

New Torch Song, 'He's Mine,' Hit of "Sing Sinner Sing"

Blues—the kind they sing—are a thing of the past. In the present day, torch songs hold sway for the wailing ladies and gentlemen whose love affairs have washed up on them and who are left alone to do some expert low moanin' in the cold night air. "He's Mine" is the torch song hit of the Majestic picture, "Sing Sinner Sing," which is scheduled to come to the Lomita Theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 3, 4 and 5.

George Waggoner and Howard Jackson, lyricist and composed of "He's Mine," which according to all reports is one of their best numbers and bound to be heard over the air until it becomes almost as familiar as Kate Smith's "Hello Everybody," have both had wide experience in Tin Pan Alley. Waggoner did the tunes for Gloria Swanson's picture, "What a Widow," and more recently he wrote the songs for "The Phantom Broadcast." Howard Jackson is famous as an arranger. He did the musical arrangements for "Ziegfeld Follies," "The George White Scandals," "Earl Carroll Vanities" and some of the favorite musical comedies. Jackson was musical arranger for the famous Vic Young and his orchestra.

TECHNOCRAT TO SPEAK

Victor McLaglen Comes to Lomita,—"Laughing At Life," Sunday and Monday, Oct. 1 and 2

More stars than there are in the heavens seems to be a big order, but Nat Levine, producer of Mascot Pictures, seems to have achieved this almost impossible feat in casting "Laughing At Life." The cast of this spectacular picture reads something like a "Who's Who On the Screen." Victor McLaglen, in the role of a devil-may-care soldier of fortune, heads the cast. Conchita Montenegro plays opposite him. Among the others in the long list are William Boyd, Lois Wilson, Henry B. Walthall, Regis Toomey, Ruth Hall, Dewey Robinson, Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, Ivan Lebedeff, Mathilde Comont, Noah Beery, Tully Marshall, J. Farrell McDonald, Henry Armetta, Edmund Brees, Frankie Darro, Pat O'Malley, William Desmond, Lloyd Whitlock, Buster Phelps, Philco McCoullough, and George Humbert.

To one who enjoys unriddling the mystery of a baffling murder case, who likes his entertainment of the nerve-tingling, hair-raising, suspenseful sort, with much of the sinister underlying the plot and the characterizations, we can heartily recommend "The Sphinx," which comes to the Lomita Theatre, Friday and Saturday, September 29 and 30.

That very fine actor, Lionel Atwill, whose characterizations of sinister roles has made him a logical successor to the late Lon Chaney, does splendidly by the double role allotted him. Sheila Terry, Theodore Newton, Paul Hurst, Robert Ellis, Luis Alberni, Lucien Prival, Paul Fix and Lilly Leighton are in the cast. Phil Rosen directed.

Those celebrated comedians of the stage and screen, Cal Norris' Monkey Movie Stars, hold a prominent spot on the stage show which comes to the Torrance Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday. These clever monkeys do everything that a human being does while on the stage, dressing and undressing themselves, riding bicycles and many other amusing things. Cal Norris and his Monkey Movie Stars is an act which will be enjoyed by young and old alike. A colorful offering is promised by Nolan, Kenny and Nolan in a miniature revue which they call "A Day at West Point." Dance and song in abundance are presented by this trio in a most original way.

Morey and Mack will cause laugh after laugh with their clever singing and comedy. They have appeared with great success in a number of musical comedies and their act is filled with smiles, grins and chuckles.

"Dance Reflections" as presented by the Moore Twins is a clever blend of comedy and song that is pleasing and different. The Moore twins return to the stage after a long engagement at the Metro-Goldwyn studios.
