District Officers Guests At American Legion Auxiliary Dinner And Christmas Party

One of the loveliest Christmas parties was that given in the American Legion hall Tuesday evening celebrating the completion of the annual membership drive. Dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. to some 65 members of the senior and junior organizations, with Mabel Weaver, 19th district president; May Algee, district vice president, and Beatrice Trumbull, district past presidents' parley chairman, as special guests. Alma Smith, president, served as toastmistress and introduced the guests in her usual charming manner, paying suitable tribute to each. She introduced the unit's own district officer, Lucille Wellen; the membership chairman, Vela Murphy; the winning captain, Marie Marsteller; past presidents of the unit and new members.

The speakers table was elaborately decorated in fruit of silver and gold with Christmas tapers. Corsages held placecards. Other tables had the conventional Christmas decorations with Santa Claus holding the placecards. Juniors were seated at a round table in the corner of the hall. Their table was graced with a small Christmas tree and candy canes held the placecards.
An interesting program, arranged by Virginia Scott, was then given, but first of all old Santa Claus braved the feminine group to distribute gifts from his weighty bag. There were gifts for all and Santa smiled happily as he came from behind the huge Christmas tree. The newly organized auxiliary glee club then sang "Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Silent Night." Olive Lee and Sylvia Nelson gave the famous old "Night Before Christmas" with illustrations. Jeanyne Barkdull, junior member, played several piano numbers which were enthusiastically applauded. Christmas contests were won by Alice Thompson and Alma Smith. Christmas greetings from the president closed the affair.
