Children Receive Souvenir Pencils at Furniture Mart

Sixty-eight children from Torrance and Lomita received souvenir Coronation pencils last weekend from Lew Allen, owner of the Home Furniture Mart at 1328 Sartori avenue who brought the gifts from England on his return from attending the great British pageant.

Allen and his family sailed aboard the Queen Mary on their return to the United States and met Rev. Anderson Jardine who married the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson at Chateau de Gande. Allen says that Rev. Jardine was very friendly and always willing to pose for snapshots aboard the great liner.

San Pedro Patriots Select Torrance Man as Chairman

San Pedro patriots interested in the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution had to come to Torrance for a leader, it was learned this week as plans were made for continued activities in commemoration of that national event.

Albert Isen, Torrance attorney, was selected as chairman of the San Pedro Inter-Organization committee for the Constitution celebration. Although he insisted that the group should obtain a San Pedro resident for this honor, his objections were over-ruled and he was continued in office.

The port city committee is composed of representatives of civic, social, fraternal, service and patriotic organizations within the community.

Plasterer Urges Higher Licenses

Tom Watson, local plastering contractor, addressed the city council last night relative to certain changes he thought should be made in the city's building code and licensing laws. He urged that non-combustible lath and plaster be allowed in garages connected to homes instead of the more costly metal-lath and cement plaster. Watson also urged a higher license fee for plasterers "for protection to local men against outsiders."

No action was taken on his suggestions but City Engineer Frank R. Leonard was asked to investigate the garage plastering council at the next meeting. The matter of license fees has been a "sore-spot" here for some time. Some local mechanics want higher "protective tariffs" while prospective builders in Torrance claim that the high licenses keep out legitimate competition.

Exclusive Parking Request is Denied

Application by four firms located at 1418-20 Marcellina avenue for "exclusive curb parking" in front of their places of business was denied by the city council last night because such permission would "sound like special privilege." The firms signing the request were Torrance C. Welch, attorney; Holmes Collection Service, Howe Insurance Service and the Torrance Plumbing company.

Chamber Granted Fund for Quarter

A request for $1,800 to continue the organization's publicity and social service work during the present quarter was approved for the Chamber of Commerce last night at city council meeting; Secretary L. J. Gilmeister submitted a detailed report on the chamber's activities during July, August and September when $1,832 was spent.
