MANY WAYS WITH CRANBERRIES

Cranberries come popping along at just the right time of year to pep up our holiday menus with their sparkling color and tangy flavor. Cranberry sauce or jelly, with roast turkey or chicken, is traditional and recently we have been making many delicious varieties of uncooked cranberry sauce or relish. Follow this recipe, adding other ingredients if you like:

Cranberry Sauce Supreme
4 cups cranberries
2 cups sugar
Measure cranberries and then put through the food grinder. Pack in a bowl by layers, sprinkling sugar over each layer and pressing all down well. Let stand for 24 hours. Stuff well and serve with roast turkey or other meat, or as a salad in combination with apple, pear or other fruit.

Let's not stop there, though, when there are so many other ways this zesty little berry fits into winter menus. From cocktail to dessert, it belongs in any meal with any course—perhaps we would better omit soup, since, so far as I know, that has not been tried—yet.
The juice alone is splendid for breakfast, and a delicious cocktail may be made using either a thin sauce or the juice, thoroughly chilled and poured over other fruits as diced apples and banana balls cut with French cutter.

Cranberry jelly in small individual molds or cut in squares, in crisp little lettuce leaves, makes a delightful and delicious garnish for a platter of cold meat. In a salad, cranberries are most versatile and combine well with many other ingredients. A delicious pie combines cranberries with raisins, adding a few dried figs, cut fine—and walnuts are good, too. In fact, you can use cranberries as you do apples in making all kinds of desserts. History tells us that our pioneer grandmothers "served cranberries freely and preserved them in many ways" and we might do well to follow their example.

The Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau offers a new service, a solution to your problem of Christmas gifts—a new loose leaf cook book, "Recipes You'll Enjoy," by Julia Lee Wright. The book comes in a choice of colors: Chinese Red, Sea Foam Green or Lemon Yellow, all tissue wrapped and packed in matching gift box. Send your order with $1.00, plus 15c shipping cost (25c east of Denver) to Julia Lee Wright, Safeway Homemakers' Bureau, care of Safeway Stores, Inc., Box 774, Oakland, California.

Re-election Costs Nothing
BOSTON (U.P.)—It cost Governor Joseph B. Ely, Democrat, nothing to be re-elected. His Republican opponent, Lieutenant-Governor William S. Youngman, on the other hand, spent $8,474 on his campaign.

City Planners To Meet Here January 14th

In response to an invitation extended to it by Mayor W. T. Klusman, the Association of City Planners of Los Angeles county will hold its next regular meeting in Torrance on January 14 at Earl's Cafe. The organization is one of the most representative civic groups in Southern California and it is expected that many prominent Southland citizens will come to Torrance next month as the result of Mayor Klusman's invitation. Details of the important meeting will be announced later, Mayor Klusman stated.

MEDFORD, Ore.—(U.P.)—A gloo club turned into a "Mickey Mouse" club, when a mouse jumped out of the pocket of one man's suit. It had made its nest in the tuxedo.

GREETINGS

"All is Calm, All is Bright."

And in our hearts is only joy. Joy in the friendships we have made. Sincere and deep appreciation fills our hearts with gratitude for the patronage we have enjoyed during the year 1932. We hope that we will continue to please the good people of this community in the coming year, and we wish All of You, a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
