Keeping Up With Torrance High

The Madrigal Singers of Torrance high are rehearsing numbers which they are planning to use on their Christmas program. The townspeople will recall that last year the Madrigals gave a Christmas program in the auditorium. They were dressed in choir robes, stood in front of a large cathedral window, made by the art class, and Mr. Wood read the scriptures which went with their songs. It was a very lovely program and was very different from any given before.

This year the group will not be dressed in robes, on account of the large number in the organization, but will wear their regular costumes. The program will be given twice, once for invited guests and parents, and once for the high school students.

The patio, the most beautiful spot at Torrance high, has been given over to the girls entirely. It is to be called the girls' quad and the boys are strictly forbidden to trespass on the sacred spot.

The student council decided that it would be given to the girls on trial until the end of this semester in February. If it proves successful it will be given to them permanently.

The senior dance, which formerly lasted from 12:30 to 1:00, this week lasted until 1:15, which is including homeroom period. It was tried one day and if considered successful and worthwhile, it may be continued at least once a month and maybe oftener. This dance costs only five cents and if it is given another 15 minutes, a class outside of the gym can be started for those who don't know how to dance but want to learn. It is also a good place socially for one to learn the dance hall etiquette which is a very important factor in the lives of high school and college students. The students hope that the experiment will be considered successful so that the added 15 minutes can be had often in the future.

The first junior high sing was held October 26 in the auditorium. Mr. Waidelich conducted the sing. A talk on conduct in the halls was given by Carl Quayle of the senior high. The students sang three or four popular songs. All in all the sing was a huge success and a good starter for this year.

The history classes are very lucky in having historic moving pictures to help them in history. The pictures are supplied by the board of education and are taken from some great war or happening in the past. Mrs. Young, Miss E. Jones and Miss Mabey supervise the pictures and all the history classes are included.

The first meeting of the Latin Club was held on Thursday, October 27. The program consisted of a number of talks on different Roman customs and habits given by members of the club.

Mrs. Mgrse, the sponsor of the Latin Club, informed the members that she had made out a program for all the meetings for the year. With these plans made so far in advance, future meetings should be very interesting.

The library is a very beautiful place and quiet and peaceful after a gym class or recitation class. Even though nothing exciting happens in the library, beyond the daily routine, still there are records which are very interesting and show that there are many students that are literary minded.

During the first three weeks of school this semester there was an attendance of 2730 students in the library for one period or more. During the same three weeks, 1171 books were put into circulation. This is rather a good showing for a school with an enrollment of little over 600.

There is a total of 4430 books in the library now, and about

Safeway Purchases 10 Carloads Meats, Setting New Record

That economic recovery in Southern California is an accomplished fact was the sentiment expressed yesterday by Clarence Dale, manager of all Safeway and Piggly Wiggly meat markets in Southern California, when he released the details of the recent ten-carload order placed by his company with Swift and Company.

While this ten-car order of Swift's hams, bacon, chickens, sausage, shortening, salt pork, and luncheon meats is the largest ever placed by a western retail meat organization, Mr. Dale stated that it was just sufficient to supply the demands of Safeway-Piggly Wiggly meat customers during the next ten days.

Included in this shipment of Swift's meats are more than ten tons of fancy poultry, ten tons of bacon, 60 tons of ham and ten tons of shortening.

seven of that number are new this semester.

Although the flu and heat have somewhat stopped strenuous work on the senior play, it is going to be given December 9 and it's going to be a grand play. It takes more than the flu to stop these peppy seniors; so the play is bound to be good.

The Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, together with the faculty of Torrance high, are planning a reception for the new principal, Mr. Waidelich, to be given on November 15.

The Madrigal Singers are to make their first public appearance, this semester, at that time. They will sing two numbers, one of which they are working very diligently on at the present, and which will undoubtedly be prepared in time for the reception under the able leadership of Mrs. Eischen.

"OH, YEAH?"

Mrs. Loring Andrews, wife of the well known writer of South Sea tales, had to drop her British accent before she could pass immigration officials who questioned her citizenship upon her arrival at San Francisco aboard the Monowal. "Oh, yeah!" she remarked. "Well, neris on the British accent." The inspector promptly wrote, "American, no doubt."

Suits to Collect Unpaid Taxes Will Soon Be Instituted

Suits to collect $2409.27 outstanding in unsecured personal property taxes against Torrance residents will be instituted soon by W. O. Welch, county tax collector, with authority of the board of supervisors, it was decided Wednesday. After considering the matter for two weeks, Chairman Henry W. Wright of the board stated he believed the county should proceed with the suits.

