

Beer is Back

AH! Beer is back. Old grey-beards who never thought they'd live to see the day are flipping seidel-lids again. Mugs that roosted in dim attics are shaking off the dust of fourteen years. Lots of folks are finding out, to their surprise, that a schooner isn't a sailboat after all.

Beer is back. Pretzel stocks are good for a long pull. Chaps that used to blow about their bank accounts are busy blowing foam. The neighborhood bootlegger is figuring on opening a gas station and Uncle Sam's treasury is getting a break at last.

Self-respect is back. - Confidence is back. - The sun is back.

Beer is back. Three happy words as wonderful to hear today as "enclosed please find" or "I love you"
