To Make a Long Tale Short

We don't think that back seat drivers are any worse than men who try to cook the meal from the dining room table. Just so, no used car is any better than the dealer you buy it from. It pays to know from whom you buy a used car.

RITZ BROTHERS BRING NEW LAUGHS

The gag-a RITZ BROTHERS, famous stage comedians, bring a new kind of clowning to the screen in the Twentieth Century-Fox production, "Sing, Baby, Sing."

Whooping with laughs, tingling with tunes, sizzling with swing and ablaze with names, "Sing, Baby, Sing" opens Sunday for a three-day run at the Torrance Theatre and reveals itself as a mad jamboree of fun-makers, stars and stooges, songsters and show-stoppers, that is one of the most hilarious triumphs ever brought to the screen.

Featuring an astonishing number of Hollywood's most famous comedians, a wildly riotous comedy, a veritable hit parade of songs, the makers of "Thanks a Million," Twentieth Century-Fox, have topped their previous triumph in a million ways.

With Alice Faye, Adolphe Menjou, Gregory Ratoff, Ted Healy, Patsy Kelly, Michael Whalen and a trio of very welcome screen newcomers, the Ritz Brothers, "Sing, Baby, Sing" starts off in a gale of laughter that increases steadily until it is a raging tornado of mirth at the rib-racking climax.

Four new songs, "Love Will Tell," "Sing, Baby, Sing," "You Turned the Tables On Me" and "When Did You Leave Heaven?" provide musical interludes for the never-ending laughs.

Theater Tickets At Dolly's

Tickets are now on sale at regular box office prices at the Mitchell Theatre Ticket office in the Dolly Drug Company, 1226 El Prado, for "Romeo and Juliet," heralded as motion pictures' finest dramatic achievement, which opened at the Carthay Circle Theatre, Sept. 30. Also on sale are tickets for the Billmore Theatre on Oct. 8, 9 and 10, when the world's greatest dance mime, Anna Enters, will be presented in a unique presentation of episodes and compositions in dance form. Tickets for "The Drunkard," the popular play now in its fourth year at the Theatre Mart, are also available.

Famous Football Stars Appear In College Screenie

Something brand new in the annals of football—a summer "preview" of a gridiron contest eagerly awaited on the West Coast's 1936 conference calendar—has been filmed at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer!

Stars of the "preview" were the nationally famous athletes comprising the teams of the University of Southern California and of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Portraying teams of two fictitious coast colleges, they played one quarter of exciting football for scenes in the M.G.M. comedy, "We Went to College," which opens a one-day showing at the Torrance Theatre Wednesday.

Headed by Julie Bescos, former captain and coach last fall, the U. S. C. contingent included Capt. Gil Kuhn, Glenn Galvin, Max Belko, Joe Wilensky, Joe Prensinger, Art Dittberner, Ward Browning, Nick Pappas, "Beans" Russell, Jimmy Jones and Cliff Propst. Bescos acted as technical adviser for the football sequences of the picture.

The U. C. L. A. players in charge of Cliff Simpson, assistant coach, included Capt. George Dickerson, George Robinson, C. M. Wyrick, Bob Barr, Earl Sargent, Sherman Chavoor, Earl Harris, Don Ferguson, Art Reichle, Lewis McAnick, Bruce Broadwell.

Ford Dealers Plan Gigantic Used Car Sale

Preparations have been completed at Schuitz & Packham, 1514 Cabrillo avenue, local Ford dealership, for a gigantic used car clearance sale during the month of October. George Peckham reports.

Part of a nationwide Ford dealer activity, the sale is something new and unusual in the automobile industry and is expected to produce the largest volume of used car sales in Ford history.

Used cars and trucks have been priced to give the prospective purchaser sensational money-saving buys, according to Mr. Peckham.

"Many of the used cars and trucks in stock bear the famous Ford 'R & G' emblem, which means they have been renewed and bear a written guarantee," Mr. Peckham said.