"Persons owing these unsecured taxes pay no real estate taxes, and as this is the only tax against them, they should be willing to pay them," Wright stated. There is $589,353 outstanding in the city of Los Angeles, $38,427 in Long Beach, $23,542 in Pasadena and smaller amounts in other cities, according to the tax collector's office.

While before the board Wednesday, Welch said he favored amendment to the state law which would allow every person exemption up to $500 instead of $100 as at present on personal property. The county counsel will file the suits for the tax collector.

Woman Is Arrested By County Dry Squad

Delores Lambert, residing on West Flower street, Lomita, was arrested by the dry squad last Thursday on a charge of possession and arraigned before Judge John Dennis on the following day. She plead not guilty and her bond in the sum of $500 for her appearance on November 10 when she will be given a jury trial.

Hearing On Gas Rates Halted By Commissioners

Matter Taken Under Advice at Close of Nine-Day Session

Terminating sooner than expected, the hearing called by the state railroad commission on the order to show cause why the rates of the Southern California Gas Company should not be reduced in Torrance and other districts of the county was taken under submission Tuesday afternoon. Cross-examination of the commission's engineer, C. C. Brown, was halted by Commissioners W. J. Carr and Fred G. Stevenot, after nine days of examination and cross-examination of the engineers.

The gas company was ordered on September 28 to show cause before the commission in Los Angeles why an emergency reduction in gas rates should not be made pending the conclusion of the general proceeding involving its rates. The order was brief, merely reciting that good cause appeared for its issuance.

A. G. Mott, chief engineer of the commission, testified at the opening of the hearing, October 11, that the rates charged by the gas company were giving it a return of 9.96 per cent upon its investment, which was larger than the returns of any of 12 other leading utilities corporations in California. This and other showings made in the report were refuted by the San Francisco counsel engaged by the gas company.

C. C. Brown, gas and electric engineer for the commission, testified that apportioned expenses of the company for the ensuing business year were $115,000 more than they should have been. These expenses include rents, salaries, legal counsel and such items.

John Franklin Dodge, testifying for the commission, stated Tuesday just before adjournment that there was sufficient natural gas available to the company for the next 20 years and that the standby plant was unnecessary. Decision is expected within two weeks.

SCOUT NEWS

TROOP NO. 3
Troop 3's Halloween party, held at Scout hall Friday night, under the direction of George Bradford and LaVerne Jones, who were in charge of the meeting, was a great success. Halloween games were played, the hall was gaily decorated in the Halloween colors and devices, and the costumes were numerous and wonderful to behold.

Jack Peterson was awarded first prize for the funniest costume, with Roland Brown second. Russell Evans won the prize awarded to the wearer of the most unique costume.

Guests for the evening included Scout Commissioner W. T. Jones, Scoutmaster George H. Bradford, Eagle Scout Roger McGinnis and Carl Paxman, of Troop 4. A committee from the Mothers Auxiliary, Mrs. Fred Hansen, Mrs. Joe Bay and Mrs. Robert Lewellen, served refreshments.

At this meeting Robert Sleeth was appointed official keeper of the troop scrapbook.

TROOP NO. 4

The meeting on Thursday, October 27, was guest night. A few of the distinguished guests were Mayor W. T. Klusman, W. T. Jones, F. H. Steinhilber, ex-scoutmaster; H. G. Locke, Rev. K. J. Winkler and Robert Lewellen.

A special Scout ceremony was conducted by members of the troop in order to present a tenderfoot badge. Roger McGinnis presented the badge to Billy Walker.

Roger McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Porter, was presented with the Eagle badge, the highest rank in Scouting. Mayor Klusman, after giving a nice little talk, presented the badge to Roger.

Mr. Lewellen, scoutmaster of Troop No. 3, presented Roger with a perfect attendance badge for his loyalty of attending every meeting for one year.

Rev. Winkler then gave a very interesting talk on the Holy Land. He also showed some slides. Everyone enjoyed the talk.

The members of the new troop committee as follows: F. H. Steinhilber, chairman; Robert Lewellen and H. G. Locke.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dolley were entertained at dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brodie at Los Angeles.

Mother of Safeway Mgr. Passed Away

Mrs. Jennie E. Campbell, age 76 years, passed away Tuesday at the home of her grand-daughter, Mrs. Nettie Smith, 1933 E. 88th street, Los Angeles, where she had been making her home for some time past. She was the mother of R. R. Campbell, manager of the Safeway Store at Lomita, and for several years prior to her removal to Los Angeles had resided with her son. Other relatives who survive are her daughter, Mrs. Warren Hunterford, of Miles City, Montana; her son, A. C. Campbell, of Omaha, Nebraska, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Harder, of Santa Monica.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow from Stone & Myers chapel at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. I. Montgomery of Lomita Community Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be made at Roosevelt Memorial Park.
