CARNIVAL SPIRIT OF HALLOWE'EN

De Molay Dance At Auditorium

Members of the DeMolay, Masonic organization for young men under 21 years, will give a social dance at the civic auditorium Friday evening, Nov. 6. Tickets will be sold at 75 cents a couple, 40 cents for singles.

MISS MAXWELL HOME FROM TRIP
Miss Esther Z. Maxwell, superintendent of the Jared Sidney Torrance Memorial hospital, arrived home Friday of last week from a month's vacation which she spent in the east.

Witches mount their brooms, ghosts prow, black cats yowl, and the carnival spirit of Halloween will fill the air next Saturday night, Oct. 31. This is the night when riotous youth assumes the privilege of impersonating the goblins of darkness to play all manner of pranks, harmless or otherwise, and the householder may expect anything in the line of mischief to be accomplished about his premises.

Sad news will be waiting for the man who leaves his car unprotected on Halloween, or the housewife who leaves her washing on the line.

The goblins will make merry with one or the other and the safe and sane thing to do on Halloween night is to put everything under lock, bar and key. Put away all moveable objects and hope for the best as to the windows which will receive their baptism of soap or paraffin.

Halloween pranks have been modified considerably as years passed and concrete sidewalks, indoor toilets and substantial garages came into vogue.

In the old days the rattle of shelled corn against the window pane startled the nodding elders out of their fireside snozes, gates disappeared from their hinges, Chic Sale specialties were boosted from their moorings, and a cow in a belfry was no uncommon sight. Wagons roosted on the ridgepoles of barns, fences were razed and piled on porches, cabbage stalks thumped dismally against the front door, and tie-tacs against the kitchen window echoed ghostly.

The old-fashioned taffy pull and apple bobbing contests are all but a thing of the past now, and modern youth goes forth in Halloween regalia to find new ways of making life miserable for the staid old folks who sit at home thinking over the merry pranks they committed under the cover of darkness on Oct. 31.

Those were the good old days when ghosts were really scary and the old fashioned pumpkin lantern threw many an unsuspecting body into a convulsion fit when it appeared at the window.

Today's Halloween merriment is as safe and sane as the police force can make it, and Torrance youth is warned that next Saturday night all must be good little girls and boys for the entire squad of cops will be on duty to keep them moving and out of harmful mischief.

REBEKAHS TO PARTY FRIDAY EVENING
The home of Mrs. Ada Anderson, 2368 268th street, Lomita, will be transformed into a veritable den for the party Saturday evening, when members of the Trio Rebekah lodge will celebrate Halloween. Members plan to dress in costumes of every kind and a prize will be awarded for the best. Halloween food and favors will add to the success of the affair.

ARTISTS CLUB MEETS WEDNESDAY

The Amateur Artists Club will meet at Room 203, Torrance high school, Wednesday evening, Nov. 4. All interested in arts or crafts are invited to attend.

Mrs. G. Leslie Davis, Tenth District publicity chairman, introduced Mrs. W. R. Goddard, Tenth District president, Mrs. J. K. Lytle and Mrs. L. S. Rounsaville, past presidents of the district, and editors of metropolitan papers, who answered questions handed into the district chairman by association press chairmen.

John Long of the California Publishers Association, representing 337 papers and magazines, was the principal speaker. He gave pointers to chairmen regarding editorials and when news is of enough value to require an editorial. He asked that children in schools become newspaper-minded and that the women back their community paper in every manner possible.

Torrance ladies attending the luncheon included Mmes. L. E. Stanley, Elementary press chairman; Mrs. C. D. Lowen, president of Fern Avenue association; Mrs. C. L. Ingold, publicity chairman for Fern Avenue; Mrs. J. J. McDonald, Lomita-San Pedro council press chairman, and Mrs. R. S. Sleeth, president of Torrance High School association.

Now! RIMLESS GLASSES FOR YOU!

WITH TRADITIONAL BREAKING OF LENSES PRACTICALLY ELIMINATED!

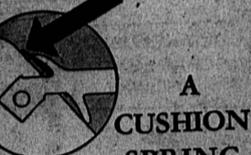

Rimless Glasses Available

Rimless glasses, desired by the majority of persons who need eye aid, yet for years prohibitive because of excessive breakage, have now become available to all users thru a new product called the Ful-Vue No-Scru. Dr. Alden W. Smith, local optometrist, announced today.

Heretofore, almost all of the breakage occurred at the point where the frame was joined to the glass. Small screws were used to fix the frame fast, and the pressure of tightening snapped the glass.

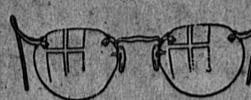

No Screws
With the Ful-Vue No-Scru no screws are used, but instead a small metal tube is inserted into the hole thru the glass and a metal pin put into the tube. This is then electrically heated and the tube and pin fused into one piece, eliminating strain.

Another feature of this new product is the system of braces shown in the picture. These are made like automobile springs and in like manner, relieve the glass of shock and strain.

A CUSHION SPRING
FUL-VUE NO-SCRU

Tiny springs are used in Ful-Vue No-Scru glasses to cushion the lenses. Electrically soldered pins hold the lenses tightly and permanently in place. Naturally that protects them against breakage and makes the rimless style in eyewear truly practical as well as preferable for inconspicuousness and beauty.
