CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
Paul's words to the Corinthians: "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image and are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Spirit" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Lesson-Sermon includes these Scriptural passages from Joel: "Fear not, O land: be glad and rejoice for the Lord will do great things. . . . Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God. . . . And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else; and my people shall never be ashamed."

Among the selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, are these words: "If the disciple is advancing spiritually, he is striving to enter in. He constantly turns away from material sense, and looks towards the imperishable things of Spirit. If honest, he will be earnest from the start, and gain a little each day in the right direction, till at last he finishes his course with joy."

Rare Instruments Used In Concerts

With the whole platform covered with musical instruments, many of them rarely heard these days, the Mason Bell Ringers, shown above with their equipment, are performing nightly at the First Baptist church this week and next Sunday morning and evening.

They play Swiss hand bells, musical glasses, vibra-harps, organ chimes and several other instruments. Rev. C. Miles Northrup cordially invites all music lovers to attend the Masons' concerts.

The Bell Ringers will give a special concert at the civic auditorium next Tuesday night, Feb. 9, at 7:30 o'clock. Several of their numbers will be illustrated by colored slide pictures. There will be no admission charged but a silver offering will be received.

Famed Picture to Show At Church
There is a reason why Cecil B. DeMille's "King of Kings," which will be shown at the First Methodist church, Thursday, Feb. 11, has been called "the picture of pictures." Availing himself of all the magnificent resources and technique of motion picture art acquired in the last 30 years, DeMille selected the greatest theme of history and reproduced it in a manner worthy of all praise. No admission will be charged.

Dr. Shidler Resumes Practice After Rest
Fully recovered as result of his long rest which averted a threatened nervous breakdown, Dr. George P. Shidler, well-known, long-time physician and surgeon in this city, resumed his practice this week. Dr. Shidler was seriously ill for some time and was forced to take an enforced vacation from his extensive practice. His many friends in this community are glad to see him about the city once more and many have called at his offices in the Torrance National bank building to welcome him back to his medical work.

"I know where there's a Pirate's Cave!"

COME ON! I'll show you! Honest! I bet you're one of these fellows that says there isn't any such thing as Pirates. Well, I know better. See that big hill over there—no, the other one—yes, that one? Well, you go over that hill, then you cut the left 'til you come to the wash. You go down the wash about as far as from here to Mr. John's house and you come to a crooked stump. There's a hole under that stump and in that hole there's an old rusty box. Red and I found it yesterday after the bus brought us home from school. We opened up the box and looked in it, then put it back. There was a Pirate's map all moulty and old-looking and it was awfully hard to read what it said. There was a skull and crossbones just like they have on a Pirate flag and a place where they had made a cross where it said, "here lies the buried treasure." We couldn't read where it told how to get to the place the cross marked, cause that part was torn—but we found the place anyhow. A cave! Sure! Honest! Under a pile of dirt there were some old shoes like Pirates used to wear and an old stick that Red said was probably part of a wooden leg—and an old bottle that said "Rum" on it. Sure! Honest!

FOR the youngsters, a new world begins every day at Rolling Hills—the thrill of a cotton-tail started from the brush, the mystery of undiscovered lands for them to conquer. No Gortez or Balboa ever took his adventuring more to heart nor was prouder of his conquests when the day was done. Brown, healthy bodies, the ringing laughter of happiness that knows no bounds—these are the dividends Rolling Hills pays to the coming generation.

Give a boy a horse he can ride, a dog he can love—life in the clean air of the high hill lands. All the youngsters are boys at Rolling Hills—gender makes no distinctions—and the God of Freckles is no respecter of persons.

Bring yours to the safety and freedom of these open hills, away from traffic hazards and city frets. Watch the sun paint their cheeks a ruddy brown and the clean air and wholesome living set their chins up, pull their shoulders back and give them a set of entirely new ambitions.

No man will ever find a better place for a home—a place where, month in and month out, he can build his boys and girls into sturdy, clean-minded men and women. The bigness and cool quiet of Rolling Hills gets into the blood.

Drive up sometime and "Howdy" awhile, as they say down south. It's not far—probably no farther from your office, in actual driving time, than where you live today. The menfolks

 I have checked up carefully on the statements made in this story and find there's not a word of truth in it. So if you come to Rolling Hills, don't expect to find a Pirate's Cave. —A. E. Hanson*
