CHURCH PICNIC IN CITY PARK

The annual church and Sunday school picnic of the Torrance Christian church will be held at the municipal park today, July 16. Activities will get under way at 3 o'clock sharp. Ball games, races, contests, stunts, etc., for both young and old.

The big basket dinner will be spread at 6:30. Menu: Hot dish, salad, bread and butter, two-crust pie, ice cream and coffee. Members and friends are asked to bring their own table service.

TORRANCE CHILDREN HOLD HORSE EXHIBIT

The garage in the rear of the C. D. Lowen residence, 904 Beech avenue, was transformed into a miniature museum for the horse exhibit arranged by members of Torrance Imp's Club No. 5 and held Thursday, Friday and Saturday. This club, one of the many in the Southland, is sponsored by radio station KNX hobby division. The idea originated from reading articles printed in the weekly reader. The Torrance display was most attractive. Models of clay, paintings and books were placed on tables with ferns and flowers to give a note of cheer.

Members of the club include Neva June Lowen, president; Phel Marie Wright, secretary; J. A. Barrington, treasurer; Frances Barrington, Shirley Wright, Leroy Wright, Doris Moody, Marilyn Moody, Rose Marie Disario and Donnie Baxter. A hobby exhibit is planned for August.

New York Fashions By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

Daytime Dresses

The cotton laces for summer are about the smartest fabrics this season. They make up into the grandest and coolest daytime dresses in either one or two-piece fashions, and are as nice for active and spectator wear as for town and street wear. They never look crushed, above all.

One of the nice things about the cotton laces is that they need little trimming or intricate cutting to be smart. The pattern of the lace itself is decorative, so that the dress can be styled to be comfortable and cool with a minimum of fur-below or tricks.

News In Summer Curtains

A novel idea in home furnishing, and one that is surprisingly effective, was seen in Macy's Forward House this month. White lace, in a delicate flower pattern, was stretched over a frame and used as a valance. From this valance summer curtains of sheer white net were looped back with tie-backs. The light filtering thru the lace pattern gave the room an airy cool look, and made it appear very spacious and summery.

Nightdress Ensemble

A new note in nightdresses is the val lace-trimmed gown like an evening dress at the top skirt part. It is semi-circular, with a two-inch slightly fluted ruffle of val on the bottom. Usually it has a matching belt jacket, cut bolero style, edged with a ruffle of the lace at neck front and bottom. Short puffed sleeves with lace ruffle finish make a really lovely gown. A bow of one-inch grosgrain ribbon fastens the jacket and hangs six to 10 inches below the waistline. These sets come in handkerchief linen, in georgette, in voile, and in pure silk. They are very new and decidedly becoming, and ever so feminine.

Japanese Festival

Honors Miss Margaret Richhart, Soon to Become a Bride

Japanese ladies flitted about the garden in the rear of the home of Miss Bea Hughes, 1318 Madrid, Friday evening to do honor to one of the number, Miss Margaret Richhart, whose wedding to Dale H. Wright, of Keystone, will be an event of July 26. The ladies were members of the National Business and Professional Women of Torrance, and all were attired in full Japanese regalia in brilliant colors and striking designs. The Japanese motif was carried out in the colored lanterns which shed a soft light over the scene, tinkling bells, and in the Japanese custom, cushions were provided for seats during the evening and for the convenience of the guests when refreshments were served on low tables, at the close of the evening.

Entertainment included a series of observation tests, "See no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil," which taxed the abilities of all and were rewarded with identical prizes, the well-known group of three figures representing the saying. They were presented to Mrs. Laila P. Bowen, Mrs. Betty Miller and Miss Birda Paddock. Prize for the most beautiful costume was given to the guest of honor, Miss Richhart, who wore a beautiful white costume and sandals, with white flower headdress. The club also presented Miss Richhart with a handsome re-flector lamp as a pre-nuptial gift.

Individual prizes were awarded to the members of Mrs. Roxie Sleeth's winning relay team. Refreshments served at a late hour were cream rice to be eaten with chopsticks, Japanese cakes and fortune pastries, tea and salted nuts.

The affair was attended by about 80 guests and was a most delightful event, arranged by Miss Hughes, Mrs. Addie Montague and Miss Ada Chase.

To Make a Long Tale Short

About the tightest Scotchman we ever heard of is one running a restaurant in a town not far from here; he heats his knives so his customers can't use much butter. We are in business to make bread and butter and the very best way we know of to get a little bigger loaf and a little more butter to put on it is to give every one of our used car customers a square deal and make a booster of him.
