New Beer Cans Make Increased Business For Steel Companies

Revival, in a modern form, of the time-honored practice of "rushing the can" is providing the steel industry with one of its most rapidly expanding new markets, with promised increased employment for thousands of steel workers, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Introduction of cans for beer and the reported quick public acceptance of the new container is causing can makers to rush plans for an output in 1936 which may approximate one and a half billion cans.

Production of the expected number of cans next year will mean the consumption of 3,000,000 base boxes of tin plate. Turning out this quantity of tin plate will require 11,500,000 man-hours of labor, equivalent to one year's employment for nearly 6,000 workers at iron ore mines, furnaces and steel mills, with wages of nearly $8,000,000.

In addition to increased employment in the steel mill the production of the finished product—in factories making cans will give work to thousands of men. Still other millions are being spent for wages and materials to make machinery and equipment to produce the new product.

The curve of beer consumption in this country has been rising and United States revenue officials forecast an output next year of between 48 million and 50 million barrels. Of this total, about 70 percent will be draught beer. The remainder of 30 percent will require nearly five billion 12-ounce containers. These figures give some indication of the potential market for beer cans.

Among advantages of canned beer pointed out by brewers and consumers are that the flavor is superior; breakage, deposits and returns of "empties" are eliminated; and the small size and light weight of the cans make them convenient for home use, and cut down transportation costs. Yet a beer can contains exactly the same quantity of beer as a bottle.

In designing beer cans it was necessary to make them much stronger than cans for ordinary food products. Under pasteurization beer reaches a pressure of about 75 pounds, which is many times greater than that for foods. To meet this problem tin plate of special analysis is being specified by the can makers, and produced by the steel mills.

Tin plate from which the cans are made is a steel product manufactured by 16 American steel companies, both large and small. The base of the tin plate is thin steel sheets which are rolled by rolling mills of various types. The coating is of pure

Harris Frocks Opens New Shop On Sartori Ave.

Special Group of Dresses On Sale At Opening This Week-End

Harris Frocks is the name of a new dress shop which opens today at 1312 Sartori avenue with an exceptionally complete and diversified stock of street and party dresses. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Harris, proprietors of the new store, have been in the women's apparel business for 30 years, and the splendid selection of popular priced new fall and winter dresses which they have on display at their new Torrance store is indicative of their thorough knowledge of the apparel business.

A special group of 500 silk and angora wool dresses is offered as an opening feature, advertised elsewhere in this issue.

Airmail Schedules To So. America Cut

Changes in airmail schedules to South America reveal the fact that from one and a half to two days time has been cut off the runs from the United States to that country. Airmail destined for Buenos Aires now reaches that city in six days, for the Canal Zone in less than two days.

Ordinary mail service by rail and boat requires a much longer period for delivery, and all important mail between the North and South Americas is rapidly being consigned to airmail routes, rather than to the slower means of transportation.

Pickled Pig Tails Popular
KITCHENER, Ont. (U.P.)—A new use for pigs' tails has been found by Kitchener citizens. They roast or pickle them and take them to picnics. The demand was so great this summer that packing houses had trouble in filling all orders.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it?

Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of superior quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made.

Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 5 1/2 gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosiphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvers permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display for Ford dealers.