"We expect that many persons now driving cars that are daily growing more costly to operate will take advantage of this October sale, with the new low prices and unusual bargains offered, to obtain better transportation for the rainy winter months ahead."

Real Life Lovers Play Lead Roles Screen Romance

It was a gay night club. In one corner, the bar. In another, an orchestra playing. On the dance floor, 50 or more dancers.

Into the scene walked two happy people. One was Robert Taylor. The other was Barbara Stanwyck. For several weeks now their two names have been whispered together in one breath. Pick up a newspaper any day and the chatter read...

"All those flowers in Barbara Stanwyck's dressing room were sent by Bob Taylor... Barbara Stanwyck is the latest, lovely to cling to Robert Taylor's arm... Robert Taylor is that way about Barbara Stanwyck..."

Anyway, they do not deny they are good friends.

So, in the night club, Taylor took Miss Stanwyck in his arms and waited her toward the balcony that looked out upon the night's blinking skyline. They didn't care who saw them. He led her to the balcony wall and they looked out into the night. He looked at her, at her mouth. "You've got a nice laugh, there."

"I use it a lot," and she smiled. "Say, you're a pretty girl, aren't you?"

"Well—yes. Someone would have told you sooner or later anyway."

They talked on, smiling at each other, and they didn't seem to be kidding. Taylor took Barbara's hand, tiptoed with her to the balcony door. He opened it slightly, peeped in, and from within the orchestra's music drifted out to them.

It was playing, "Let's Fall In Love."

It might have been a regular night club. The incident may have actually happened—but Director W. S. Van Dyke said, "Cut," and then he said, "That was swell going, kids."

And in their first scene for "His Brother's Wife," Hollywood's newest romantic couple were well on their way toward becoming the screen's newest romantic team. The picture comes to the Plaza Theatre, Hawthorne, Saturday for a four-day engagement.

It was Miss Stanwyck's first day at M.G.M. and she admitted she was frightened, and Taylor says, "She's got me frightened, too. This is something new, playing in pictures with someone you like very much."

Sweden Prospers STOCKHOLM (U.P.)—The return of prosperity in Sweden has given a boost to both the birthrate and the number of marriages. Not since 1859 has there been as many weddings in Sweden as last year.

Robert Taylor, who has achieved an unprecedented popularity among followers of the screen, makes his newest appearance in "His Brother's Wife," in which he is costarred with Barbara Stanwyck in a powerful story of human emotions. Starts at Torrance Theatre tonight.

Somewhere back in the jungle a grim man has resolved to be his brother's keeper. In order to accomplish his purpose he has taken his brother's wife deep into that morass of tangled underbrush and sinking killers. They face not only the marauding beasts of the jungle—the stinging insects and treacherous natives—but the awful threat of death from jungle diseases...

There in a few words you have one angle of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's outstanding new entertainment, "His Brother's Wife," a tremendous drama of rampant human emotions which will be shown on the Torrance Theatre screen for three days starting tonight.

Names make motion picture news, and this new Metro hit has a stellar lineup of big names. In the first place, it stars the lovely Barbara Stanwyck with the screen's latest idol, Robert Taylor, who has shot up almost overnight to become one of the most talked-about and sought-after actors in Hollywood.

Scoring successive hit after hit in such pictures as "Broadway Melody of 1936," "Magnificent Obsession," "Small Town Girl" and "Private Number," and slated to appear as Garbo's leading man in her forthcoming production, Taylor has been given a virile, hard-hitting role in "His Brother's Wife" as a young scientist forced to give up the girl he loves in order to join an expedition into the jungle. When the girl marries his brother out of spite the dramatic threads are woven into a gripping emotional narrative leading to a striking climax.

Playing important roles in support of the stars are Jean Hersholt, one of the screen's foremost character actors who recently won wide critical huzzahs for his work in "The Country Doctor" and "Sins of Man," and Joseph Calleja, ace exponent of villainous roles.
