

Ham Follows An Old Tradition For Easter

For some reason a great roast ham, shining with its glazed crust, and made piquant with cloves and fruits is the favored Easter meat. Whatever the origin of the tradition, the choice is a happy one, for ham, properly prepared has a flavor that is superb. And ham is an adaptable meat, too, it may appear in many different guises, each appealing and satisfying. If you plan to serve a whole roast ham on Easter you will want to follow the method suggested here for best results.

Baked Ham
 10 pound ham
 4 quarts cold water
 2 bay leaves
 2 onion stalks
 12 whole cloves

Wash the ham thoroughly and add rest of the ingredients. Cover with lid and cook slowly four hours or until ham is tender when tested with a fork. Remove ham from stock and cool until it can be handled, then remove excess fat and cut off rind. Fit ham, fat side up, in small roaster. Cover with sugar mixture.

Sugar Mixture
 18 whole cloves
 1 cup dark brown sugar
 1 cup sliced peach juice

Stick cloves in ham, spread with sugar and add juice. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven. Cover with lid and bake 15 minutes. Serve hot or cold. If sliced peach juice is not available use water to which 2 tablespoons of vinegar have been added.

Ham Baked in Cream
 Have a slice of ham cut 1 1/2 inches thick. Leave the fat edge on the slice. Sauté the ham lightly on both sides and season by rubbing in a little brown sugar. Lay the slice in a baking dish and cover with half milk and half cream. Bake in a moderate oven for about two hours or until the ham is tender. The sauce will be quite thick when the ham is done. It may be that additional milk and cream will have to be added, but should be cooked down to the proper "sauce" consistency before serving.

Boiled Ham With Spinach
 Soak ham in water overnight. Put the ham in a deep pot and cover with cold water. Heat and remove the scum which rises to the surface. Bring to a boil and reduce the heat so that it will boil very slowly. To cook properly will require about 20 minutes to each pound.

A half hour before the boiling will be finished pour off practically all the water and add half a bottle of dry white wine. The white wine diluted with the water will serve to make the sauce. Slice an onion and brown in butter, add the onion to the ham, about 1 tablespoon to 1 cup of liquid, and make a sauce with the wine in

PROMPT ACTION NEEDED FOR SOLUTION HOUSING PROBLEM

Lack of Homes in Torrance; City Planning Engineer Brings Out the Disadvantages of Situation Serious

Owing to an engagement in San Diego, Leonard S. Smith, planning engineer, residing in Hollywood Riviera, was unable to attend the meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce last Tuesday evening. Mr. Smith is very much interested in the housing situation in Torrance and had planned to be at the meeting, but could not get back to this city in time to do so.

However, he expresses his views on the subject in a statement written for the Torrance Herald, which stresses the importance of prompt action on the part of the local citizens in overcoming the housing shortage here.

Mr. Smith, who has been connected with many important city planning projects in California and other sections of the country, says: "Acute as is our housing problem today unless steps are at once taken to solve it by building the houses we now urgently need, this problem will in the near future become a real menace to the growth of the city and the prosperity of our people."

Homes Needed
 Every citizen, young and old, should be interested in the building of these new Torrance homes so long needed by this community. In the place of the past neglect and selfish indifference our housing problem should be a challenge to our intelligence and to our community loyalty.

Our industrial corporations will continue to expand in size and number only as we can find the greatly needed homes for their workmen. Already these working men have exhausted the supply of vacant houses, good and bad, found in this and in neighboring cities.

Great Problem
 The adequate housing of our present and future workmen and to a large extent the proper housing of his "white collar" brother, constitutes this community's and our nation's greatest problem, because its solution will add so many other pressing civic problems.

Now that Congress has given such huge sums to the P. W. A. for housing betterment, it would seem that we lack only the understanding and the will to do. Continued indifference will emphasize the fact that our housing problem concerns something more than a shortage of homes or a surplus of slums.

Is it not a fact that many citizens appear to think and act as though class distinctions were built on natural rather than artificial grounds? Are we not through our indifference suffering less from a shortage of homes than from a shortage of civic vision?

Real Grievance
 It is full time that we recognize the fact that the fierce resentment cherished toward our present society by certain of its classes often has a real and sufficient cause and the lack of a decent home life for parent and child is often the chief and adequate cause of this resentment. Should Participating in the anniversary celebration were, left to right: Upson, Ellen Hughes, United Air Lines stewardess; Arthur Dudley and Mayor Ferguson of Sacramento.

Human Machines
 If we are to extend our foreign markets or even maintain our present markets, we must not only house our industrial machinery, but even more important we must house our industrial workers, whose health, contentment and efficiency so largely depends the economies of mass production.

It is both unfair and unwise to ask a laborer to come to a Torrance industry "with his house on his back" like a turtle, and every local business man shares in the financial losses which the present dearth of houses entails.

Will Begin Work On Remodeling
 Charles M. Smith, Lomita, expects to begin work on the remodeling of his building at Normandie and Lomita boulevard early next week. The change is made to accommodate the widening of Lomita boulevard which makes necessary tearing down the south portion of the building. The new store will be a great improvement on the old one, and will afford spacious accommodations for Mr. Smith's business. He expects to install new fixtures and equipment and will have one of the finest confectionery places in this section when he reopens for business.
