A lecture on Christian Science entitled Christian Science: The True Vision, delivered Monday evening, June 26, at the Masonic Temple by Charles V. Winn, C. S. B., of Pasadena, California...

substance, consciousness, and all reality. The Christian Science textbook states on page 38: "Jesus mapped out the path for others. He showed the correct, the spiritual idea of divine Love. He said that his mission was to bear witness unto the truth. His true purpose was to reveal the infinitude of Love and Love's ideas and to prove the practicality of this vision in the destruction of Love's so-called opposites, sin, disease or death."

We read in the Bible, "Where there is no vision, the people perish." All the good that has ever come to the world has come by way of vision or discovery; that is all progress in the onward march of the race has come by reason of someone rising above the common concept of things and attaining a mental eminence where he has discerned facts or truths which before were unknown.

ONLY ONE CREATION This vision of the Christ, this science of true being, completely repudiated the source or cause of humanity's woes, the belief in duality or two creations. Science declares that since there is only one Father, one cause or divine Principle, there is and can be only one creation or effect. Surely God cannot originate or create anything unlike Himself and there is no other creator that could bring into being any other creation. God must have full knowledge of that which He creates and as He creates only that which is good, nothing unlike good can see or be known or be known to.

DEFINITION OF CHRIST Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, defines Christ thus: "The divine manifestation of God, which comes to the flesh to destroy in carnate error" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 583). "The Christ is that divine idea of God which comes to human consciousness to redeem it or save it from all that is evil, mistaken or wrong. Christian Science is the demonstration of the Christ, or spiritual idea, in human affairs, which, when understood, overcomes false beliefs and wrong conditions. It is not a fantastic theory nor a revamping of old beliefs; it is the vision of spiritual facts of eternal verities which are as old as God Himself, but which have never been made plain and understandable to everyone through the scientific interpretation of the Scriptures, as revealed in the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of this great, healing religion. To grasp its great truths is not difficult. They are readily understood by the pure in heart, the honest seeker, and by the meek and lowly who come knocking at its portals in simplicity and teachableness."

PROOF ESSENTIAL The final proof of any discovery is its provableness, or demonstrability. Anything that cannot afford proof of its verity by actual demonstration is soon discarded and abandoned. A divine being may seem to be, if it cannot be verified by actual works and results it is of no practical value. Nothing yet has ever taken the place of simple proof. The only thing that is necessary to solve any problem or overcome any difficulty is a knowledge of the fact which will destroy a falsehood, but a falsehood can never destroy a fact. To illustrate: The fact that a message could be broadcast without the aid of wires destroyed the false belief that such a thing was impossible; but the belief that such a thing was impossible could not and did not prevent a wireless message from being sent. A fact is supreme and invincible, while a false belief or misconception is powerless in the presence of a fact. A fact may be disputed but it cannot be annulled. It may be obscured for a time, but it will eventually destroy that which is contrary to its own unchanging nature. A divine fact will rise triumphant over everything that opposes its all-conquering way.

TRUE SCIENCE A knowledge of facts is generally denigrated science. Indeed, the word "science" itself means exact knowledge. Then science must be a vision, or understanding, of facts. The highest or most practical science must be that science which best reveals the eternal facts and demonstrates them in human experience; that is, which gives the most definite and concrete proofs of its verity. Judged by this standard Jesus the scientific man that ever lived, and his science must have been the greatest and most valuable science which has ever come to the world. From the standpoint of results or scientific attainment his ministry stands alone and incomparable. All the philosophies and religions of the ages combined have not brought such blessings to humanity as were accomplished through his scientific understanding. Surely, no greater blessing could come to this age or any age than an understanding or vision of the Christ, which will enable us to repeat his works and bring to mankind the same facts which so abundantly bless and heal.

THE TRUE STANDARD OF THINKING The question naturally presents itself. How are we to know when we are thinking materially and when we are thinking correctly? Christian Science gives us a perfect standard by means of which we can differentiate between the two. It shows us clearly that whatever does not express God is entirely false and baseless. In Washington we have what is called a bureau of standards, and if any question as to a certain weight or measurement arises in commercial life the question is referred to this bureau. Their decision is final, because as far as humanly possible they maintain a perfect standard by means of which everything is measured and to which all must conform. Mrs. Eddy, through her purified and uplifted consciousness, has given us the exact, demonstrable, and scientific truth about God, and as we test every thought by this un-failing truth we have a standard for our thinking which is infallible.

really be, yet mainly it has been conceived of as a time when all sin will have been overcome and Christ will reign supreme. Christian Science, through its proofs of the unreality of evil, is hastening this glorious day. During the late war, when my wife and I were serving in one of the army camps, one of the other religious workers came to me and said, "We have the same God, the same Christ, the same Bible, but somehow you Christian Scientists gain results where we seem to fail."
