

Wallace Beery In "Viva Villa," Big Hit At Torrance

"Viva Villa," which opened last night and continues through Saturday at the Torrance Theatre with Wallace Beery starred, takes its place among the truly great pictures of all time.

A fictional version of the life and loves of Pancho Villa, the great Mexican war lord who was the world's outstanding figure in the decade preceding the World War, it combines spectacle and human elements in a manner reminiscent of that great classic of all time, "The Birth of a Nation." It is in much the same vein.

Thousands In Cast Wallace Beery and his supporting cast of screen favorites were lost to the world for months in the interior of Mexico during the filming of "Viva Villa!" The picture, one of the most sensational in screen history, was more than a year in the making and more than 100,000 natives were employed during its course.

With Beery appears such favorites as Leo Carrillo, Fay Wray, Donald Cook, Stuart Erwin, George E. Stone, Joseph Schildkraut and Katherine De Millie.

Luck Doubles Up For Young Movie Featured Player

Good luck in a double dose came for June Brewster, young Hollywood screen actress, when, after being in California only a month, two attractive offers for screen roles were presented in a single day.

Charles R. Rogers made the first offer for Miss Brewster's services with a contract for a picture, "Private Scandals," the picture showing at the Plaza Theatre at Hawthorne tomorrow and Saturday, June 15 and 16. A part in the forthcoming Broadway production of the Earl Carroll Vanities was the second.

Miss Brewster was a member of the Earl Carroll company in New York last year, but, on a doctor's advice, she retired for a rest. She came to California, and when her health returned, started looking for a job. She had been featured lately in a series of short subjects under contract. In "Private Scandals" she replaced Grace Bradley, who was forced out of the cast because of illness.

Small Football Not So Good Is Stanford Report

Ten Day Test in Spring Practice Develops Many Objections

By HENRY SUPER United Press Staff Correspondent SAN FRANCISCO, (U.P.)—The new and smaller football rule makers for use beginning this season has been tested by Stanford University and found to be lacking.

When the ball was made smaller and thinner, the rules committee had hoped that forward passers with small hands would be able to heave it with more accuracy. At the same time it was believed that the change would not affect players with normal-sized hands.

Chevrolet Hopes To Maintain High Level of Employment For This Year

OAKLAND, Calif.—"... Chevrolet hopes to maintain, during the balance of the year, the high level of employment so necessary to the general program of recovery."

So stated Chevrolet Motor Company executives here today when asked the reasons for Chevrolet's reduction in price of the fastest selling car in the world.

"By the end of June, Chevrolet expects to have more than 600,000 cars in the hands of owners," said Zone Manager Abe Parker. "To get volume for the rest of the year and to keep men at work and to pass on to the public the benefits of this great, first six months production, Chevrolet incorporated price reductions into its sales program."

"There is a certain percentage of the buying public that wants a proved, quality car with modern features. This percentage of the public desired Chevrolet but could not meet the price. So Chevrolet has reduced its prices to give this part of the public a chance to enjoy the comfort, flashing performance and speed and economy of America's number one car."

Prices have been dropped as much as $50.00 on units in the Chevrolet line.

With the price reduction also came an announcement from Chevrolet's general sales manager, W. E. Holler, of the transfer of W. M. Packer, present Pacific regional sales manager to the New England territory, with headquarters in Boston. Packer has been director of West coast Chevrolet sales for the past two years and is regarded as one of the most aggressive sales leaders in the Chevrolet organization.
