presented. It will include a piano solo by Frida Oehlman, a violin number by Mrs. Stutcliffe, accompanied by Mimi Ekman; a dance by Adelaide Groover, Narbonne graduate and life member of the Scholarship Society, and a skit by Miss Stiff and Mr. Hunt. At the conclusion of the program Miss Griffin will present pins and certificates to the scholarship and honor students.

The same evening at 6 o'clock the Honor Society will hold its annual banquet in the cafeteria. All Narbonne graduates who are life members of the Scholarship Society have been invited, as well as the teachers. Mr. Stump and Mrs. Wright have been asked to act as patron and patroness.

Members of the Junior Honor Society will serve at the banquet. Afterwards there will be a short program, followed by dancing.

The senior class at Narbonne have chosen as their class play, "Skidding," an amusing comedy of family life by Aurania Roveral and will present it in the high school auditorium Friday night, May 20.

Fifteen students in the dramatics class, under the direction of Mrs. Schwartz, are trying out for the 10 parts. Lois Husten and Alice Marlin are trying for the part of Aunt Milly, the old maid school teacher; Mike Yelovich has the role of Andy, a young boy. Evelyn Smiley has been cast as Mrs. Hardy, the mother, and Fred Hamilton as Judge Hardy, the father.

Richard Jones and Mickey Mulken are trying out for the part of Grandpa Hardy, and Maxine Mucklow and Maxine Meacham for the role of Marian Hardy, the youngest daughter. Rose Lilyan Wells will be cast as Estelle Hardy Campbell, a married daughter, and Carl Williams as Wayne Trenton III, a young college man. Maxine Schatz and Gertrude Archer are trying out for the part of Myra Hardy Wilcox, another married daughter, and Charles Paige and Maurice Kroesen for the part of Mr. Stubbins, a politician.

Societas Latina, Latin club of Narbonne high, held its annual banquet Thursday, April 14, in the school cafeteria. According to those who were there, it was the best banquet they ever attended.

The theme was Hades. Everyone had to cross the River Styx and go through the fields of misery and despair until they arrived at the throne of Pluto and his queen, Proserpina, who were in reality Mr. Willebrandt and Miss Mutch, science and math teachers who had been asked to act as patron and patroness.

The good people were then sent to the Elysian fields to rest in peace. The brave warriors who were killed and sent to Hades had a special field of their own, but those who were laid past the penalty; they visited the pit of fire.

At the banquet were such distinguished personages as Cleopatra, Homer, Aeneas, Dido, Helen of Troy and many others. They were served typical Roman food and were well entertained by their host, Caesar (Robert Stock, president of the club) and the hostesses, California.

The games which were played afterwards would have pleased any Roman of centuries ago.

Hoffman Moves Store to L. A. On Temple St.

David Hoffman, pioneer shoe merchant in Torrance, last week moved his stock and repairing machinery to 918 Temple street, Los Angeles. Temple street is to be widened and the stores modernized, according to Hoffman, and he states that he has secured a fine new location. He opened for business in Los Angeles this week. If Hoffman had remained in Torrance until May, he would have been in business here 11 years. Mr. Hoffman stated that he regretted leaving Torrance, but that he thought the move would be to his business advantage. He asked the Herald to express his gratitude to the many old customers who have patronized his store during the last 11 years.
